As regards India, the standard of dearness allowance is usually 75 per cent. of the basic wages. The lowest paid manual worker gets Rs. 20 basic wages, plus Rs. 15 dearness allowance, plus Rs. 7 food allowance, plus Rs. 5 interim relief, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 47. This is somewhat inadequate. I direct that the lowest paid manual worker shall be paid Rs. 25 basic wages, plus Rs. 18-12 dearness allowance (at 75 per cent. of basic wages) plus Rs. 7 food allowance, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 50-12 and that the interim relief shall merge in the new scale. As regards clerical employees, the lowest paid person appears to be getting Rs. 45 plus Rs. 33-12 dearness allowance (at 75 per cent. of basic wages) plus Rs. 3-8 food allowance, plus Rs. 5 interim relief, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 87-4. Allowing the interim relief to merge in the new scale I direct that the lowest paid clerical employee shall be paid Rs. 48 basic wages plus Rs. 36 dearness allowance (at 75 per cent. of basic wages) plus Rs. 3-8 food allowance, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 87-8. The basic wages and dearness allowance in respect of other categories of employees shall be adjusted by the employers within four weeks from the date of publication of the award in a fair manner maintaining existing differentials in total emoluments as far as practicable consistently with fairness and propriety.

As regards Hindusthan it has been represented that dearness allowance is usually 62½ per cent. of basic wages, but where the total emolument is more than Rs. 49, the figure is made up to be more than Rs. 49. I find on examination of the list of wages that this alleged rule is not always observed. The lowest basic wages for male workers appears to be Rs. 20, but the dearness allowance is not always the same. During my inspection I noticed three women winders who are being paid a total emolument of Rs. 37-8. In my opinion the dearness allowance in Hindusthan should be remodelled on the same lines as in India, that is, on the basis of 75 per cent. of basic wages, and the entire wage structure should be recast accordingly, keeping appropriate total emoluments in view. I direct that the lowest paid male manual worker shall be paid Rs. 25 basic wages plus Rs. 18-12 dearness allowance (75 per cent. of basic wages) plus Rs. 7 food allowance, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 42 as in India and the lowest paid female manual worker shall be paid Rs. 20 basic wages plus Rs. 15 dearness allowance plus Rs. 7 food allowance, that is, a total emolument of Rs. 42. In Hindusthan, the lowest paid clerical employee gets Rs. 50 basic wages plus Rs. 17 dearness allowance plus Rs. 8 food allowance, and there is no definite system as regards dearness allowance and food allowance. I direct that a regular system of dearness allowance and food allowance shall be introduced as in India, and the lowest paid clerical employee shall be paid Rs. 48 basic wages plus Rs. 36 dearness allowance (at 75 per cent. of basic wages) plus Rs. 8 food allowance, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 92. The basic wages, dearness allowance in respect of other categories of employees shall be adjusted by the employers within six weeks from the date of publication of the award in a fair manner maintaining existing differentials and total emoluments as far as practicable consistently with fairness and propriety.

I direct further that under no circumstances shall the existing emolument of any employee be reduced under this award, and all provisions of special bonus or similar additional emolument in respect of individual employees, as for instance in some cases in India, shall be maintained as before.

Issue No. 2.

5. I now pass on to issue No. 2. As I have not fixed any new grades of wages in any of the four units with which we are concerned, the question of fitting the employees into new grades does not really arise. Employees shall be given wages and dearness allowance according to the new scales of basic wages and dearness allowance wherever introduced, with effect from the date on which this award becomes enforceable.

Issue No. 4.

6. I next take up the question of bonus. The demand has been framed in general terms and it does not appear that bonus for any particular year is claimed. Bonus is essentially a matter connected with the standard profits derived in a particular year, and it is not possible to lay down a compulsory and hard and fast rule as regards bonus for all times. As I am deciding in the present proceeding is bonus for the year after 1948-49, as the case may be, up to which bonus appears to have been paid by all the four units.

Birkmyre has paid bonus to the extent of one month's basic wages in the last four years, and though profits derived are becoming less, I direct that bonus to the extent of 2 months' basic wages be paid.

Bengal paid bonus to the extent of two months' basic wages in 1947 and 1948, and to the extent prescribed under the Cotton Textile Award of 1949. I direct that bonus as under the Cotton Textile Award be paid.

India paid bonus to the extent of basic wages for two months in 1945, two months in 1946-47, four months in 1947-48, two months in 1948. I direct that bonus to the extent of two months' basic wages be paid.

Hindusthan paid bonus to the extent of basic wages for two months in 1946, four and a half months in 1947, two months in 1948, three months in 1949. I direct that bonus to the extent of two months' basic wages be paid.

I direct that all amounts of bonus be paid within six weeks from the date on which this award becomes enforceable.

Issue No. 5.

7. I next take up issue No. 5 relating to "Service Conditions" under four heads.

(a) Under the first head relating to security of service two points have been raised, viz., the period of probation and the conditions under which an order of dismissal can be passed. I find that so far as the question of probationary period is concerned the circumstances in the different units are likely to vary. I have therefore decided that as regards the fixation of the period of probation in respect of different categories of employees the employer should be given a certain amount of discretion. I therefore direct that the period of probation in respect of manual employees shall be six months to twelve months according to the discretion of the employer, and that for clerical employees shall be three months to six months according to the employer's discretion. As regards the conditions under which an order of dismissal can be passed, I direct that proceedings in writing embodying specific charges against the employee concerned should be drawn up and the employee should be supplied with a copy of such proceedings in order to enable him to explain the charges and defend himself.

(b) The next head relates to the subject of length of service. At present there is no rule regarding this matter in any of the four units. In the light of the particular circumstances of the belting industry I am not satisfied that there is any need at present for making any rule prescribing a limit regarding the length of service.

(c) As regards rules as to promotion the existing practice is that merit and efficiency are considered together in the matter of deciding on promotions to higher jobs. In my opinion this practice is sound and should be continued.

(d) Then we have to consider the rules as to retrenchment. It is to be recognised that retrenchment can be made owing to rationalisation or other similar reasons on a basis of justice and fairness to the employees. The question of payment of compensation to employees retrenched has been raised on behalf of the employees and some concrete suggestions regarding compensation on a liberal scale have been made. On the other hand it has been represented on behalf of some of the employers that in cases of retrenchment compensation to the extent of one month's wages in lieu of notice may be sufficient. I have come to the conclusion that no definite scale of compensation should be determined in a stereotyped manner at this stage. This question should depend upon the individual circumstances of each case in the light of the nature of retrenchment and the reasons justifying the course of retrenchment, and the financial condition of the industrial unit concerned. The question of compensation should therefore be decided as each case of retrenchment arises. On behalf of the employees it was contended that the principle of "last come, first go" should be observed in cases of retrenchment. The employers are inclined to lay some stress on the factor of efficiency and I think this factor cannot be totally ignored. I therefore direct that in cases of retrenchment the principle of "last come, first go" should be observed as far as practicable with due regard to efficiency.

Issue No. 6.

8. I now proceed to deal with issue No. 6 relating to the subject of "Provident Fund". At present a system of Provident Fund exists in the industry other than Hindusthan which has contended that it gives bonus on a liberal scale though it has not provided for any Provident Fund. Birkmyre has a system of Provident Fund to the extent of $8\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. basic wages for the clerical staff and 5 per cent. for others. Each Bengal and India has a system of Provident Fund to the extent of $6\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. of basic wages. I direct that the existing system regarding employers' contribution and the employees' contribution to the extent $6\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. of basic wages in Bengal and India shall be continued, and a similar system in respect of the permanent employees shall be introduced in Hindusthan, and the existing system in Birkmyre in respect of clerical staff shall be continued, but the scale of employers' contribution and employees' contribution in Birkmyre in respect of the employees other than the clerical staff shall be increased from 5 per cent. to $6\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. The system of Provident Fund shall be applicable to permanent employees and each concern shall make suitable rules in respect thereof.

Issue No. 7.

9. The next subject for consideration is that of "Gratuity" under Issue No. 7. At present there is no system of gratuity in any of the concerns except that the Cotton Textile Award of 1948 provided for a complementary system of gratuity for the uncovered period prior to the introduction of Provident Fund system in respect of Bengal. The period of operation of that award has since expired. In order to safeguard the interests of old employees in particular and of some others I have decided that a system of gratuity should be introduced and it should be of a complementary character in relation to the system of Provident Fund. The provisions of the system of gratuity shall be as follows:—

- (i) On retirement after continuous service for not less than 15 years.—Gratuity at the rate of half a month's basic wages for each completed year of service subject to a maximum of 15 months' basic wages.
- (ii) On retirement before completing 15 years' service by reason of superannuation on medical grounds or owing to any other sufficient cause approved by the employer in this behalf.—Gratuity at the rate of half a month's basic wages for each completed year of service.
- (iii) On death—Gratuity at the rate of half a month's basic wages for each completed year of service, payable to the employee's nominee or nominees or heirs, subject to a maximum of 15 months' basic wages.
- (iv) The basis of calculating gratuity shall be the average basic wages not including overtime wages or allowances, bonuses or other benefits during the last 12 months of service on full wage inclusive of leave on full pay.
- (v) For the period for which the Provident Fund has been in operation in respect of an employee he or his nominee or nominees or heirs will receive the whole amount at his credit in the fund including the amount of the employer's contribution, subject to the operation of any of the Provident Fund Rules as regards deductions; but in calculating the number of years of service for which gratuity will be payable the period for which the Provident Fund has been in operation in respect of the particular employee shall be deducted from the total period of service.

Issue No. 8.

10. I next come to the subject of "leave and holidays" under issue No. 8. The prayer on behalf of the employees is in respect of privilege leave for one month, casual leave for 15 days, all holidays under the Negotiable Instruments Act, and sick leave for one month on full pay and two months on half pay. The conditions of leave and holidays are not uniform at present in the 4 units under consideration. So far as leave and holidays other than sick leave are concerned, the existing system in Birkenhead is the statutory leave under the Factories Act and 10 days' festival holidays for manual workers, and 15 days' privilege leave, 15 days' casual leave and 10 days' festival holidays for the clerical staff. The existing system in Bengal, as under the Cotton Textile Award of 1948, is the statutory leave under the Factories Act, 5 days' casual leave and 10 days' festival holidays for manual workers and the leave and holidays permissible under the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act for the clerical staff and other employees. The manual workers in India appear to be getting the statutory leave under the Factories Act, casual leave without pay up to 10 days and 11 days' festival holidays.

As regards leave and holidays other than sick leave I give the following directions. Workers governed by the Factories Act shall be given the statutory annual leave with wages under section 79 of the Factories Act, 10 days' festival holidays on full pay, and casual leave without pay up to 10 days in a year, and clerical employees shall be given 15 days' privilege leave, 10 days' casual leave on full pay and 10 days' festival holidays on full pay in a year, privilege leave being allowed to be accumulated in the same manner as under section 79 of the Factories Act.

As regards sick leave all employees shall be entitled to sick leave for 15 days on full pay in a year on the basis of a medical certificate given by a qualified medical practitioner, and the employer shall have always the right to have any applicant for sick leave examined by his own Medical Officer at his own expense. The expression "pay" shall mean basic wages plus dearness allowance. Sick leave may be allowed to accumulate for two years. The provision regarding sick leave shall cease to operate after the Employees' State Insurance Act, 1948, comes into force. At present, the employers allow 14 or 15 days' sick leave on full pay, except in Birkenhead which gives 15 days' sick leave on half pay.

The above directions are subject to the proviso that the existing privileges regarding leave and holidays in any concern shall not be reduced in consequence of the operation of this award.

Issue No. 9.

11. I now take up the subject of "Housing accommodation and house rent" under issue No. 9. At present there is no provision for housing accommodation in the units under consideration except for about 20 persons in Bengal. I do not think it is feasible to give any direction under the present circumstances regarding the construction of houses for the employees. I however recommend that the employers of the 4 units will make some provision for housing accommodation on a satisfactory scale as soon as practicable. As regards the demand for house rent allowance, it has to be noted that the scales of wages and dearness allowance should be resumed to include the cost of housing accommodation. It is also to be noted that bonus is being paid by the different concerns. Under the prevailing circumstances I do not think that there is any room for making any provision for house rent allowance, and I do not give any direction on the subject.

Issue No. 10.

12. The next subject for consideration is that of "Canteen" under issue No. 10. The establishment of tea canteens has been demanded on behalf of the employees. At present there is a tea canteen in Bengal, but there is no canteen in any of the other 3 units. India is prepared to give facilities for the establishment of a tea canteen if the workers co-operate and undertake responsibility. Under section 46 of the Factories Act the provision of a canteen cannot be directed in any of the units other than Bengal, in so far as none of them employs more than 250 workers. I am, therefore, not disposed to give any direction on the subject. But I recommend that the existing canteen in Bengal be improved as far as practicable, and a tea canteen be established in Birkenhead, India and Hindustan as soon as practicable.

Issue No. 11.

13. I then proceed to the subject of "Sunday and holiday working" under issue No. 11. The demand put forward on behalf of the employees is that they should be paid double wages for working on Sundays and holidays. All the employers have assured the Tribunal that there is no occasion at all for working on Sundays and holidays, and this assurance has not been contradicted. As it does not appear that the question involved in this issue really arises I give no direction on the subject.

S. N. MODAK,

Chairman, Industrial Tribunal

The 13th October 1950.

By order of the Governor,

D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy

ORDER.

No. 6369Lab.—8th November 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5509Lab., dated the 4th November 1949, the industrial disputes between the employers of Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., 53, Gowkhana Road, Serampore, and Eastern Belting Works, Ltd. (Kanai Daon Tola), Chatugunj, Sheoraphuli, and their workmen, c/o Sri Bishnu Charan Banerji, Serampore Congress Office, Serampore, Hooghly, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.).

And whereas the said Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.), has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial disputes;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of industrial disputes between the employers of Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., and Eastern Belting Works, Ltd., and their workmen.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

PRESENT: SRI S. N. MODAK, I.C.S. (Retd.), Chairman

For Serampore Belting Works, Ltd.: Sri J. N. Lahiri.

For Eastern Belting Works, Ltd.: Sri D. S. Lahiri.

For the workmen: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 4630Lab., dated the 4th November 1949, these industrial disputes between employers of Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., 53, Gowkhana Road, Serampore, and Eastern Belting Works, Ltd., Chatugang, Sheoraphuli, and their workmen, c/o Sri Bishnu Charan Banerjee, Serampore Congress Office, Serampore, Hooghly, have been referred to me as an industrial tribunal for adjudication. By Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 4630Lab., dated the 12th September 1949, certain industrial disputes between the employers of Birkmyre Bros., Ltd., Stephen House, 4, Dalhousie Square, East, Calcutta, Bengal Belting Works, Ltd., 2, Dalhousie Square, East, Calcutta, India Belting and Cotton Mills, Ltd., Snanpiri Lane, Ballavpur, Serampore, Hooghly, and Indian Belting and Spinning Mills, Ltd., 15, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by certain trade unions have been referred to me as an industrial tribunal for adjudication. The concerns involved in these two references are belting concerns and the cases have been heard simultaneously for the sake of convenience. So as the present award is concerned I shall deal with the two concerns in the later reference, dated the 4th November 1949, and the four concerns mentioned in the earlier reference will be dealt with separately in another award. As observed in paragraph 1 of the other award relating to the other concerns, the preliminary observations relating to both the concerns would naturally be the same, and most of the observations made in paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of the other award relating to the other four concerns of the belting industry will have to be taken into consideration in understanding the trend of the present award. I do not consider it necessary to repeat those observations here. A consolidated written statement on behalf of the workmen of Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., and of Eastern Belting Works, Ltd., was submitted by their advocate, and the employers of the two units concerned submitted their written statements separately. In the light of the written statements submitted by the parties the following issues have been framed:—

- (1) Pay, scales and grades of the different categories of workmen.
- (2) Fitting in of the workmen in the new grades and scales.
- (3) Dearness allowance.
- (4) Bonus.
- (5) Service conditions—
 - (a) Security of service.
 - (b) Length of service.
 - (c) Rules as to promotion.
 - (d) Rules as to retrenchment.
- (6) Provident Fund.
- (7) Gratuity.
- (8) Leave and holidays.
- (9) Housing accommodation and house rent.
- (10) Canteen.
- (11) Sunday and holiday working.

In the light of the observations made by me in paragraphs 2 and 3 of the other award in respect of the four belting manufacturing units, Birkmyre Bros., Ltd., and others, I come to the conclusion that the entire belting industry in West Bengal is passing through critical times, and two recently started concerns, viz., Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., Eastern Belting Works, Ltd., must necessarily be passing through a period of serious struggle for existence. For the sake of convenience these belting manufacturing units will be styled as Serampore and Eastern respectively, in this award. I am satisfied from the materials placed before me that both these concerns have undergone and are undergoing loss. I do not consider it desirable to lay down such a structure of wages and other amenities as would have the inevitable effect of driving these newly-born units out of existence and throwing the employees concerned out of employment. It is therefore desirable to treat Serampore and Eastern on a basis different from the standards which I have applied to other stabler units. Efforts will, however, be made in this award to bring Serampore and Eastern on the same footing as far as practicable. I pass on now to consider the issues one by one and give my decisions which will be applicable to Serampore and Eastern.

Issues Nos. 1 and 3.

4. I take up Issue No. 1 relating to pay, scales, and grades of different categories of workmen and Issue No. 3 relating to dearness allowance, and these two issues are taken up together as the question of emoluments is what really matters. In the light of what I have said in paragraphs 2 and 3 of the other award relating to Burmyre Bros. and others, the prospects of Serampore and Eastern appear to be uncertain. I am therefore not disposed to consider the question of scales or increments of wages or grades. For the reasons given in paragraph 4 of the other award, what I intend to do in respect of Serampore and Eastern is to fix the scale of the lowest paid manual worker and lowest paid clerical employee in each unit, leaving it to the employers to adjust the wage scales in respect of the other categories in a fair manner maintaining existing differentials in total emoluments inclusive of dearness allowance, food allowance, grain allowance, etc., as far as practicable consistently with fairness and propriety.

As regards Serampore the scale of dearness allowance is stated to be 8 annas per rupee of the basic wages, and the amount of food concession is stated to be Rs. 2-10. At present the lowest paid manual worker is given basic wages to the extent of Rs. 16. The total emolument payable to the lowest paid manual worker therefore comes to Rs. 16 basic wages + Rs. 2-10 dearness allowance + Rs. 2-10 food concession = Rs. 20-10. This standard of minimum total emolument appears to be extremely low, and it must be raised. I have come to the conclusion that with regard to manual workers the scale of dearness allowance may be 75 per cent. of the basic wage in the cases of India Belting and Cotton Mills, Ltd., and Hindustan Belting and Spinning Mills, Ltd., in the other award, and the food allowance may be fixed at a flat rate of Rs. 5, and the basic wages may be suitably fixed. I decide that the lowest paid manual worker shall be given Rs. 16 basic wages + Rs. 15 dearness allowance (at 75 per cent. of the basic wages) + Rs. 5 food allowance, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 36. As regards the clerical staff, the lowest paid employee is given a total emolument of Rs. 55 at present, and the system of dearness allowance appears to be of an irregular nature, and there is no system of food allowance. The total emolument of Rs. 55 for the lowest paid clerical employee appears to be extremely low. It is not necessary to introduce any system of food allowance in respect of the clerical staff, as food allowance is essentially a part of dearness allowance, and I consider that dearness allowance at a flat rate may be introduced in respect of the clerical staff and dearness ance for the clerical staff getting basic wages up to Rs. 50 should be Rs. 30 and that for clerical employees getting basic wages above Rs. 50 should be Rs. 35. I direct that the lowest paid clerical employee shall be given Rs. 40 basic wages plus dearness allowance at a rate of Rs. 30, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 70 per month.

As regards Eastern the dearness allowance is stated to be 10 annas in the rupee of the basic wages, and a ration allowance of Rs. 5 per month is also allowed. At present the lowest paid adult manual worker, except apprentices and learners is being paid Rs. 18 basic wages + Rs. 11-4 dearness allowance (at the rate of 10 annas in the rupee of basic wages) + Rs. 5 ration allowance, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 34-4. This standard is in my opinion low and should be raised. I think that the standard of dearness allowance may be at 75 per cent. of the basic wages as in the award of India Belting and Cotton Mills, Ltd., and Hindusthan Belting and Spinning Mills, Ltd., in the other award, and basic wages may be suitably fixed. I decide that the lowest paid manual worker shall be paid Rs. 20 basic wages + Rs. 15 dearness allowance (at 75 per cent. of basic wages) + Rs. 5 food or ration allowance - a total emolument of Rs. 40 per month. At present the lowest paid clerical employee is paid Rs. 40 basic wages plus Rs. 18-12 dearness allowance (at 10 annas in the rupee of the basic wages) + Rs. 5 grain allowance, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 53-12. In my opinion this standard of minimum total emolument for a clerical employee is extremely low, and it should be raised. It is not necessary to retain a system of extra ration allowance in respect of clerical employees and it will be better to introduce a system of dearness allowance at a flat rate of Rs. 30 per month for clerical employees getting basic wages up to Rs. 50, and a flat rate of Rs. 35 per month for those getting basic wages above Rs. 50, and adjust basic wages accordingly. I decide that the lowest paid clerical employee shall be paid Rs. 40 basic wages plus Rs. 30 dearness allowance, that is to say, a total emolument of Rs. 70 per month.

As regards both the concerns, Serampore and Eastern, the basic wages and dearness allowance in respect of all categories of employees, both manual and clerical other than the lowest paid employees as referred to above, shall be adjusted by the employers within six weeks from the date of publication of this award in a fair manner maintaining existing differences in total emoluments as far as practicable consistently with fairness and propriety. I direct further that in no circumstances shall the existing emolument of any employee be reduced under this award, and all awards of special bonus or similar additional emolument in respect of manual employees, if any, shall be maintained as before.

Issue No. 2.

I next take up Issue No. 2 relating to the question of fitting in of workmen in the new grades and scales. As I have not fixed any new rates of wages in any of the two units with which we are concerned, the question of fitting the employees in the new grades does not really arise. Employees shall be given wages and dearness allowance according to the new scales of basic wages and dearness allowance with effect from the date on which this award becomes enforceable.

Issue No. 4.

I now proceed to deal with the question of bonus under Issue No. 4. A demand has been framed in general terms and it does not appear that for any particular year has been claimed. Bonus is essentially a matter connected with the standard of profits derived in a particular and it is not possible to lay down any compulsory and hard and fast as regards bonus for all times. What I am considering in the proceeding is bonus for the year after 1949 or 1948-49, as the case may be. It appears that Eastern paid bonus to the extent of two months' wages for 1949. It is not clear whether Serampore paid any bonus in year. It is clear that both Eastern and Serampore have suffered loss their business. Under these circumstances I am unable to direct the payment of any bonus for the year after 1949 or 1948-49, as I am of opinion that the payment of bonus must depend essentially on the factor of concern having derived a substantial amount of profits to which employees may be said to have made a contribution through their labour. I recommend, however, that each of the two concerns, Eastern and Serampore, may consider if it will decide to make a provision for the payment of bonus in the interest of industrial peace.

Issue No. 5.

6. I pass on now to Issue No. 5 relating to service conditions under four heads:—

(a) Under the first head relating to security of service two points have been raised, viz., the period of probation and the conditions under which an order of dismissal can be passed. As in the other award relating to the four other units I direct that the period of probation in respect of manual employees shall be six months to twelve months according to the discretion of the employer and that for clerical employees shall be six months to six months according to the employer's discretion. As regards the conditions under which an order of dismissal can be passed, I direct that proceedings in writing embodying the specific charges against the employee concerned should be drawn up and the employee should be supplied with a copy of such proceedings in order to enable him to meet the charges and defend himself.

(b) The next head relates to the subject of length of service. At present there is no rule regarding this matter in any of the two units. The units are so new that the question of considering the factor of length of service should not arise at this stage.

(c) As regards rules as to promotion I direct that seniority and efficiency should be considered together in the matter of deciding upon promotion to higher jobs.

(d) Then I take up the question of rules as to retrenchment. It has been recognised that retrenchment can be made owing to rationalisation or other similar reasons on a basis of justice and fairness to the employees. The question of payment of compensation to the employees retrenched has been raised on behalf of the employees and some concrete suggestions regarding compensation on a liberal scale have been made. I have come to the conclusion that no definite scale of compensation can be determined in a stereotyped manner at this stage, particularly in view of the uncertain prospects of the two units with which we are concerned. The question will depend upon the individual circumstances of each case in the light of the nature of retrenchment and the reasons justifying the retrenchment of retrenchment and the financial condition of the industrial unit concerned. The question of compensation should therefore be decided as each case of retrenchment arises. On behalf of the employees it was contended that the principle of "last come, first go" should be observed in case renchment. The employers are inclined to lay some stress on the factor efficiency and I think this factor cannot be totally ignored. I therefore think that in cases of retrenchment the principle of "last come, first go" should be observed as far as practicable with due regard to efficiency.

Issue No. 6.

I next take up Issue No. 6 relating to the subject of Provident Fund. In view of the rather uncertain prospects of these two concerns, Serampore Eastern, I am not disposed to direct the introduction of any system of Provident Fund at this stage. In my opinion the matter should wait some time more.

Issue No. 7.

Coming to the subject of gratuity under Issue No. 7 I decide that time for the introduction of any system of gratuity in respect of these units has not yet arrived.

Issue No. 8.

I now pass on to the subject of leave and holidays under Issue No. 8. My award on behalf of the employees is on the same lines as have been provided in paragraph 10 of the other award. My directions regarding leave and holidays in the present award will be on the same lines as in the other award. Workers governed by the Factories Act shall be given statutory annual leave with wages under section 79 of the Factories Act, 10 days' festival holidays on full pay and casual leave without pay of 10 days in a year and clerical employees shall be given 15 days' privilege leave, 10 days' casual leave on full pay, and 10 days' festival holidays on full pay in a year, privilege leave being allowed to be accumulated in the same manner as under section 79 of the Factories Act. As regards sick leave, all employees shall be entitled to sick leave for 15 days full pay in a year on the basis of a medical certificate given by a qualified medical practitioner, and the employer shall have always the right to have an applicant for sick leave examined by his own Medical Officer at his expense. The expression "pay" shall mean basic wages plus dearness allowance. Sick leave may be allowed to accumulate for two years. The provision regarding sick leave shall cease to operate after the Employees' Insurance Act, 1948, comes into force. The above directions are subject to the proviso that the existing privileges regarding leave and holidays in any concern shall not be reduced in consequence of the operation of this award.

Issue No. 9.

I next take up the subject of housing accommodation and house rent under Issue No. 9. For the reasons given in paragraph 11 of the award I am unable to give any direction as regards the construction of houses for the employees or the payment of any house rent in the future.

Issue No. 10.

The next subject for consideration is that of canteen under Issue No. 10. As this matter does not come within the purview of section 46 of the Factories Act, the total number of workers employed being far less than 250, I am not disposed to give any direction on the subject. It is, however, open to the employer in each case to do something towards the establishment of a tea canteen, if possible.

Issue No. 11.

12. I then proceed to the subject of Sunday and holiday working Issue No. 11. I am assured that no work is done on Sundays and holidays and this assurance has not been contradicted. As it does not appear that the question involved in this issue really arises I give no direction on the subject.

Berry & Co., Canning Street, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Bengal Provincial National Trade Union Congress, 115E, Dharamtolla, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of Reference No. 3520Lab., dated 29th June 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. P. L. Berry & Co., No. 115, Canning Street, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Bengal Provincial Trade Union Congress, 150E, Dharamtolla, Calcutta.

PRESENT: SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge

For the employers: Sri D. N. Basu, Advocate, assisted by Sri S. N. Gupta, Manager.

For the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, assisted by the Secretary of the Union.

AWARD.

The dispute which has been referred to me for adjudication relates to the increment of wages of the workers. Before I enter into the merits of the case I may mention that there was a previous adjudication between the present Company and their workers in December 1948. The award was given by Sri M. C. Banerjee and it was published under order No. 3520Lab., dated 8th December 1948. Point No. 1 related to basic wage and dearness allowance. The learned Adjudicator found that Rs. 32-8 was the minimum wage of a worker in this concern. No separate dearness allowance was paid to the workmen. He felt that this was much below the living wage of a workman having regard to the rise of the cost of living. But in view of the financial position of the workshop, the learned Adjudicator could not make any further award on this point apprehending any heavy burden on the finance of the Company might close down the workshop leading to unemployment of the workmen employed in the workshop. The main business of the workshop was to manufacture cooking ranges. The cooking ranges were chiefly used by the military personnel in India during the war. After termination of the war the demand of cooking ranges by the Government was greatly reduced, and the Company commenced manufacturing chaff cutters and oil ghunies since termination of the war. When demand for cooking ranges, the then product of the workshop declined, the Company started importing machines from the United Kingdom and the selling department of the Company flourished though the workshop failed to make any headway on the point of profits. The Company's case is that it seldom requires the services of the workshop for the purpose of reconditioning any old machinery and that they sold these machines as received from abroad without taking risk of repairing them. Considering all these circumstances, the learned Adjudicator did not raise the rates of basic wages. He only allowed dearness allowance at the rate of 8 annas per day to all workmen of the workshop.

The Union demands that Rs. 75 should be the minimum wage of an unskilled worker and that the workers of the Company should get as a flat increment the difference of the existing minimum and the minimum to be fixed, subject to a minimum of Rs. 25 per month and that the workmen should be paid one month's pay every year as deferred wage to be known as bonus.

The Company pleads that since the last adjudication there has been no improvement in the financial position of the workshop, and that the workshop would not have been maintained at a recurring loss from year to year if for the humanitarian and generous motive of the Proprietor to provide some work to his old workers at remunerations hitherto paid to them. The Company contemplates to close down the workshop if any additional burden is imposed. The Company also pleads that the Union's claim for bonus is outside the scope of the present reference and hence untenable.

According to the Company, when the demand for cooking ranges increased appreciably, it started manufacturing chaff cutters and oil ghunies. Chaff cutters and oil ghunies were not found profitable. According to Sri S. N. Sen Gupta, the Manager, 10 to 12 chaff cutters are sold in a month on an average. During the last three years, the Company sold only 30 sets of ghunies. Chaff cutters are said to have very little demand in Bengal. This Company could not, according to the Manager, compete with other parts of India so far as chaff cutters are concerned. Oil ghunies are manufactured in many factories at Sibpur. According to the Manager the manufacturing cost of oil ghunies and chaff cutters in the factory of the Company are disproportionately high in comparison with the market price. And we were told during the hearing that on 25th November 1949 the Company purchased two oil ghunies at Rs. 1,440 and sold them in the market at Rs. 1,620 (at Rs. 810 each) to meet minimum demand. Nothing has been placed before us to show what the manufacturing cost of an oil ghuny in the factory of the Company is. The Company's filed accounts of the workshop which were prepared for the purpose of this case from the accounts of the entire business consisting of the importation and the manufacturing section. These accounts show that the loss is on the increase. I shall discuss these accounts later. The Company's case is that when the manufacturing business was found unprofitable, the Proprietor started importing Diesel engines and workshop machineries from the United Kingdom for sale in India. Recently the Company has also obtained a licence to import machineries and engines from Japan. The consolidated accounts show that the profit of the Company is steadily on the increase. The following figures of profit will show at a glance the position of the business of Mr. P. L. Berry:—

Year.	Profit
	Rs.	a.	p.
1946-47	64,711	10	10
1947-48	82,143	15	3
1948-49	99,547	11	4

Now I shall discuss the accounts of the workshop. Separate accounts of the workshop for 1946-47, 1947-48 and 1948-49 have been filed. I mention in this connection that the hearing of the case commenced on 15th September 1950. The accounts could not be filed before 20th February 1950, although the onus was on the Company to substantiate its plea of financial inability. The following statement will show at a glance the separate accounts of the workshop as filed by the Company are absolutely unreliable:—

According to the separate account of the workshop as filed by the company.		According to the consolidated account
1947-48.		Rs. a. p.
	Rs.
Sale on local purchase	1,04,921	Local purchase	1,04,329
Sale on foreign purchase	9,64,039	Foreign purchase	9,26,783-4
Total	10,68,960		10,31,112-4
Opening stock of manufacture	9,110	Opening stock	39,991
		Less opening stock of manufacture.	9,110-0-0
			10,62,996-3-6
		Closing stock	2,12,249-12-9
		Less closing stock of manufacture.	1,300-0-0
			2,10,949-12-9
			8,52,046-6

In the accounts for 1947-48 a total sale of foreign purchase and local purchase for Rs. 10,68,960 has been shown. In this particular year foreign and local articles were purchased for Rs. 10,31,115-3-6. There was an opening stock worth Rs. 39,991, out of which, according to the separate accounts for the workshop, Rs. 9,110 was of product manufactured in the workshop. Thus out of the opening stock of articles purchased locally an outside could not be more than Rs. 31,881. Thus if there had been nothing left out of the goods purchased locally and outside at the end of the year the total sale on local purchase and foreign purchase could not exceed Rs. 10,62,996-3-6, whereas according to the separate accounts, the total sale was Rs. 10,68,960. The difference of Rs. 5,964 must have been the sale proceeds of goods manufactured in the workshop. This calculation is made on the assumption that nothing was left out of the local and foreign purchases. The consolidated accounts for 1948-49 show a closing stock of Rs. 2,12,249-12-9. According to the separate accounts for the workshop the closing stock of manufactured goods was worth Rs. 1,300. Thus there must have been a closing stock of local and foreign purchase worth Rs. 2,10,949-12-9. This amount must be deducted from the total sale of goods purchased locally and outside, and added to the sale of goods manufactured in the workshop during the year. It will be thus clear that there was no loss during the year 1947-48. Sufficient materials have not been placed before me to scrutinise the accounts for 1946-47 and 1948-49 in the

in which the accounts for 1947-48 have been scrutinised. I cannot believe that the workshop is incurring loss. We are told by the Manager that no parts of the imported articles are made in the workshop. According to him machines imported are very seldom damaged. And those which are damaged are sold at a reduced price, the compensation is recovered from the Insurance Company. One instance of a damaged machine being sold at a reduced price in August 1948 was shown to us during the hearing. An extract of the accounts for the sale has been filed in this case. This has been marked 1. I visited the workshop and I found some imported machines there. Some component parts were found separated. I could understand that pulleys and tanks for oil engines imported from the United Kingdom are also made in the workshop. But I was told that this happens very rarely. Thus it cannot be said that the workshop was absolutely connected with the import section. I was told that small parts of imported machineries which are sometimes made in the workshop can be bought at a very small price from outside. There is no sufficient material to lead to any inference either way. Even assuming what the management says is true, I think that to preserve the reputation of the Company parts of the imported machineries should not be and cannot be had from other workshops. The workers including the coolies were at least sometimes employed in connection with the imported machineries but in the accounts of the workshop the wages for such works as were connected with the imported machineries were not assessed and deducted from the cost of the workshop. In these circumstances I am definitely of opinion that the Company should not starve the workers in the workshop and earn a huge profit in the Selling Department for which the workshop is not altogether necessary. I held a similar view in the case of Messrs. Charles Abrecht published under order No. 3834 Lab., dated the 25th October 1948, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department. If really I had found that the workshop was incurring loss and had absolutely no connection with the import section of the business I could have held otherwise. In the circumstances as I find from the evidence placed before me as well as from local inspection, I cannot have a view different from that what is expressed in the case of Messrs. Charles Abrecht. The following figures of the labour strength will show at a glance that the allegation that the workshop is a losing concern, has hardly any substance:—

Year.	Labour strength.
October 1948	76
November 1948	73
December 1948	71
March 1949	41
1st week of May, 1950	44
And the present strength	59

if really the workshop was a losing concern and if really the Proprietor was contemplating to close down the workshop and would have long closed the workshop but for the compassionate feelings towards the workmen, the Company would not have increased the labour strength to 59 from 41. I am really sorry that the management has been holding out an empty promise to close down the workshop for reasons best known to itself.

The minimum wages in the factory are Rs. 45-8 including dearness allowance. This is much below a living wage. I cannot enter into the question of dearness allowance, on the ground that it was not covered by the order of reference. The dearness allowance shall be as it is now. It is Rs. per month or 8 annas per day. The minimum total emolument must be raised to Rs. 55. Thus the minimum wage must be raised by Rs. 9-8. I am not inclined to give a flat increment of all workers. The workers of workshop shall get increment of wages according to the following scale. Workers getting basic wages up to Rs. 40 shall get an increment of Rs. 7-8 per month of 26 days. Those who are getting more than Rs. 40 up to Rs. 50 as basic wages shall get an increment of Rs. 7-8 per month. Those who are getting more than Rs. 50 but not exceeding Rs. 60 shall get an increment of Rs. 6 per month. And those who are getting above Rs. 60 shall get increment of Rs. 4 per month. Increment shall be given with effect from 1st July 1950.

The Union has also claimed bonus as deferred wages. I have substantially raised the wages of the workers and I am not inclined to impose additional burden on account of bonus on the finance of the Company. The workers should wait and see the reaction of the increment of wages that has been allowed by this award. Besides, bonus is outside the scope of the present reference. The claim for bonus is therefore rejected.

No. 6555Lab.—17th November 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 3137Lab., dated the 10th June 1950, the industrial dispute between Bengal Waterproof Works, Ltd. Head Office: 32, Theatre Road, Calcutta), and its workmen represented by Bengal Waterproof Workers' Union, Agarpara, 24-Parganas, was referred for adjudication to Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, has submitted to the Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Bengal Waterproof Works, Ltd., Head Office at 32, Theatre Road, Calcutta, and its workmen represented by Bengal Waterproof Workers' Union, Agarpara, 24-Parganas.

PRESENT: SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, assisted by Sri Panchanan Sarkar, Assistant Secretary of the Union.

Present for the Company: Sri A. N. Roy and Sri S. K. Mukherji, Counsels of Messrs. Dutt & Sen, Solicitors.

1. By order No. 3137Lab., dated the 10th June 1950, the Government of West Bengal constituted a Tribunal of one member under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act (Act XIV) of 1947 and referred the said dispute to me for adjudication.

2. The reference was received on the 12th June 1950. The Union submitted its written statement on 3rd July 1950. The Company filed written objections on 18th July 1950. The case was taken up for hearing on the 1st September 1950. The hearing continued till 21st September 1950.

3. The issues that were framed stood as follows:—

- (1) Claim to the annual increment due in January 1950, if tenable?
- (2) Grade rules—their revision here and there as per written statement of the Union? Eligibility of certain persons named therein to promotion which is alleged to have been held up.
- (3) Housing accommodation, house-rent allowance, conveyance allowance, etc., as per written statement.
- (4) Educational facilities for staff children.
- (5) Medical aid.
- (6) Canteen and tiffin accommodation.
- (7) Leave and holidays.
- (8) Bonus.
- (9) Gratuity.
- (10) Extension of the scope of the award to different establishments.
- (11) Reinstatement of (a) Mani Nayak, (b) Sukdeo Goswami, (c) Sew Golam Ram, and (d) Abdul Rahman.

AWARD.

Before I actually proceed to discuss the issues, I think it worthwhile to refer to certain relevant and material facts. They will bring out the background of the dispute. The Company was originally set up by Sri S. M. Bose. He may be said to have been the pioneer in the water proof industries, not only in Bengal, but in India. In 1931 Bengal Water proof Works were converted into a Private Limited Company with Sri S. M. Bose and his three brothers as shareholders. In 1940 the Company became a Public Limited concern. At first, there was cordial relation with the workmen. The first sign of discontent was noticed in 1944. It assumed proportion in 1947. In October 1947 there started an agitation consequent on the retrenchment of some workers in the Tailoring Section who became surplus after the war had ceased. The matter was referred to the Tribunal. As a result of the award of the said Tribunal, the Company submitted to the granting of increase in the salary of the workers. This entailed an expenditure of about 1 lakh of rupees annually. Again, in 1949 the Company agreed to an all-round increase of Rs. 10 and Rs. 6 per month for the staff and the workers, respectively. That also entailed an expenditure of nearly 60 thousand rupees per year. The Company now regrets its inability to grant the annual increment which falls due in January 1950 as demanded by the workers. The Company no longer commands monopoly business in the rubber industry. It has to pay heavy income-tax. The existing machineries have been very much worn-out due to heavy strain during the war. They require to be replaced at an enormous expenditure. So the Company pleads financial inability to meet the workers' demands. The Company has specifically denied the workers' demands on each particular head. It also resists the claim for reinstatement of the 4 workers named in the written statement.

According to the Union the financial condition of the Company is very sound and even prosperous. Even on the 26th June 1950, the Company raised the monthly salary of the General Manager from Rs. 2,000 to Rs. 3,000 and of the Sales Manager and the Factory Manager from Rs. 2,500 to Rs. 2,500 with retrospective effect from January 1949. The Union contends that the plea of financial inability has been taken only to defeat legitimate claims of the workers. The Union was originally formed in 1943. It was revived again in 1947 for collective bargaining. The dispute was referred to the Tribunal presided over by Sri N. C. Chakravarty on 22nd December 1947 by Government order No. 1084. The award published in the Calcutta Gazette on 6th May 1948. This resulted in agreement between the Union and the Company. As a result of this agreement, the retrenched workers were taken back. After the award expired, the Company is said to have adopted a stern attitude towards workers. Mani Nayak, a member of the Executive Committee of the Union, was discharged on the 20th September 1949 on flimsy grounds. Next Sukdeo Goswami was discharged in October 1949 and Sew G. Ram and Abdul Rahman were discharged on 22nd April 1950 and 7th May 1950 on purely frivolous grounds. The Union presses for their reinstatement. This practically had led to the present dispute. Attempts at conciliation through the intervention of the Labour Commissioner had failed.

Issue No. 1.

Regarding the yearly increment falling due during January 1950 the Company pleads financial disability. The Company contends that the yearly increment is provided under the award of Sri N. C. Chakravarty published in the Calcutta Gazette of May 1948. So it must have evidence passed in May 1949. The Company is thus under no further legal obligation to pay this increment. The Union, on the other hand, questions this plea of financial inability as not genuine. It contends that the plea has been taken ostensibly to defeat the claim of the workers. Besides, though the award of Sri N. C. Chakravorty has lapsed in May 1949, yet it cannot be totally ignored because it was after all a long-term arrangement. On a consideration of these two versions of the matter and regard being had to the evidence before me, I am clearly of opinion that the Company is quite competent to pay this increment which has fallen due in January 1950. My reasons are as follows:—

The Union has filed before me a statement showing that the Company, as by a resolution of the general meeting on 23rd June 1950, enhanced the salary of the General Manager, Factory Manager and Sales Manager considerably. This increment was given with retrospective effect from January 1949. Its financial implication is that the Company is immediately put to an expenditure of Rs. 46,000 and odd. This statement has not been challenged by the Company. The Company, on the other hand, contends that these persons in the past had worked on nominal salary. So the Company owed it to itself to reward their services. That may or may not be true. I am not, however, impressed how this increment was so pressing that the Company had to grant it at a time when it was in financial stress. This naturally exposes the hollowness of this plea of financial strugency. Again, if the Company can find its way to meet this huge expenditure, it is hardly understandable why the Company refused to meet the legitimate increment in salary of the workers falling due during January 1950. So this single fact leads me to suspect that the Company is not in as desperate plight as it feigns to be. Next, if I consider the balance-sheets, I do not come to a different conclusion. The Union has placed before me a statement of figures collected from the balance-sheets of the Company right from 1942 to 1949. I find that the total quantity of sale has been ever on the increase from 1947 onwards. In 1947 the total sale amounted to Rs. 30 lakhs and odd; in 1948 it was over Rs. 37 lakhs and in 1949 it was over Rs. 38 lakhs. If by its side I place the sales statement of 1950 filed before the Company, I get that the sales up to June 1950 exceed by 3 lakhs the sales figure of the corresponding period of 1948. The sales figure from July 1948 to July 1949 is less than the sales figure of the corresponding period of 1950. Next, if I consider the dividend paid in different years, I find from the list supplied by the Union of different years that the total dividend in 1949 surpasses that of the previous years. Of course, the net profit in 1948 was the highest. If we compare the net profit of 1949 with that of 1947, the former exceeds the latter by nearly 2 lakhs of rupees. The net profits show a rise in alternate years. Thus from a scrutiny of the balance-sheets I find that the prospect of the Company in 1950 though not so bright compared with previous years is, after all, not bad. At all events I do not consider the position as reflected by the balance-sheets to be so bad enough to disentitle the workers to their legitimate increment of salary.

Next, the Company has placed before me certain factors which are said to have caused it worry regarding the future. It has been faced with competition, loss of Government orders and the cost of replacing machineries worn out of gear due to strain of the war period. But from the statement placed before the Tribunal presided over by Sri N. C. Chakravorty, I find that the Company was similarly apprehensive in 1948. But as a matter of fact in 1948 it derived enormous profits. So the apprehensions were unfounded. There is hardly any reason why in 1950 the future will not be in the same manner these apprehensions. No Company can expect to have monopoly business for all time to come. But that can never be any reason why legitimate increment in salary would be denied to the workers. I have considered the oral testimony of Sri S. K. Das and Sri Nalini Mohan Ghos on behalf of the Company. They seem to have exaggerated these factors presumably to defeat the claims of the Union. Sri S. K. Das could not substantiate the grounds on which his apprehensions about the Company's future did rest. Of course, the operative period of the award of Sri N. C. Chakravorty has lapsed. But the wage structure formulated by the Tribunal is based on a long-term plan. If the Company can show that there has been since a distinct change for the worse, such that the wage structure can no longer be sustained, it is only then that the Tribunal would think it worthwhile to revise it. In the present case, as I have shown, the circumstances of the Company have not much deteriorated. So I award the increment due to the workers in January 1950 on the line of the previous award. As this increment fell due in January 1950, I direct that my award will have retrospective effect. The increment in salary from January up to the date the award will come into force, i.e. the arrear increment salary is made payable in three equal monthly instalments, starting from the month when this award becomes enforceable. This issue is thus disposed of.

Issue No. 2.

The Union wants that the Intermediate Staff Grade should be re-named as C grade without altering the scale. In this grade is included the packing supervisor, ticket writing clerks, etc. The Company opposes the demand. I am not convinced that these persons do any clerical job, strictly speaking. So there is no ground for changing the nomenclature particularly as it means no difference in pay.

Another objection that is pressed under this issue is that the opinion of the departmental head should be taken as the last word in the matter of promotion or in the matter of crossing the efficiency bar. The Company concedes that the opinion of the departmental head is considered, but that can never be the last word in the matter. This is perfectly reasonable and is as it should be. I reject the Union's claim on this score accordingly.

Regarding the claim for maintaining service-records, the Company assures the Tribunal that such records are kept. When a worker is brought up, he is entitled to be told why his claim is superseded. I recommend to be followed by the Company in future.

Next, regarding the placing of the 14 persons named in the written statement of the Union in certain higher grades, I must say that the Tribunal is not competent to do it. Service-record is not always the best guide in such matters. The Company is in a better position to judge the merit of the workers by seeing their work from day to day and also from their close association with the workers. I am told that there was a Selection Committee for the purpose, but what came out of it nobody could say. I think the matter should better be left to the Company to be taken up if it thinks necessary.

Issue No. 3.

The Company states that it has accommodated about 70 per cent of the workers and 50 per cent of the staff in its barracks. The Government of India, according to the Company, has a certain Labour Housing Scheme in future, for which statutory provisions are under contemplation. The Management calls upon the Tribunal not to give any direction in the matter, but to ask the workers to wait till the scheme materialises. Of course, the housing responsibility is not exclusively of the Management.

The State has also got certain obligations. So if the Government scheme takes shape, the responsibility of the employer will be greatly minimised. But till then the Company cannot altogether shirk responsibility in the matter. The claim of house allowance is generally defeated on the ground that it is included in the computation of dearness allowance. That has, of course, been not urged in the present case by the Company. The workers contend that the Company is making a discrimination in this matter and is creating disaffection in the ranks of the workers. Discrimination is the mother of many evils. Loss of industrial peace is one of such evils. So it is desirable that till this house-problem is solved by the inauguration of the proposed Government scheme, the Company should pay hereafter a lump sum of Rs. 5 per month to the workmen who are not lucky enough to have been provided with accommodation in the Company's barracks. But the moment a worker is offered accommodation in the barracks, and if he declines to accept the offer, he will forfeit the claim to such allowance. I make no distinction on this head between the workmen who are married and who are not. This house allowance will cease to exist as soon as the workmen are provided with accommodation by the Company.

Regarding conveyance allowance, the Company concedes that in case of transfer or movement on duty the workers are paid suitable travelling allowance. I leave it there. The Union contends that when a man is transferred to a certain place where he cannot find out accommodation and where he has got to attend from home, he must be suitably compensated. In view of the granting of the house-rent allowance I do not consider that the Company can be put under an obligation to pay any further allowance in such a case. The issue is thus disposed of.

Issue No. 4.

The Company now grants Rs. 300 per annum to a local school. It was higher before. The workers' boys get free education in that school. The Union demands that if this endowment is raised higher, the workers' girls may also have free education there. Education is, perhaps, more the concern of the State than of the employer, I mean, the education of the children of the workers. Regard being had to the present position of the Company and also considering the additional burden that will be put on the Company because of this award, I do not think I shall be justified in giving any direction in this matter, except leaving the matter to the good sense of the Company. If a little money spent here and there brings about better relation between the employer and the employees, to grudge such expenditure is certainly neither economical nor advisable. The issue is thus disposed of without any direction.

Issue No. 5.

The Union demands two doctors in the factory and one of them should be an experienced M.B. It also wants an ambulance as a provision against emergency. The Company contends that it has provided for first-aid arrangement in the factory with one doctor. It opposes any additional burden on this head. I do not think that any ambulance is necessary. It could not be shown that there was any delay in the past in the matter of transporting any person to the hospital. Two M.B. doctors will certainly be a superfluity. So I approve of the existing arrangement, but recommend that the doctor as a whole-time officer should be an experienced one—preferably a graduate in medicine. It will not be good to lose sight of the fact that the safety and life of so many workers is in his hands. A fully equipped dispensary, as demanded by the Union, is entirely out of place at the present moment.

Issue No. 6.

The Company states that it gives free tiffin, necessary utensils and has provided for tiffin sheds. The Company also undertakes to provide a canteen according to the requirements of the Factories Act with the approval of the Factory Inspector. I accept this undertaking of the Company and call upon it to provide a canteen which will answer the requirements of the Factories Act at the earliest opportunity, I mean, within a period of three months from the date when this award becomes enforceable.

Issue No. 7.

Under the existing arrangement the Company grants 15 days' casual leave and 15 days' privilege leave to the staff. In the case of workers the Company grants 7 days' casual leave and 15 days' privilege leave plus 7 days' sick leave. The Company grants 30 days' privilege leave to the durwans after one year of service. Regarding the City Staff the Company grants 10 days' casual leave on half pay plus 14 days' privilege leave. Sick leave lies at the discretion of the Management. Besides the above there are 13 festival holidays with full pay. The Union, on the other hand, claims that the leave-rule should be uniform in the cases of all workers including the drivers, durwans, etc. The Union demands 15 days' sick leave with full pay and another 15 days with half pay, and without pay till recovery in all cases. The durwans according to the Union should get one month's full pay with dearness allowance besides 8 days' festival leave and a day of rest after every 15 days. I must say that the Union's claim is more than what I can grant in the present case. But I feel that the provision for sick leave should be more liberal than what it is. So, while upholding the existing system of leave prevalent in the Company, I award that the staff and the workers should each get further 15 days' sick leave on half pay in a year. I can never accept that the leave of durwans and the City Staff should be uniform with the other members. The services of the durwans are as much necessary on working days as on rest days. The City Staff is governed by the Shop Establishment Act. They cannot be brought under the Factories Act without contravening the legal provision applicable to them. So I reject the Union's contention on this head.

Issue No. 8.

Regarding bonus, there is not much difference between the parties except regarding the rules bearing on the matter of special bonus. Under the existing system, the Company alleges that employees working for 9 months and over in 1948 were granted one month's basic wages as bonus. For a period of service less than 9 months and over 3 months, proportionate amount was allowed. That is with regard to general bonus. Regarding special bonus, a period of service for 3 years and over earned 2 months' basic wages as bonus. A period of service between half year and 2 years 11 months earned half month's basic wages as bonus. The Union admits that it accepts the rules bearing on general bonus. Regarding special bonus the Union contends that a period of service for 3 years or more would earn 2 months' basic wages as bonus. A period of service between 2 years and 3 years would earn bonus of one month. A period of service between half year and 1 year 11 months would earn 15 days' basic wages as bonus. In place of 60 days' absence, the Union contends, it should be 70 days to disentitle a worker to special bonus.

Thus it will appear that only regarding a period of service between 2 years and 3 years, there is any serious dispute. Well, I consider that the Union's point of view is certainly more preferable to that formulated by the Company. This intermediate slab is necessary. So I award that to earn special bonus of one month's basic pay a worker should put in approved service of 2 years or more but less than 3 years on the last date of the bonus year. To earn 15 days' special bonus, the service should be between half year and 1 year 11 months. Regarding the Union's claim of 75 days of absence in place of 60 days, as is now prevalent in the Company, I uphold the existing system. I do not accept the Company's contention that the special bonus so long in vogue should be abolished. The issue is thus disposed of.

Issue No. 9.

Regarding gratuity, the Company now grants 2½ per cent. of the pay. The Union claims to have it raised to 5 per cent. of the pay. Two and half per cent. of the pay, according to the Union, works out to 9 days in a year. Certainly this is much less than what we usually find. Gratuity generally is granted to the extent of 15 days in a year. But considering the financial burden that has been placed on the Company and its present position, I do not think that I should place an additional burden under this head. Besides, as there is Provident Fund in the Company, the existing gratuity system should be considered as sufficient at the present time. So I reject the Union's contention on this head.

Issue No. 10.

The Union wants that the scope of the present award should be extended to different establishments of the Company in the city and in the suburbs. The Company opposes the claim on the ground that the City Staff is not included as members of the present Union. The City Staff does not come into the present picture at all. According to the Company it is a clever move on the part of the Union to rope in all the employees of the Company who are yet outside its fold. Be that as it may, I find no reason why the benefits of this award should be extended beyond its legitimate scope, i.e., to persons who are not represented by the Union before me. So I do not accede to the prayer of the Union under this head.

Issue No. 11.

I take up the cases of these 4 persons separately.

(a) Regarding Mani Nayak both parties seem to be greatly exercised. The Company will concede no quarter to this employee. The Union, on the other hand, is adamant in the matter of his reinstatement. Regarding the claim for reinstatement, the legal position is now more or less established, so far as the Tribunals are concerned. Though in some cases one or other Tribunal has been disposed to grant reinstatement even where there is, strictly speaking, no victimisation or unfair labour practice, but the conduct of the Company has been marked by undue harshness or high-handedness, still the majority decisions of the Tribunals veer round the view that reinstatement should be limited to victimisation or unfair labour practice. Of course, undue harshness on the part of the Company may lead one to suspect or even to presume that the Company, in fact, victimises the workers but covers it up by certain clever subterfuge. But I must say that it is no more than a presumption. When one bears grudge against another, it is just possible that he will do all that lies in his power to drive the other party to the wall. But it may also be equally possible that one may have grudge against another but he may not stoop so mean as to have recourse to subterfuges to push the other party to grief. So, in my opinion, it becomes the duty of the Tribunal not to go by mere presumptions. It should probe deep into the matter and see for itself and be convinced on evidence whether as a matter of fact, it is a bona fide discharge or there is something beneath the surface which savours of unfair labour practice or victimisation. If there is victimisation or unfair labour practice, the Tribunal will be failing in duty if it merely awards compensation and not reinstatement. The Tribunals grant compensation when discharge does not amount to victimisation or unfair labour practice, but merely is harsh, arbitrary or unfair. In the present case before me, Mani Nayak was suspected to have been suffering from venereal disease by the Company's doctor. He was not permitted to attend office on the recommendation of the doctor sent to the Time Office. In the meantime, Mani Nayak got himself examined by Dr. Nandi who was an ex-medical officer of the Company. He got a "fit" medical certificate from the doctor. Mani is said to have called on the Company's doctor to reconsider his decision. The Company's doctor did not, however, relent. He is said to have asked Mani Nayak to go on leave for a month or so, so that he might fully recover. Mani Nayak put in an application for leave on the 16th July 1949 and left for home. Just before the expiry of his leave, i.e., on 14th September 1949, he was taken ill and he applied for 15 days' extension of leave by wire. In the meantime he is said to have recovered. So he returned and reported himself to join his duty on 21st September 1949 with a medical certificate. He found that he was already discharged on the ground of suffering from venereal disease and over-stay of leave. The Company contends that Mani Nayak did suffer from venereal disease and as such was liable to be dismissed. Besides, he absented without leave being sanctioned and also because he had over-stayed the leave.

Now the point before me is firstly whether the discharge of Mani Nayak was unjustified and next whether the Company discharged him because of his Union activities. From the evidence I am satisfied that Mani was improperly discharged by the Company. In the Company's statement, at paragraph 19, it is definitely stated that on or about 22nd August 1949 Mani Nayak was discharged forthwith. But in the Company's letter marked Exhibit A-46, dated 23rd September 1949, it appears that Mani Nayak's name was struck off on the night of 20th September 1949 for the reasons stated there. Thus, the Company could not make up its mind as to when Mani Nayak was actually discharged. Next, if Mani Nayak was granted no leave, then the question of his over-stay of leave does not obviously arise. He was either granted leave or he was not granted leave. So I must say that the charge of over-stay of leave against Mani Nayak cannot be sustained. Up to the application for leave Mani Nayak was practically suspended. The Company also states in paragraph 19 of its written statement that on or about 18th July 1949, Mani was found by the Factory's doctor to be suffering from venereal disease and was immediately suspended from work. Now, if the man is suspended from work, the question of his going on leave does not arise. It is not the Company's case that Mani Nayak was called to return to duty after suspension but he left. It does not appear from any record that Mani's suspension, which the Company admits here, was brought to an end. So the application for leave by Mani Nayak or its refusal is entirely irrelevant. Next, about his suffering from venereal disease, of course, it is desirable in the interest of health of the staff and the workers that the man should be segregated or should be given leave to have proper treatment for his recovery. But under the Company's Standing Rules I do not find that suffering from venereal disease makes a man liable to be immediately dismissed. Any way, let me consider whether Mani did suffer from any venereal disease. For this I get the chit of the company's doctor, marked Exhibit A-39, to the Time Office. He found certain secretion of pus through the urethra and recommended that he might be prevented from attending to his work. Evidently this was acted upon. In the meantime Mani Nayak consulted Dr. Nandi. From his certificate, marked Exhibit A-41, it appears that Mani was suffering from spermatorrhoea and was fit to resume his work on 30th July 1949. This Dr. Nandi is an L.B., D.T.M. and ex-I.M.S. The Company says that he was an ex-officer of the Company and as such, his certificate cannot be depended upon. I could hardly expect such a contention against such a qualified doctor. From the report we do not get that Mani Nayak was suffering from venereal disease. Next, from the pathological report of the acting Superintendent of the School of Tropical Medicines, Calcutta, marked Exhibit A-51, I find that Mani Nayak's case was doubtful negative by Wasserman reaction. This was on 2nd December 1949. Mani sent this certificate to the Company to reconsider his case. So, what do we get by all these evidences? Neither the Company's doctor nor the other doctors were sure of Mani Nayak having venereal disease. In the circumstances, can I accept that Mani Nayak's discharge was proper or justified on the ground of suffering from venereal disease? As a matter of fact, two months' leave without pay was recommended on his application for leave by the Factory Manager. So the Company's action in discharging Mani Nayak was certainly high-handed and indiscreet, particularly, when a permanent employee was concerned. The next point that I have got to consider is whether I can presume that it was a case of victimisation. The Union contends that Mani Nayak agitated in the past for bonus and even took active steps by throwing himself in front of the Management car. He is one of the members of the Executive Committee of the Union. Now, can I put the two together, i.e., the improper discharge and Union activities, and come to the decision that his discharge was one of victimisation? I must say on evidence that I am not so satisfied about it. If really the Company wanted to get rid of him so many years ago, it would not wait so long for a plea. Mani never says that the doctor bore any grudge against him or that the doctor was inspired by the Company to detect a flaw for justifying his discharge later on. Even on his application, there is recommendation for his leave. So I am led to believe that it was not a case of victimisation, but the Company only acted rather hastily by jumping to a certain conclusion on insufficient data. So, in the circumstances, Mani Nayak is not entitled to reinstatement, but he is entitled to compensation. He is still out of employment. So I award that he will be taken to be in service till the 18th July 1949 when he was suspended. He is entitled to pay till then. I grant him 4 months' wages more on the scale of last pay drawn without dearness allowance as compensation. The Company found fault with the Union because it demanded Rs 10,000 on Mani Nayak's discharge. It should not be taken any serious notice of. It was the result of heat produced in course of exchange of correspondence. Mani must be paid this amount of compensation in two equal monthly instalments within a period of 3 months from the date the award comes into operation.

(b) This relates to case of Sukdeo Goswami. He is alleged to have been discharged on the ground of suffering from venereal disease. His disease was detected by the Company's doctor on 3rd August 1949 (vide Exhibit A-61). He was recommended leave by the doctor. His blood was examined at the Calcutta Bacteriological Institute on 25th September 1949 (vide Exhibit A-62). Wasserman reaction showed "negative". Khan test gave "weakly positive". As there was no formal application for leave as he was suffering from venereal disease, his name was struck off from Company's register on 28th September 1949. The Union contends that there was no previous case of discharge on the ground of suffering from venereal disease except that of Mani Nayak. This case was set up by the Company ostensibly by way of a support of their discharge of Mani Nayak. According to the Union, this man was discharged, because he was a member of the Union. The Company, of course, denies all these contentions. Nothing has been placed before me in evidence to show that Sukdeo had to his credit any conspicuous Union activities which might have made him an eye-sore of the Company. Besides, it appears that the Company had previously discharged one Sunil Kumar Moitra, in May 1948, on the ground of suffering from venereal disease. So this cannot be held to be the first case of its kind. Besides, it appears that the Company did not strike his name off the roll on 3rd August 1949 when his disease was detected. The Company did wait till 28th September 1949 when there was a pathological report of his disease from the Calcutta Bacteriological Institute. So I cannot hold that it was a case either of victimisation or unfair labour practice. So the question of reinstatement does not arise. But before discharging this man, he should have been given a month's notice or a month's pay in lieu of notice. The office report is not correct when it says that this man was absent without leave. The doctor did recommend his leave until further order and stopped him from attending his duty. The doctor may not have been the proper granting authority in the matter of leave, but the responsibility must lie with the Company for the doctor's acts. It cannot be fastened on Sukdeo who was prevented from attending the factory. So I must hold that the discharge was not in proper form. I grant him compensation in the shape of one month's salary or wages from 28th September 1949. The payment must be made to Sukdeo within one month of the award coming into force.

(c) and (d) These are the cases of Abdul Rahman and Sewgolam Ram. I take up these two cases together, because they are practically of the same nature. Sewgolam went on leave for a month with effect from 13th February 1950 to attend his brother's marriage ceremony. On 10th March 1950 he sent a wire to the Company praying for 15 days' extension on the ground of his wife's illness. The Company is said to have informed him that extension of leave was not allowed. His name was eventually struck off on 22nd March 1950, and a notice was sent to him. In the case of Abdul Rahman it appears that his leave was sanctioned up to 21st March 1950. He did not turn up before 10th April 1950. By way of explanation he stated that he could not return to duty because of the communal situation. Now the point that arises in both these cases is whether the Company did discharge them by way of victimisation or out of disciplinary measure. The Union could not place any mentionable Union activities to their credit. They were mere members of the Union just as others are. Membership by itself does not incur annoyance or displeasure of the Company. If they had been really in the bad book of the Company, the Company would not have exhibited such patience as it had shown before taking the final step of discharge. The Company refers to the Standing Rule by which a worker forfeits his bed of service if he over-stays his leave originally granted or subsequently extended. This may prove rather hard in many cases. But it is not up to the Tribunal to intervene in a matter of this kind. No question is mooted before me challenging the propriety of the aforesaid Standing Rule. Besides, the Company contends that these two names did not figure in the petition before the Labour Commissioner. It contends that this fresh matter cannot be agitated for the first time before the Tribunal. There is a good deal of force in this contention. The dispute must be confined to matter which formed the subject-matter of contention before the Labour Commissioner, and thereafter during the time of reference. The Company further points out that these persons did not turn up before the Tribunal to place their case. That is, of course, not necessary nor indispensable. When the tion takes up their case, the claim is no more a personal claim. It forms a subject-matter of the dispute between the Union on the one hand and the company on the other. So the absence of personal appearance is not fatal to the claim. However, considering the matters in the above light I reject the claim of reinstatement or compensation of Sewgolam Ram and Abdul Mannan. The issue is thus disposed of.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 3244Lab., dated the 15th June 1950, this industrial dispute regarding bonus to be paid to the workmen of the Company in their factory at 63, Garden Reach Road, and their employees at 4, Lyons Range, Calcutta, as between Messrs. Lever Brothers (India) Ltd., and their workmen as represented by the Lever Brothers (India) Ltd. and Associated Companies Employees' Union (Calcutta Centre), c/o. Lever Brothers (India) Ltd., Sassoon House, 4, Lyons Range, Calcutta, has been referred to me as an industrial tribunal for adjudication. Lever Brothers (India) Ltd., is a company for manufacturing soap, toilet goods, etc., and its Calcutta establishment has its office at Sassoon House, 4, Lyons Range, Calcutta, and its factory at 63, Garden Reach Road. The subject-matter of the dispute is the bonus to be paid to the workmen both at the office and at the factory for the years 1948 and 1949. The Union has claimed that bonus equivalent to six months' basic wages be paid for each of the two years. It appears that so far present dispute are not really interested in the Junior Managerial staff in commercial establishment or in the factory or in the sales supervisory salesmen, or trades mark investigators, and these categories of employees must therefore be considered to be outside the scope of the present adjudication.

6. I shall now proceed to consider any conditions which should be imposed in respect of the question of eligibility for bonus. In this connection, my attention has been invited to the concluding paragraph of the Bombay Tribunal's award in respect of bonus for 1948. As regards the minimum service to be rendered for making a workman eligible, I think a period of six months is much too long, and I would prefer to adopt a period of four months inclusive of any period of leave with some remuneration, the minimum as I did in the case of Associated Electrical Industries (India) Ltd., as per Government of West Bengal order No. 2831Lab., dated the 18th January 1950 (Calcutta Gazette, dated 26th January 1950). Further, I am not disposed in the present case to impose the condition that bonus shall be paid to employees who have left service prior to the date of reference, even prior to the date of commencement of the dispute. I do not see any legal impediment in considering the cases of past workmen who worked in the relevant period and made their contribution to the accrual of profits but have since left the service of the Company and have ceased to be workmen under the Act. The present dispute is no doubt between the Company and the existing workmen. But it is open to the existing workmen as parties to raise a dispute about the terms of employment or the conditions of labour of those persons who used to be workmen under the Company in the relevant period, and such a dispute would be an industrial dispute under the Act if it is established, in accordance with the dictum of the Central Government (Bank Disputes) Industrial Tribunal, that the existing workmen are really interested in those past workmen. I feel no difficulty in being satisfied that the existing workmen who are parties to the present dispute are really interested in those past workmen, as it is reasonable to presume that the existing workmen may cease to be workmen in the future in connection with a matter of bonus. I accordingly come to the conclusion that there should be no condition about continuity of service up to any date, provided, of course, that the condition of minimum service during the relevant period is fulfilled.

7. In conclusion, I direct that the Company shall pay to each of its employees employed in its office and in its factory in Calcutta, other than those who have been held not to be "workmen" in paragraph 5 above, a bonus for the year 1948, an amount equal to five-twenty-fourths of the total annual basic earnings (excluding dearness allowance and other allowances etc.) during the year ending 31st December 1948, subject to the following conditions:—

(a) All employees who have been on the rolls of service of the Company for a period of at least four months, inclusive of any period of leave with some remuneration, during the period of 12 months ending 31st December 1948, shall be eligible for the payment of bonus.

(b) Persons who are entitled to receive bonus but who are not at present in the service of the Company shall apply for payment to the Manager within six weeks from the date of publication of this award.

(c) Employees who have been dismissed for misconduct or for a misdemeanour shall not be entitled to any bonus.

(d) Payment of bonus shall be made within six weeks from the date on which this award becomes enforceable.

8. I further direct that the Company shall pay to each of its employees employed in its office and in its factory in Calcutta, other than those who have been held not to be "workmen" in paragraph 5 above, as bonus for the year 1949, an amount equal to one-fourth of the total annual basic earnings (including dearness allowance and other allowances, etc.) during the year ending 31st December 1949, subject to the following conditions:—

(a) All employees who have been on the rolls of service of the Company for a period of at least four months, inclusive of any period of leave with no remuneration, during the period of 12 months ending 31st December 1949, shall be eligible for the payment of bonus.

(b) Persons who are entitled to receive bonus but who are not at present in the service of the Company shall apply for payment to the Manager within six weeks from the date of publication of this award.

(c) Employees who have been dismissed for misconduct or major misdemeanour shall not be entitled to any bonus.

(d) Payment of bonus shall be made within six weeks from the date in which this award becomes enforceable.

PRESENT: SRI MATISH CHANDRA BANERJI, District Judge, Tribunal
Industrial dispute between Messrs. Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Ltd., 107, Prince Anwar Shah Road, post office Dhakuria, 24-Parganas and their workmen represented by Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Workers' Union, 9/A, Haralai Das Street, Calcutta, regarding matters specified in the schedule.

AWARD.

The Government of West Bengal in the Department of Labour order No. 2188Lab., dated 3rd May 1950, referred, under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act (XIV of 1947), the industrial dispute between Messrs. Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 107, Prince Anwar Shah Road, post-office Dhakuria, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Workers' Union, 9/A, Haralai Das Street, Calcutta, regarding the matters specified in the following schedule to me for adjudication.

Schedule.

- (1) Whether the dismissal of (a) Sudhangshu Mahapatra, (b) Basa Lal, (c) Kashi Das, (d) Ashutosh Paul, (e) Sheikh (f) Banamali Naskar, (g) B. C. Chandra, (h) Janaki Bane (i) Panna, (j) Sonatan Das, (k) Sudhir Kumar Majumdar (l) Sibul, and (m) Bhusan Banerjee was justified.
- (2) If they are entitled to reinstatement and/or compensation

Notices were issued on both parties and they filed written statements. Messrs. Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Co., Ltd., of 107, Prince Anwar Shah Road, Tollygunj, is a Company manufacturing plywood products and was incorporated in October 1947. The Company purchased a run-down plywood manufacturing factory at Tollygunj on 3rd November 1947 from one Sriram Nandaram and started manufacturing operations there. The Company has been producing only plywood discs. There were about 140 workmen in 1948, but at present there are only about 70 workmen working in the factory. In September 1948, the workmen of the factory formed themselves into a Union, styled as the Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Workers' Union and one Nakul Chandra Roy of the Fret-saw Department was the first Secretary of the Union. In October 1948, the Union filed a charter of demands claiming increase in emoluments and improvement in other terms of employment and conditions of labour and the Labour Commissioner, Government of West Bengal, started conciliation proceedings. The dispute that arose out of the charter of demands which was not accepted by the Company. During the pendency of the conciliation proceedings a number of workmen were discharged by the Company. The Labour Commissioner failed to effect any settlement of the disputes and recommended to Government for reference of the dispute to the Tribunal for adjudication. The Government of West Bengal in the Department of Labour by order No. 4506Lab., dated 8th December 1948, referred the disputes between the Company and the Union under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act to this Tribunal for adjudication.

The Award of the Tribunal was published in the Calcutta Gazette dated 5th April 1949. It appears from the Award that 14 workmen including the Secretary, Nakul Chandra Roy, Bhusan Mukherji, Janaki Bane, Sonatan Das and Sudhir Majumdar who were discharged by the Company were reinstated by agreement and that the Tribunal awarded a revision of pay and some other amenities by adjudication.

It appears that although the Company took back into service the 14 workmen as agreed before the Tribunal and mentioned in the Award, the term of the Award as to the increase of emoluments was not implemented by the Company in spite of repeated reminders by the Union. Dissensions arose in the factory and it appears that the Union approached the Labour Commissioner for prevailing upon the Company to implement the term of the Award regarding the revision of emoluments or to prosecute the Company under section 29 of the Industrial Disputes Act in default of such implementation. The Union also on 14th September 1949 sent to the Labour Directorate a list of witnesses who were prepared to depose on behalf of the prosecution.

The Union's case is that on account of this step taken by it the Company made an attempt to crush the Union and to that end appointed as Manager one Shibkaran Sharma in or about January 1950, one Fatechan as Cashier in the last week of January 1950 and a Punjabi durwan on or about the 4th of February 1950 in order to create a situation for the dismissal of the leaders of the Union. The Union further states in its written statement that on 6th February 1950 it lodged an ejahar at the Tollygunj police-station against Shibkaran Sharma, the Punjabi durwan and Raghunandan Pandey, durwan, for an attempt to murder Mati and Din Ali, witnesses named in the list by the Union as mentioned above. The Union's further case is that on 8th February 1950 the said Punjabi durwan and Fatechan along with others attacked the workmen actively connected with the Union and actually assaulted Sonatan Das, Assistant Secretary of the Union, Kristo Das, Vice-President of the Union, and Janaki Banerji, a member of the Union and that an ejahar was immediately lodged at the Tollygunj police-station. The Union also states that the Company on 8th February 1950 discharged all the 12 workmen of the Fret-saw Department without assigning any reason and also discharged one Bhusan Chandra Mukherji, Vice-President of the Union, on 20th February 1950. The Union, therefore, claims that these 13 workmen were victimised for trade union activities and should be reinstated to their former posts in the factory with full compensation for the period of their non-employment.

The Company in their written statement denied the allegations levelled against them by the Union and state that the 13 persons mentioned by the Union formed into an unlawful assembly on 8th February 1950 and assaulted the durwan and loyal workers of the factory under the orders of Sudhangshu Mahapatra and also threatened them with death if they would attend to their duties. They further state that the activities of these men were prejudicial to the interest of the Company and they absented themselves from duty without notice as from 7th February 1950. The Company also states that the said 13 dismissed employees have been guilty of most disrespectful, violent and unbusinesslike conduct. It is also disclosed in the written statement of the Company that they filed a petition under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code, before the Subdivisional Magistrate, Durgam, and that a notice was issued on the dismissed workmen calling upon them to show cause why they should not execute a bond to keep the peace and that the proceedings under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code, were still pending before the Magistrate. Issues were framed on 16th June 1950.

The appearances for the parties were as follows:—

for the Union.—Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate and Sri Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Secretary of the Union, and others.

for the Company.—Sri D. N. Basu, Advocate, Sri Kashiram Agarwala, Managing Director, and others.

The issues framed were as follows:—

Issues.

- (1) Whether the dismissal of (a) Sudhangshu Mahapatra, (b) Bassa Lal, (c) Kashi Das, (d) Ashutosh Paul, (e) Sheikh, (f) Banamali Naskar, (g) B. C. Chandra, (h) Janaki Bane, (i) Panna, (j) Sonatan Das, (k) Sudhir Kumar Majumdar, (l) Sibbu, and (m) Bhusan Banerjee, was justified.
- (2) If they are entitled to reinstatement and/or compensation.

DECISIONS.

Issue Nos. 1 and 2.

The Union's claim is with regard to reinstatement of 13 dismissed workmen mentioned in Issue No. 1, 12 of them, being Nos. 1 to 12 in the list, belonged to the Fret-saw Department of the factory and No. 13 Bhus Mukherji wrongly mentioned as Bhusan Banerjee in the Order of Reference was the head mistry of the factory. The Union's claim, as mentioned above, is that these men were discharged for trade union activities. The Company's case, on the other hand, is that they were guilty of riotous conduct on 8th February 1950 inside the factory and assaulted the durw and loyal workmen of the factory and held out threats to the loyal workmen urging them to desist from work and that the Company dismissed them in the ordinary course of administration of the establishment. The Union examined a number of witnesses, being P.W. 1 Sudhangshu Mahapatra, P.W. 2 Bhusan Chandra Mukherji, P.W. 3 Sudhir Majumdar, and P.W. 4 Sonatan Das, 4 of the dismissed workmen, and put in documents, Exhibits 1 to 7. The Company examined O.P.W. 1 Bejoy Bhusan Boral, O.P.W. 2 Shambhu Nath Das, two of their employees, and O.P.W. 3 Sri Kasiram Agarwala, the Managing Director, and two Police witnesses, being O.P.W. 4 Sri Dharendra Nath Roy Choudhury, Sub-Inspector, Tollygunj police station, and O.P.W. 5 Sri Probodh Chandra Nag, Circle Inspector, Police, Sadar, A Circle, Alipore. The Company also put in the document Exhibits A to H. The incident on 8th February 1950, that, according to both the parties, was the cause of the dismissal of the workmen in question was sought to be clarified by the parties with the evidence adduced.

It is an admitted fact that the previous Award, published in the Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary, dated 5th April 1949, was not implemented by the Company so far as it related to the emoluments of the workmen. The Award increased the minimum total wages to Rs. 42 per month. Twenty-one workmen receiving a monthly pay of Rs. 30 and 23 workmen receiving a monthly pay of Rs. 35 had their pay raised to Rs. 42 and other workmen got a flat increment of Rs. 5 per month. The young helpers who got pay of Rs. 25 or Rs. 20 per month had their pay fixed at Rs. 25 per month. The result was that all the adult workmen and some of the young helpers had their pay raised. The Award shows that such a low scale of wages was fixed for the workmen in consideration of the unsatisfactory financial condition of the Company. This Award was in operation for one year from the date of its publication, i.e., 5th April 1949. The Managing Director of the Company O.P.W. 5 Sri Kasiram Agarwala states in evidence that he did not implement the Award as he could not pay according to the scales of wages laid down in the Award on account of financial stringency. As months rolled on and the Company did not show any sign of implementing the Award, the Union repeatedly approached the Government and the Labour Directorate for obliging the Company to implement it on pain prosecution under section 29 of the Act. The file of the Labour Commissioner shows that the Company did not pay any heed to the Labour Directorate's repeated instructions to pay the workmen according to the Award and the Labour Directorate in the long run decided to lodge a complaint under section 29 of the Act against the Directors of the Company. The Directorate by its letter, dated 8th/9th September 1949 (Exhibit 2), asked the Secretary of the Union to furnish it with names of witnesses who would depose for the prosecution of the management for non-implementation of the Award, and the Union sent such a list on 14th September 1949 by the letter, Exhibit 3. These witnesses were Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Ashutosh Paul, Bhusan Chandra Mukherji, Kesto Chandra Das, Din Ali, Alam Shah, Ram Nehar Tewari and Chhoti Lal. It appears that Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Kesto Chandra Das same as Kashi Das, Ashutosh Paul and Bhusan Mukherji who has been described in the order of reference as Bhusan Banerjee, appear in the list of dismissed workmen mentioned in Issue No. 1. In the written statement the Union stated that the Company appointed as Manager Sri Shibkaran Sharma as Cashier Sri Fatechan in January 1950 and a Punjabi durwan in the beginning of February 1950 in order to create a situation for dismissal of the leaders of the Union.

It was further alleged in the written statement of the Union that on 6th February 1950 the Manager Shibkaran Sharma, the newly appointed Punjabi durwan, and another durwan Jadunandan Pandey made an attempt to murder Mati and Din Ali, two of the workmen who lived in the coolies' quarters of the factory, and that an ejahar was lodged in Tollygunj police-station over the incident. The Union also states that the whereabouts of Din Ali and his brother Sherajuddin were not known since then. No ejahar of date 6th February 1950 was proved by the Union at the time of the hearing. The General Diary of the Tollygunj police-station for February 1950, was called for in connection with the informations, Exhibit 7 and Exhibit B, dated 8th February 1950, but no entry as alleged by the Union was found in the book on 6th February 1950. The Company's written statement shows that they have been informed that the two persons Din Ali and Sherajuddin left for Pakistan since. The allegation of the Union as to the incident on 6th February 1950 or as to the suggestion of the Company's connection with the disappearance of Din Ali and Sherajuddin cannot, in the circumstances, be accepted and no value should be attached to these allegations.

Next comes the incident on 8th February 1950. The Union's case is that at the said Punjabi durwan who appears to be named as Nirbhoy Singh and the Cashier Fatechan along with others not named, attacked the workers closely connected with the Union and assaulted and injured (a) Sonatan Das, Assistant Secretary of the Union, (b) Kesto Das, Vice-President of the Union, and (c) Janaki Banerji, a member of the Union, and an ejahar was immediately lodged at Tollygunj police-station, and that the Company on 8th February 1950 discharged all the 12 workmen of the Fret-saw department without assigning any reason. The Company's case is that the dismissed workmen formed into an unlawful assembly on 8th February 1950 and assaulted the durwan and loyal workers of the factory under orders of Sudhangshu Mahapatra and also threatened them with death if they did not attend to their duties.

In evidence P.W. 1 Sudhangshu Mahapatra, P.W. 3 Sudhir Majumdar and P.W. 4 Sonatan Das stated that on 8th February 1950 the Punjabi durwan, Fatechan and Shibkaran Sharma, Manager, assaulted the workmen including Sudhir Majumdar and Sonatan Das and injured Sonatan Das, Kesto Das and Janaki Banerji as they refused to put their thumb-prints on a plain paper at the instance of Nandaram Babu, father of Kasiram Babu. Sudhangshu Mahapatra also states that at that time went out of the factory to the thana and lodged an ejahar and brought Police Officer with him to the factory. He further states that the Inspector of Police saw the injuries of the 3 men and left instructions Nandaram Babu and others not to create any disturbance in the factory the workmen worked peacefully till 12 noon when they came out of factory for lunch. They were not allowed to enter into the factory at 1 p.m. The workmen thus excluded were the 12 men of the Fret Department. The ejahar lodged by Sudhangshu is Exhibit 7. It states that Sudhangshu Mahapatra came with Kesto Das and reported as follows: "This morning at about 9-30 a.m. while they were discussing with Sri Sri Nandaram and Bejoy Babu about some disputed matters one Punjabi durwan used some abusive words towards some labourers of the factory which afterwards turned into a quarrel between them, and the durwan assaulted some of the workers Janaki Banerji and Sonatan Das with a stick causing swelling marks on their persons". The Police Officer noted the information and referred the informants to the Court. This information was lodged at 9-50 a.m. Exhibit B is the second information of the incident lodged by Seukaran Maharaj, the Manager of the factory, at 10 a.m. who states "that a marpit took place between the Company's men and workmen causing slight injury for which he apprehends further trouble there". The Officer notes also that he left for the place of occurrence with a constable Dhan Singh to look into the matter. It appears that Sudhangshu Mahapatra returned to the factory when the Sub-Inspector came there. The information, Exhibit 7, does not show that Kesto Chandra Das was injured in the quarrel as was alleged in the written statement of the Union and deposed to by Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Sudhir and Sonatan. The plea of assault on the workmen as they refused to put thumb-impression on a plain paper at the instance of Nandaram Babu, father of Kashiram Babu is also falsified by the information, Exhibit 7. Both the information Exhibits 7 and B, disclose an incident of the nature of a quarrel and marpit and do not support either the Union's plea that the Punjabi durwan Fatechan and others attacked the workmen or the Company's averment that their written statement that the dismissed persons formed into an unlawful assembly and assaulted the durwan and the loyal workers of the factory under the orders of Sudhangshu Mahapatra and threatened them with death. The evidence of O.P.W. 1 Sri Bejoy Bhushan Boral shows that he went to the factory on 8th February 1950 on a periodical inspection and visited the Fret-saw Department as it was the place where the Union Secretary worked and was also the centre of all Union activities. He had a conversation with the Union Secretary and as he was having the talk the Secretary other employees of the department left their jobs and came near them. These men made observations from time to time by way of instructions to the Secretary or passing remarks and as a matter of fact the entire body of workmen in the factory gathered there. Bejoy Babu was trying to impress upon the workmen the necessity of increasing production and thereby making it possible to increase their emoluments also. But as they could reach any solution tempers began to be frayed and the fact that the durwan Nirbhoy Singh came up apprehending breach of the peace and asked the workmen to go to their jobs. At this time some of the workmen, the place where the talk was proceeding and approached the Punjabi durwan and had an altercation with him. This altercation led to an assault and it was Sonatan Das and Sheikh Ali who for the first time assaulted the durwan. Sheikh Ali picked up a block of wood with iron linings and hurled it on the durwan, the durwan was injured on the thigh, head and the ankle. At that time many others also were hurling pieces of wood on the durwan and Bejoy Babu came away to the office to avoid injury to himself. While coming to the office he saw Fatechan, the Cash covering a bleeding wound on his head with his hand. Just at that moment a flying piece of wood struck Shambhu Babu at the ankle. At that time the other employees of the management staff of the factory came up to the workmen and pacified them and the trouble subsided within about 8 to 10 minutes. After the trouble subsided Bejoy Babu took the injured men to the Lake Hospital for first aid. In cross-examination Bejoy Babu denied that Nandaram Babu was at the factory on 8th February 1950 at any time during the period when he himself was there. It appears that Bejoy Babu was at the factory from 8-30 a.m. to 1-30 p.m. with a break of 2½ hours from 11 a.m. when he went to the Lake Hospital with the injured persons. Bejoy Babu states that his guess was that 10 to 15 workmen only created the trouble, and he saw Sudhangshu Mahapatra only to protest at the Punjabi durwan's directions to go to their jobs and say "Tom Kahe Bolta Hai". He did not see Sudhangshu to do anything more. He saw Sonatan and Sheikh Ali to take part in the assault on the durwan. He could not name any other person who took part or abetted the assault on the durwan or any other employee.

O.P.W. 2 Shambhu Nath Das is also an employee of the Company. In his examination-in-chief he states that almost all the workmen of the factory were present at the place of the golmal that took place in the morning of 8th February 1950 and that Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Kesto Das, Sonatan Das, Ashutosh Paul, Basanta Lal and others were in the golmal and each one of these persons was either striking with an iron rod or throwing iron ridges. Fatechan was struck by an iron rod on the head, and Shambhu himself was struck by a ridge on the ankle. He and the other injured persons being Fatechan and Nirbhoy Singh were taken to the Lake Medical College Hospital by Bejoy Babu. In his cross-examination he states that in the office room Bejoy Babu was talking with Sudhangshu Mahapatra in his presence and was suggesting for increase of production. This talk continued for a pretty long time. Nandaram Babu was at that time outside the office and on the grounds. Suddenly the men in the office room perceived that a maramari had started and he and Sudhangshu Mahapatra and Bejoy Babu went towards the place of maramari which was taking place a little to the left side of the front door of the office. Shambhu Babu states that Nandaram Babu came to the factory on that date at 10 a.m. and was present there till he went to the hospital at 10-30 a.m. and Nandaram Babu was present at the time of the assault on Fatechan, Nirbhoy Singh and himself.

The hospital tickets, Exhibits A, A(1) and A(2) show that Fatechan, Nirbhoy Singh and Shambhu Nath Das were given first-aid at the Lake Medical College Hospital on 8th February 1950 and Fatechan and Nirbhoy Singh were each given an injection of A.T. Serum.

Exhibits C, D, D(1), E, F and F(1) are documents which show that on 11th of February one Rathindra Nath Ghosh, an employee of the Company, filed a petition to the Subdivisional Magistrate, Alipore, for asking the Superintendent of Police, 24-Parganas, to make arrangement for protection of the factory against mischief by Sudhangshu Mahapatra and others by posting an Armed Police picket at the factory. The incident on 8th February 1950 has also been described in this petition and it is stated therein that a talk of compromise was going on at the factory between Bejoy Babu and Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Secretary of the Workmen's Union, when other accused persons with several others came at the place and used abusive language and when a Punjabi durwan Nirbhoy Singh protested, the accused persons came armed with lathis, etc., and assaulted the durwan and two other employees Fatechan and Sambhu Nath Das. It also stated that four out of them, namely, Sudhangshu Mahapatra, K Das, Janakinath Banerji, and Sheikh Ali, who were the ring-leaders, collected men with the idea of assaulting the durwan posted at the factory and then setting fire to the factory. An application was filed under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code, by the same Rathindra Nath Ghosh against all the discharged persons, being Nos. 1 to 11, on 15th February 1950. The learned Subdivisional Magistrate asked the Circle Inspector of Police, Sadar, A Circle, for taking immediate action and ordered for posting Armed Police for preventing a breach of the peace, if necessary. He directed the Circle Inspector to enquire and report on the matter. On 16th February 1950 proceedings under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code, were drawn up against the 11 persons mentioned in the application under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code, directing them to show cause why they should not be ordered to execute a bond for Rs. 200 each for maintaining the peace for a period of one year. The proceeding under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code, has not proceeded much further yet. Exhibit E is a petition of complaint under section 323, Indian Penal Code, by Fatechan against the same 11 persons filed on 11th February 1950. Exhibit F is the order-sheet of section 107, Criminal Procedure Code, case and Exhibit F(1) is the order-sheet of section 323, Indian Penal Code case. It appears that a warrant was issued against 5 of the accused persons named in the petition, namely, Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Ashutosh Paul, Sheikh Ali, Kesto Chandra Das and Sonatan Das under section 323, Indian Penal Code. Both petitions under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code and the petition under section 323, Indian Penal Code, state that the 11 persons mentioned in the application forming themselves into an unlawful assembly assaulted 3 persons, two of them being Fatechan and a durwan of the factory, and that they were threatening to kill the durwan and other employees of the factory and systematically threatening the loyal workers with death if they were to do their duties at the factory and they were giving out publicly that they would set fire to the factory. Fatechan, Nirbhoy Singh and Seukaran Sharma have not been examined in this case. Bejoy Babu states that Seukaran Sharma and Nirbhoy Singh were not in the service of the Company and that Fatechan was bedridden for illness.

There can be no doubt that the information, Exhibit 7, lodged by Sudhangshu Mahapatra and Kesto Chandra Das and the information, Exhibit B, communicated by Seukaran Maharaj, the Manager of the factory to the Tollygunj Police on 8th February 1950 are of great importance. Contemporaneous statements by the parties on the occurrence on 8th February 1950. Exhibit 7 states that Janaki Banerji and Sonatan Das were assaulted by the durwan with a stick causing swelling marks on their persons as a result of a quarrel between some of the workers and a durwan. Exhibit B states that a marpit took place between the workers causing slight injury for which further trouble was apprehended there. The statement of Sudhangshu Mahapatra that the Punjabi durwan, Fatechan and Seukaran Sharma assaulted the workmen because they did not agree to put thumb-impressions on a plain paper at the instance of Nandaram Babu is therefore, unworthy of credit. Exhibit 7 clearly shows that it was a durwan who assaulted Janaki Banerji and Sonatan Das. Exhibit 7 also shows that Kesto Das did not deliberately disclose the fact that he received an injury during the occurrence. Exhibit B states that it was a marpit between the Company's men and the workers. The plea of the Company in its written statement or in the applications under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code or section 323, Indian Penal Code, that the 13 men in question formed themselves into an unlawful assembly under the orders of Sudhangshu Mahapatra and as members of such an assembly assaulted Nirbhoy Singh, Techan and Shambhu Das is not supported by this document. The evidence of Bejoy Babu and Shambhu Babu does not support the plea that Sudhangshu Mahapatra gave any orders for assaulting the Company's men threatened the loyal workers to desist from work on pain of death. The evidence of these 2 witnesses as well as Exhibit 7 shows that Sudhangshu Mahapatra was discussing with Sriram Nandaram and Bejoy Babu about the disputed matters, when at the intervention of the Punjabi durwan the trouble occurred. There was no doubt that Sriram Nandaram was present at the factory on that date and Bejoy Babu made the most unworthy attempt in hiding this fact. The report of the Conciliation Officer who made an enquiry into the matter also states that on 8th February 1950 the Proprietor of the factory to make payments and the workers collected before him began to put forward their grievances when the Punjabi durwan asked them in a rude manner to go to their jobs at which an altercation followed that led to an assault. It also states that the durwan was assaulted and some of the workers were also bodily injured and that after this incident the management dismissed 13 of the workers for alleged prejudicial activities and absence without leave. I find that the statement of the Conciliation Officer as mentioned above is borne out by the evidence on record.

The Company took the plea in the written statement that the 13 discharged workmen absented themselves from duty without notice as from 7th February 1950 and that this was also a ground for their discharge. No attempt was made by the Company to substantiate this plea in evidence. After the close of the arguments of the learned Advocates of both sides the Company filed a petition for admitting in evidence a letter by the Company to the discharged workmen in support of this plea. This petition was rejected. As no evidence could be accepted at that stage the plea that these workmen absented themselves from 7th February 1950 is, in the face of it, unworthy of credit as they were present at the factory on 7th February 1950 when the trouble occurred. I do not, therefore, accept this plea as a justification for their discharge.

It, therefore, appears to me that the evidence on record clearly shows that Sudhangshu Mahapatra did not take any part in the assault on the durwan. In the applications, Exhibits D(1) and E, being the applications filed by the employees of the Company under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code, and 323, Indian Penal Code, the names of Sibbu and Bhusan Mukherji as persons who took part in the assault on the durwan and others were not been mentioned. It cannot, therefore, be urged that the discharge of Sibbu and Bhusan Mukherji on account of the occurrence on 8th February 1950 is justified. It is in evidence that Ashutosh Paul was re-employed after his discharge. He must, therefore, have been a person who did not take part in the assault on the durwan. Bhusan Mukherji was in service till the 13th of February and he was absent for illness for a short period and appeared to join his duties on 20th February 1950 with a medical certificate, Exhibit 6, but he was not permitted to join. Bhusan Mukherji states that he was absent with the permission of the Manager. There is nothing to show that Bhusan Mukherji was absent without permission and the ground of his discharge for absence without permission has not been proved. I, therefore, find that Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Ashutosh Paul, and Bhusan Mukherji should not have been discharged and their discharge was unjustified. Sudhangshu Mahapatra is the Secretary of the Company, Ashutosh Paul is the Assistant Secretary of the Union, Bhusan Mukherji is the Vice-President of the Union and Sibbu is a member of the Union. Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Ashutosh Paul and Bhusan Mukherji were witnesses named in Exhibit 3. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case I am of opinion that the discharge of these four persons Sudhang Mahapatra, Ashutosh Paul, Sibhu and Bhushan Mukherji were instances of victimisation and they should be reinstated. As Ashutosh Paul has already been reinstated, he should continue in his job.

The evidence further shows that Sonatan Das, Sheikh Ali, Ja Banerji and Kesto Das alias Kashi Das were in the trouble on 8th February 1950. These four persons are not entitled to reinstatement as they took part in the trouble that resulted in injuries to three employees of the management. As to the other five persons, namely, Basanta Das, Banan Naskar, B. C. Chandra, Panna and Sudhir Kumar Majumdar, there is no direct evidence of their complicity in the affray. It appears that the Company discharged these men on the ground that they were also associated with other persons in the assault on the durwan, Fatechan and Shambhu Das. It has been held by the United States Supreme Court in NLRB v. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation that the American Act does not interfere with the normal exercise of the right of the employer to select his employees or to discharge them. In its Third Annual Report, the Board stated "The Board has never held it to be an unfair labour practice for an employer to hire or discharge, to promote or demote, to transfer, lay off or reinstate, or otherwise to affect the hire, or tenure of employees or the terms or conditions of employment, for asserted reasons of business necessity, animosity, or because of sheer caprice, so long as the employer's conduct is not wholly or in part motivated by anti-union cause" (Labour Disputes and Collective Bargaining by Ludwig Teller, Volume II, pages 828, 829). These principles have been followed in determination of labour management relations in India (vide Sir H. B. Divatia in dispute between Union Mills, Ltd., and their workmen, Bombay Labour Gazette, January 1949, page 335). There is nothing to show that the dismissal of these persons was motivated by any anti-union cause. The Company was entitled to discharge these five persons as they suspected that they were connected with the assault on the durwan and others. The applications under section 323, Criminal Procedure Code and section 323, Indian Penal Code, by Exhibits D(1) and E, show allegations against these persons as to their complicity in the trouble on 8th February 1950. In the circumstances these five persons also are not entitled to reinstatement.

I shall next deal with the question as to whether any of these employees are entitled to any compensation for non-employment or termination of service. The four workmen who are reinstated have been out of employment for about 9 months. In considering the claim for compensation for the period of non-employment the financial condition of the Company must be borne in mind. The Company filed Exhibit H—the balance sheet and the profit and loss account for the year ending 6th April 1949 which show a loss of Rs. 9,000 and odd. In view of the circumstances of the case it is awarded that Sudhangshu Mahapatra, Bhushan Mukherji and Sibhu should receive emoluments for three months and Ashutosh Paul, emoluments for one month by way of compensation for the period of non-employment. The period of their non-employment should be counted as leave on compensation as awarded above. It is also awarded that Basanta Das, Banan Naskar, B. C. Chandra, Panna and Sudhir Kumar Majumdar should be considered to have been discharged and they should get compensation to the extent of three months' emoluments for termination of their employment, although they are not entitled to reinstatement. These emoluments shall be computed at the rates they were receiving just before their discharge.

It is further awarded that the four persons, namely, Sonatan Das, Nish Ali, Janaki Banerji and Kesto Das alias Kashi Das who have been and to have been involved in the trouble on 8th February 1950 shall not be entitled to receive any compensation for termination of their service. All payments allowed under this Award shall be made within six weeks of the date on which this Award comes into operation.

ANNEXURE.

the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Ferrazinis, Limited, 21, Lindsay Street, Calcutta, and their workmen, represented by Calcutta Hotel Mazdoor Federation, 121/2D, Surendra Nath Banerjee Road, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJI, Chairman, Industrial Tribunal.

the Company.—Sri J. M. Sen Gupta, Advocate, and Mr. C. Martin, Manager of the Company.

the Union.—Sri J. Pandey, Secretary.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, order No. 156Lab., dated Calcutta, 11th January 1950, the above dispute was referred to me for adjudication under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act and notices were served on both the parties and both appeared and presented their points. The Union's case is that the Company is of twelve years' standing and has a very good repute in the market and that during the years, the Company made a huge profit through its Confectionery, Sweets and Tea Room. It is further alleged that in the month of June 1947, the Company made a deduction of 12 per cent. from the wages of the workmen per force and thus flamed the cause of discontent. The trouble continued till the middle of June 1947. The Company proposed that they did not require so many hands but they would be able to maintain them all provided they went on rotation leave by batches. The workers accordingly were asked to go on rotation leave for two months in the beginning of August 1947, and they were required to join on the 1st October 1947 but when they returned, they were not taken in—only five workers had been taken after much solicitation. The Company intimated that the persons (mentioned in Schedule A) stand dismissed.

Another batch was ordered to proceed on forced leave and when they came back on expiry of their leave on 1st September 1947, only three were taken and the rest, shown in the Schedule B, were informed that their services terminated. The Company also stopped the daily payment of Khoraki to the workers of Confectionery and Bakery Departments, which in cash amounted to a monthly decrease of emoluments of Rs. 12 per worker. There are several other troubles resulting in the discharge of other workers, and the Union now prays that there should be recognition of the Union, security of service, fixation of scale of pay and dearness allowance, annual bonus, gratuity, provident fund and reinstatement of the workers mentioned in the body of the statement.

The Company files a written statement alleging that the business of the Company was steadily going down from the end of 1946, so that they were compelled to abolish the Confectionery Department and had to effect a retrenchment. It is alleged that the Company was contemplating drastic retrenchment due to the fall in business when the workers themselves in order to keep their services took their own initiative and formulated an agreement to accept 12½ per cent. reduced pay voluntarily. The workers also of their own accord wanted to go on rotation leave.

About the persons for whom reinstatement is sought for, the Company gives statement alleging that some of them are still working in the Company and some did not turn up and some had left of their own accord. Regarding discharge, the Company further stated that some persons were to be retrenched as the Bakery Department was closed for want of necessary quota of flour from the Rationing authorities. It is further stated that increase in pay or emoluments or dearness allowance will seriously affect the financial position of the Company inasmuch as it has already been running at a loss.

Issues.

- (1) Recognition of the Union.
- (2) Security of service.
- (3) Scale of pay.
- (4) Dearness allowance.
- (5) Housing accommodation or house-rent allowance.
- (6) Annual bonus, Puja bonus.
- (7) Gratuity, provident fund.
- (8) Leave and holidays.
- (9) Restoration of Khoraki facilities.
- (10) Reinstatement of workers, viz., Mr. B. J. Charley, Janab Abul Korim, Santu Lall, Basant, Bishwanath and Mongal Das.
- (11) Retrospective effect of the award.

Issue No. 1.—Recognition of the Union.

The Company states that they received notices from as many as thirteen Unions or Associations claiming to represent the workers. One such notice was sent by the General Secretary, Shop Assistants' Association of Bengal.

dated 21st July 1947, another from Lower-Grade Employees' Union, dated 1st April 1949, and another from Hotel Mazdoor Federation, dated 27th June 1949. The Management states that they are perplexed as to which is the true Union representing the workers.

Strictly speaking, the recognition of the Union is not at all an industrial dispute, for in order to constitute an industrial dispute, it must be connected with the employment or non-employment, or terms of employment. I fail to see any such connection as is required to convert a dispute into an industrial dispute. In a series of Calcutta awards—too numerous to mention—it has been held that the matter of recognition of a Union is not an industrial dispute. The decision of the Major Jute Tribunal award may be referred to in this connection.

Issue No. 2.—Security of service.

The Union wants that three months' service should entitle the workmen to permanency and all employees having completed three months' service, should be taken on permanent roll. No dismissal or discharge be made without the previous consent and sanction of the Union.

Regarding security of service, I would like to impose the terms and conditions as awarded in the case of the Great Eastern Hotel, Ltd.

Regarding confirmation, I direct that an employee should be made permanent after completion of nine months' service, (i) if his service is satisfactory, and (ii) if there is a vacancy in the same cadre.

Regarding dismissal and discharge, a charge-sheet should be framed by the Management against an employee for misconduct, if there be any, and he should be asked to explain and given an opportunity to support his conduct, before he is dismissed.

Issue No. 5.—Housing accommodation.

The Union prays that adequate facilities for housing accommodation be provided to all the employees of the Company, or in lieu thereof 10 per cent. of the basic salary with a minimum of Rs. 10 to be paid as house-rent allowance.

The financial position of the Company is not at all happy and the Company is not in a position to provide suitable housing accommodation, so it is difficult to make an award regarding house allowance in this case. The prayer is rejected.

Issue No. 6.—Annual bonus, Puja bonus.

The Union prays for three months' wages to be paid as bonus for 1948-49 to all the workers of the Company. The Company is running at a loss and the payment of bonus always depends on profit. I reject the prayer.

Puja bonus.—The Union suggested one month's wages to be paid to each employee as Puja bonus. Due to the financial position of the Company, I am afraid, I cannot make any award on this point.

Issue No. 7.—Gratuity, provident fund.

The Union claims both gratuity and provident fund. Due to the financial position of the Company, it is not possible at all to make any award on this head. If, however, the financial position improves, an award may be made later on.

Issue No. 8.—Leave and holidays.

The Union demands—

- (a) One month's privilege leave with full pay after completion of every eleven months' service.
- (b) Fifteen days' casual leave in a year with full pay.
- (c) Twenty days' cumulative medical leave for every year of service with full pay.
- (d) Fifteen days' festival holidays in a year with full pay.

The present concern is guided by the rules of Bengal Shops and Establishments Act, and therefore they are entitled to have statutory holidays at least one and a half days each week.

In the next place they shall be entitled, under section 12 of the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act, to—

- (a) privilege leave on full pay for a total period not exceeding fourteen days for every twelve months' continuous employment;
- (b) casual leave on half pay for a period not exceeding ten days in every year, provided that—
 - (i) privilege leave admissible may be accumulated up to a maximum of not more than twenty-eight days; and
 - (ii) casual leave admissible under clause (b) shall not be accumulated.

Issue No. 9.—Restoration of Khoraki facilities.

The confectionery and bakery workers in this Company were enjoying the Khoraki facility from its very inception and were getting it as a part of their wages. This amount in cash amounted to Rs. 12, and this has, according to the Union, since been discontinued. It is clear that the workers with their Union Secretary called Shop Assistants' Association of Bengal, signed an agreement with the Company and intentionally agreed to take wages at a reduced rate of 12½ per cent. and induced the Company, which was then facing deficit after deficit every year. The relevant extract from the Compromise Form signed by the Union Secretary runs thus:—

“We fully agree and accept the terms given below:—that we draw a reduced salary of 12½ per cent. of our pay as long as the normal supply of the flour and sugar is stopped.”

The Company denies that there was any system of Khoraki. According to the Company, the confectioners and bakers used to get remuneration for overtime at 4 annas per diem when there was actual overtime work. In my opinion, no case has been made out for restoration of Khoraki facilities. It is also not clear what the Union wants; nor do I understand what loss they have suffered.

Issue Nos. 3 and 4.—Scale of pay and dearness allowance.

The concern is a small one and there are about 30 employees distributed in three departments—(1) Confectionery Department, (2) Boys' Department, and (3) Pantry Department. Besides, there are sweepers and durwans. The concern is running at a loss. According to the several awards made in the case of Firpos, Ltd., Great Eastern Hotel and Grand Hotel, the employees could certainly fairly expect the level of wages on the same scale of those hotels, but, I am afraid, any further burden on the Company in the shape of wages is sure to ruin the concern. The Company has submitted a chart showing existing pay and privileges, which are appended at annexure in this case. This annexure be treated as part of the award and the existing privileges mentioned therein are not to be taken away by the Management on any pretext.

Confectionery Department.—The minimum wage of this department is Rs. 40 including dearness allowance. They take their bread, egg, milk and sugar as many times as they like and their duty is only from 6-30 a.m. to 2 p.m. I do not want to make any change in the scale of pay, so far as this department is concerned.

Boys' Department.—The Head Boy gets Rs. 50 per month and others get Rs. 20. Only one Egg Boy gets Rs. 23 per month. They all get tips. Besides, they get tea and bread twice a day and they are allowed to take tea as many times as they like. Every one of them earns tips, the value whereof would be no less than Rs. 3 to Rs. 4 per diem. Their duty is only from 6-30 a.m. to 12 noon and from 2 p.m. to 8-30 p.m. by rotation. I do not want to revise their pay, as I find that in the Great Eastern Hotel, these boys technically as they are called Chhokras—get pay from Rs. 9 to Rs. 10 per month. The pay is low because of the salient fact that they earn good tips. I see no reason to interfere.

Pantry Department.—The minimum pay is Rs. 28, but they get food twice a day and they have to work only for eight hours. They do not get any tips. I direct that a flat increment of Rs. 2 be granted to Mesalchis only, who earn Rs. 28. The Management willingly agreed to this increase though the financial aspect is not bright.

Durwans.—The pay of the durwans is Rs. 40 per month and they get tips only occasionally. They also get tea and bread twice a day. No change in the scale of pay.

Sweepers.—They earn Rs. 31 per month and they get food twice a day. No change in the scale of pay.

Issue No. 10.—Reinstatement.

(1) Santoolal Das.—He says that as he was one of the leaders of the Union, he had been victimised. There is no evidence of his being an active member of the Union. On the other hand, Mr. Martin, the Manager, on oath, states that this worker was dismissed for theft of kitchen commodities and he also resigned of his own accord. I see no reason to interfere.

(2) Nababjan.—This witness, according to the Management, was dismissed as the Bakery Department, in which he had been an employee, had been abolished. This witness could not also prove any Union activity. I am, therefore, not inclined to interfere.

(3) Joseph Charlie.—The Manager, Mr. Martin, states on oath that this witness was found drunken during duty hours. Warnings had had no effect. So, it was a case of gross misconduct, and as such, his dismissal is justified.

(4) Golam Rasul.—Admittedly this witness was working in the Bakery Department and as that department was abolished, his service was dispensed with. I see no reason to interfere.

Regarding others discharged by the Management, none was examined; nor any case made out before me. So, I take that their cases were not pressed. No case of illegal discharge or victimisation has been made out.

On a review of the financial position of the Company from the audited account, it is clear that the Company is running at a loss since 1946. The nett loss in the year 1946 was Rs. 12,910-13-10 and Rs. 13,379-4-3 in 1947 and Rs. 30,605 in the year ending 31st March 1948, and 1949 is also a deficit year. I am sorry due to the financial position of the Company, it is not possible to make a better and more bright award this year. If the Company earns substantial profit later on, I would like to impress on the Management to increase substantially pay and dearness allowance of the workers.

Dearness allowance.—As almost all the employees are allowed one or two meals, I make no separate order regarding dearness allowance, for reasons already discussed.

Issue No. 11.—Retrospective effect of the award.

There cannot be any retrospective effect of the award. The prayer for retrospective award be rejected.

P. R. MUKHERJEE,
Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

16th October 1950.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 6692Lab.—22nd November 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4078Lab, dated the 26th day 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Forward Chemical Works, Ltd., of 1, Raja Gurudas Street, Calcutta, and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Naresh Chandra Acharjee of 61, Chingrihatta Road, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of Reference No. 4078Lab., dated the 26th July 1950, Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Forward Chemical Works, of 1, Raja Curudas Street, Calcutta, and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Naresh Chandra Acharjee of 61, Chingrihatta Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Chairman of the Tribunal.

For the Company: Sri N. K. Majumdar and Sri K. Ganguli, Plea instructed by Sri Kali Kumar Das, one of the Directors.

For the Employee: Party himself.

AWARD.

The case set up by the employee Naresh Chandra Acharjee is that he had served as a salesman in the above Company at the rate of Rs. 40 per month with effect from 1st January 1950 to 20th February 1950 but received no pay for that period.

The salary for the month of January was not paid in spite of the fact that a resignation letter was submitted by the employee. But the salary was not at all paid, nor was the cash security of Rs. 25, which the applicant had deposited, refunded.

The Management appears and files a long written statement stating alia that this is no industrial dispute and that the Tribunal is not the proper forum.

It is also stated that the salary of Rs. 40 per month was conditional on his securing orders of at least to the extent of Rs. 500 a month and, as the employee did not secure any order, he was not paid any pay.

The points for adjudication are:—

- (1) Is the dispute an industrial dispute and is the Tribunal the proper forum for adjudicating the claim?
- (2) Is the applicant entitled to the salary and the cash security prayed?

Point No. 1.

The Management urged that the dispute occurred after the discharge of the workman and that, as such, it is not any industrial dispute. On this point the most pertinent observation has been made by Mr. Justice J. Chakravarti of the Hon'ble Calcutta High Court in his judgment on an application regarding the India Paper Pulp Co., Ltd. versus The India Paper Pulp Workers' Union. Justice Chakravarti observed: "The English definition of 'workman' requires that he must be a 'person who has entered into or works under a contract with an employer'. If in spite of this definition a dispute with a dismissed workman about the dismissal can be treated as a trade dispute, I am of opinion that there is no difficulty in holding, under the wider definition in India, that even where a dismissal has occurred without any previous dispute, there can be an industrial dispute about such a dismissal." In view of the observations of Mr. Justice Chakravarti and the Hon'ble Federal Court, it is decided that even where a dismissal has occurred without a previous dispute there can be an industrial dispute about such a dismissal, and that the plea of the Company taken on the basis of section 2(s) of the Act is of no substance.

The next point, as it was urged, was that a dispute between the employee and one of the workmen is no industrial dispute within the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act. In this connection the judgment of the Hon'ble Chief Justice of the Madras High Court regarding a civil miscellaneous petition between Kandas Textiles, Ltd. versus The Industrial Tribunal, Madras others, may be mentioned. The learned Chief Justice made the following observations: "I must confess that the language of the definition of 'industrial dispute' is so wide that giving the words their ordinary meaning even a dispute between an employer and one of the workmen or between a workman and another workman which is connected with one or other of the matters mentioned therein would fall within the definition." Lastly it was urged that the case was not represented by any Union. In my opinion, it does not matter, for if the dispute is otherwise an industrial dispute, the mere fact that the case was not taken up by any Union will be an irregularity and not a serious illegality. The matter was agitated before the Labour Commissioner and, later on, to the West Bengal Government who were fully satisfied that the dispute was an industrial dispute. The Government is also fully satisfied that this dispute, even if not represented by any Union, is likely to cause dissatisfaction amongst other employees. So the contention has no substance.

The next point urged was that the Tribunal is not competent to grant arrears of wages for which there is a separate Court.

In my opinion, the jurisdiction of the Tribunal, as has been held by the Hon'ble Federal Court, is broad enough to include all sorts of industrial disputes under the act. The dissatisfied employee may get relief here for arrears of wages claimed.

Point No. 2.

Regarding the claim that the employee had not got the salary for one month and twenty days, the Management submits that according to the terms of the contract, the payment of Rs. 40 per month was conditional on securing orders to the extent of Rs. 500. I have read the letter of appointment and, on reading this, I am convinced that the standing salary of Rs. 40 mentioned by the employee was independent of his securing any order.

Moreover the applicant states that he had secured orders to the extent of Rs. 80. There was no denial to this statement on oath by the Management. In my opinion, therefore, he is entitled to salary at the rate of Rs. 40 per month for one month and twenty days.

The employee further claims that he deposited Rs. 25 which had not been paid to him. The Management sets up a case that Rs. 19 had been paid out of this amount. But it is clear that this sum was paid to the brother of the applicant and no jama-kharach or relevant books have been produced.

The deposition of Kali Kumar Das, one of the Supervisors of the Forward Chemical Works, Ltd., gives a different story that out of this sum, Rs. 7 had been paid. Even if the amount of Rs. 19 was paid to the brother of the employee, that is a separate matter and there is nothing to show that the employee authorised the Management to pay this out of his deposit. The employee gave a stout denial that this payment to his brother had anything to do with his security money. So, in my opinion, this sum of Rs. 25 should, in all fairness, be paid back to the employee.

ORDERED

That the Management do pay salary to the employee at the rate of Rs. 40 per month for one month and twenty days, and Rs. 25 on account of security money.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, No. 2933Lab., dated the 3rd June 1950, this industrial dispute between Calcutta Jute Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 93, Narkeldanga Main Road, Calcutta, and their employees represented by the Narkeldanga Jute Mill Workers' Union, 62, Narkeldanga Main Road, Calcutta, regarding issues of (1) privilege leave for the clerical staff, (2) bonus and (3) dearness allowance paid to the weekly paid clerks, has been referred to an industrial tribunal for adjudication. The two parties have submitted their written statements in connection with the three issues specified in the schedule set forth in the order of reference. The issues are as follows:—

- (1) Privilege leave for the clerical staff,
- (2) Bonus.
- (3) Is the dearness allowance paid to the weekly paid clerks justified in view of the Award of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal? If not, how much should they get consistently with the Award?

The Award referred to here is the Award, dated the 31st August 1950, in the matter of an industrial dispute in the Jute Textile Industry in West Bengal between the employers of 89 specified jute mills and their workmen given by a Tribunal consisting of myself as Chairman ri M. C. Banerji and Sri N. C. Chakrabarty as members, as published in the Calcutta Gazette by Government of West Bengal, Commerce, Labour and Industries Department, order No. 3443Lab., dated the 20th September 1948. I shall proceed to take up the issues one by one.

Issue No. 1.

2. Issue No. 1, relates to the question of privilege leave for the clerical staff. The Union has made a reference to the concluding sentence of paragraph 14(10) on page 65 of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award which runs as follows: "We therefore direct that if any employee or employees in a particular jute mill are enjoying privileges of leave or holidays of any character which are better than those which we have provided for, the existing privileges must continue". It is contended by the Union that Calcutta Jute Manufacturing Co., Ltd., being one of the jute mills involved in the provisions of that Award, was bound to implement all the provisions of that Award, and it has failed to give effect to the portion of the Award referred to above, in so far as the clerical staff used to enjoy better privileges regarding privilege leave before the Award, and to the previously existing privileges regarding leave have not been maintained since after the publication of the Award. It must be stated here that the period of operation of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award expired long ago, but the jute mills concerned are understood to have continued compliance with the provisions of that Award. The question is whether the jute mill in question failed to give effect to the provision of the Award regarding the continuity of better privileges of leave. The Company has stated in this connection that prior to the Award it had no specific leave rules and the employees could not, as of right, demand any privilege leave, and the granting of such leave was entirely at the discretion of the management, and under those circumstances there was no previously existing right to privilege leave, such as was capable of being curtailed in consequence of the general provisions of the Award regarding sick leave and other leave relating to the five years ending 1948, in which the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award was published, and I have got the impression that prior to the Award there was no uniformity regarding the grant of leave and there was practically no system of leave rules. We are concerned here with the question of privilege leave for the clerical staff. The head of "other leave" as shown by the Company obviously included privilege leave, casual leave, and other varieties of leave which could not be described as sick leave. On calculating an average of "other leave" actually granted to the members of the clerical staff during the five years ending 1948, I do not see that that average was necessarily higher than the standard of privilege leave which has been laid down in the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award, as the item of "other leave" have included substantial amounts of casual leave. It appears to me that prior to the Award the needs of individual cases and the discretion of the authorities of the Company played considerable parts in the determination of amounts of privilege leave to be granted to individual employees, and there was really no definite standard of privilege leave laid down by any rules. Under these circumstances, it is not possible to say that the provision of the Award in the concluding portion of paragraph 14(7) was necessarily violated. If there is any grievance regarding the standard of privilege leave for the clerical staff in accordance with the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award, that matter can only be agitated before the new Jute Textile Industry Tribunal.

appointed by the Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated the 25th September, 1950, which, it appears, has been called upon to deal with the issue of leave and holidays matters stand, I do not give any direction regarding the question of privilege leave for the clerical staff in the present proceedings.

Issue No. 2.

3. I pass on now to the subject of bonus under Issue No. 2. The Union has prayed for bonus for all workmen without any discrimination to the extent of one month's basic wages for the year 1949. It is contended that the bonus should have been paid in September-October 1949 in accordance with the alleged time-honoured practice. It is contended by the Union that the payment of bonus is a condition of service in the Company, and rate of annual bonus was a fairly fixed amount not related to the profit and loss accounts of the Company. On the other hand, the Company has replied to the effect that the bonus has never been a condition of service, and in the past when profits were derived the Company paid bonus at variable rates in different years at its discretion, and no bonus was paid for 1949 as the Company suffered heavy loss during the period. The Company has submitted a statement showing the profits of the Company and the amount of bonus paid during the few years since 1935. It appears that the Company derived profits either substantial or meagre, throughout the years prior to 1949, while no bonus was paid in 1938 and in 1940, bonus to the extent of wages for half month to three months was paid for the other years, and bonus to the extent of one month's wages was paid for 1946, 1947 and 1948. It appears to me that while there was no precise linking of amount of bonus paid with the profits derived, there was no occasion on which bonus was paid without any profits having been derived. It is, therefore, not correct to say that bonus was a condition of service or that there was any time-honoured practice of paying bonus irrespective of profit and loss. I find that the payment of bonus depended in the past essentially on the fact of profits having been derived in the preceding period. It further appears that in previous years the payment of bonus was restricted to the clerical staff of all categories and to other monthly-rated staff, and no bonus was ever paid to the employees other than these categories. It appears from an examination of the statement of profits of the Company and bonus paid in past years, the correctness of which has not been contradicted by the Union with reference to the balance sheets produced by the Company for inspection, that during the period of six months ending with 31st December 1948 there was a profit of Rs. 1,82,000, but during the six months ending with 30th June 1949, there was a loss of Rs. 4,67,000, the net loss suffered during the twelve months ending with 30th June 1949, thus being Rs. 2,85,000. There was thus a heavy loss, if the operative bonus-earning period is taken to be the twelve months ending with 30th June 1949. It has been contended on behalf of the Union that the operative bonus-earning period should be taken to be the twelve months ending with 31st December 1948, and if that is done a very substantial profit will have to be shown, and bonus for the year 1949 would in that case be payable. It appears further that the Company has practically always taken the twelve months ending with 30th June to be the operative bonus-earning period, and bonus has usually been paid in September-October. I do not see any particular reason for deviating from the procedure in the matter of considering bonus for the year 1949 and in the particular circumstances it will be reasonable to adopt the period of twelve months ending with 30th June 1949, as the operative bonus-earning period for the purpose of considering the question of bonus.

1949. If that is done, it must be clear that no profits were derived, but very substantial losses were suffered during the relevant period. That being so, I am unable to direct that any bonus is to be paid for the year 1949 as demanded by the Union.

Issue No. 3.

4. I next take up Issue No. 3, the questions being whether the dearness allowance paid to the weekly paid clerks who have since been converted into monthly paid clerks after the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award is justified in view of that Award, and, if not, how much should be allowed to the weekly paid clerks by way of dearness allowance consistently with that Award. In this connection the Union has referred to the direction of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal as per clause (7), in paragraph 7(I), on page 33 of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award. Clause (7) runs as follows: "In a particular case where the amount of dearness allowance prevailing at present in the firm of amenity allowance or any other benefit, exceeds the scale of Rs. 32-8 per month for dearness allowance which we have now fixed, the existing scale shall be maintained." The contention raised by the Union is that the Company has failed to maintain the then existing scale of dearness allowance since after the Award and has thus failed to give effect to the provision of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award as per clause (7) referred to above. The first question therefore is what was the then existing scale of dearness allowance prior to the Award. This matter relates exclusively to the daily-rated and weekly paid members of the clerical staff who have since been converted into monthly paid clerical staff in consequence of the Award. The Company has submitted, as per Annexure B, a statement of the state of things before the Award and after the Award in respect of the weekly paid clerical staff. It appears that prior to the Award, these clerks used to be paid a total emolument of Rs. 11-7-3 per week consisting of Rs. 6-15-3 as basic wages and Rs. 4-8 as amenity or war allowance, that is to say, an amount of Rs. 49-10 per month, and they were also given free food in the Company's mess, the value of such free food being approximately Rs. 40 per month for Bengalee employees and Rs. 50 per month for Marwari employees in accordance with the items of food supplied. In the process of giving effect to the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award in 1948, the Company consolidated the amenity or war allowance with the basic wages and raised the scale of basic wages in accordance with the Award and adopted the value of free food at the rates of Rs. 40 and Rs. 50 per month as the dearness allowance, proceeding on the basis that the value of free food was in the nature of dearness allowance and therefore in compliance with clause (7) of paragraph 7(I) of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award, the then existing scale of dearness allowance in the shape of the value of free food supplied was to be maintained. With reference to paragraph 1(I) and clause (7) of paragraph 7(I) of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award, it has been contended by the Union that the amenity allowance of Rs. 4-8 per week was dearness allowance, as held by that Tribunal, and the Company was not justified in consolidating the amenity allowance with basic wages, and in giving effect to the provisions of the Award, the Company should have taken both the value of free food and the amenity allowance as items constituting the then existing scale of dearness allowance. The arguments advanced on behalf of the Union ultimately boiled down to the proposition that the dearness allowance allowed by way of implementation of the Award should have been further increased by an amount of Rs. 19-8, which was being paid per month by way of amenity allowance. The Company, on the other hand, has pointed out that the amenity allowance was being considered as part of the basic wages with reference to the payment of bonus since 1939 and under the particular circumstances, it was justified in treating amenity allowance as fit for being consolidated with basic wages, leaving the value of free food and other allowances like A.R.P. allowance to be treated as dearness allowance after the Award. Even if we assume in consonance with the view expressed by the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal in its Award, that the amenity allowance was in the nature of dearness allowance, and such amenity allowance should have been treated as part of the dearness allowance and not of the basic wages at the time of implementation of the Award, the question would still arise whether the value of free food in its entirety can be properly treated as dearness allowance. In course of the argument advanced on behalf of the Union the learned Advocate opined that the value of free food was neither basic wages nor dearness allowance. In paragraph 23 of the Union's written statement submitted before the Tribunal, it has been stated that the food benefit was introduced long before the price index numbers started to rise and it was for all practical purposes, a part of the basic wages paid in kind. On giving careful thought to this aspect of the matter I am of opinion that the value of free food was a part of basic wages before 1939, and it was composed of parts of both basic wages and dearness allowance since 1939 throughout the period when the cost of living went on rising. The Company has indeed treated the value of free food wholly as dearness allowance. But this action must be considered in co-ordination with the circumstance that the Company has treated the amenity allowance as a part of the basic wages. Both the actions may not have been strictly correct. The present Tribunal is, however, called upon to find out whether the provision in the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award regarding the maintenance of the then existing scale of dearness allowance has been substantially carried out. For this purpose, it will have to be determined how much of the value of free food was basic wages and how much was dearness allowance just before the Award. No solution regarding this matter has been offered by the Union for the Tribunal's consideration. It seems to me that it is impracticable at the present stage to divide the value of free food into two separate parts with any degree of precision. That being the position the question may legitimately arise as to whether the error in treating the amenity allowance of Rs. 19-8 as basic wages was not substantially neutralised by the error in treating the basic wages portion of the value of free food as dearness allowance. It seems to me that this question is incapable of being answered under the present circumstances. It is, therefore, not possible to hold that clause (7) of paragraph 7(I) of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award was necessarily violated by the manner in which the Company gave effect to the provisions of the Award. In regard to the questions raised under Issue No. 3, my answer as regards the first question is that the dearness allowance paid to the weekly paid employees was not necessarily unjustified in view of the Award of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal, and therefore the second question does not arise.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Nadia.—No. P.H. 2830/2R-10/50.—22nd November 1950.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 311 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932), the Governor is pleased to make the following rules for the regulation of the supply of filtered water to private premises for domestic purposes in the municipality of Nabadwip, in the district of Nadia:—

Rules.

So long as the Commissioners of the Nabadwip Municipality hereinafter referred to as "the Commissioners" deem it practicable and consistent with the maintenance of an efficient water-supply, they may allow any owner or occupier of a holding paying a water-rate imposed under the provisions of Chapter V of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, on the annual value of such holding, when such annual value is not less than Rs. 100, to lay down communication pipes from the service-pipes of the Commissioners for the purpose of leading water to such holding for domestic purposes only, subject to the following rules and conditions:

Provided that no connection shall be allowed to holdings other than masonry buildings without the sanction of the Commissioners at a meeting:—

1. The owner or occupier of any holding whose annual value is not less than Rs. 100 requiring water to be laid on to such holding for domestic purposes, or requiring any addition or alteration to an existing water-supply, shall apply for the same on a printed form to be supplied, free of cost, at the municipal office.

2. A fee of Rs. 350 or such sum as may be determined hereafter shall be paid to the Commissioners by such owner or occupier for each connection to a municipal main supply-pipe or a common communication-pipe laid in accordance with rule 3 before any work is commenced, such fee to be in addition to all other costs and charges imposed under these rules.

3. Except as provided below each holding shall have a separate connection to the municipal main supply-pipe and extensions from the communication-pipe of one holding to another holding shall not be permitted.

Provided that with the consent of the Commissioners at a meeting connections to two or more holdings may be permitted from a common communication-pipe. Any such communication-pipe shall be laid in a street or common passage, and a stop-cock and meter as provided for in rule 7 shall be fixed on the connection to each holding:

Provided also that no holding shall have more than one separate connection, but if in any case the Commissioners at a meeting are satisfied that an adequate supply to any holding cannot be given through a single connection, they may sanction a second connection hereto.

4. The owner or occupier of the holding, in respect of which the connection is required, shall pay the entire cost of the connection, including the supply and fixing of the fittings referred to in rule 7 and shall also pay the cost of such alterations in, or repairs to, roads, drains, sewers, gas or water-mains or pipes, and the cost of such other works as may be necessitated by, or result from, the work of making such connection.

5. The owner or occupier of the holding to which a connection has been given shall, at any time, on receipt of notice to do so from the Commissioners, pay the entire cost of any repairs or alterations to the connection or any part thereof which the Commissioners may consider necessary to put into a satisfactory condition or which may be necessitated by any change in the municipal water-works or system of distribution or by the defective condition of the connection or any part thereof or by any other cause whatever.

6. (1) The works required under rules 4 and 5 may, at the option of the Commissioners, either be carried out by the Commissioners themselves at the expense of the owner or occupier of the holding in respect of which the works are required, or may be carried out by a person or firm employed by such owner or occupier and approved by the Commissioners.

(2) No work shall be carried out under sub-rule (1), except under the supervision of a municipal officer.

7. A holding connection shall comprise the following parts or fittings:—

- (a) a brass or gun-metal ferrule inserted in the main supply-pipe;
- (b) a galvanized iron communication-pipe from the ferrule to the meter;
- (c) a stop-cock and its surface-box;
- (d) a meter;
- (e) service-pipes from the stop-cock to the taps; and
- (f) taps.

8. (1) All the fittings referred to in rule 7 shall be exact duplicates of standard samples kept in the office of the Commissioners, and approved by them at a meeting.

(2) All fittings shall be inspected and tested and stamped by an officer of the municipality before being fixed.

(3) If any owner or occupier shall desire to adopt any fitting of a pattern different from the standard pattern, he shall present such fitting for the approval of the Chairman of the Commissioners and any fittings so presented may, if considered satisfactory by the Chairman, be stamped, and samples thereof may be purchased and placed among the standard fittings.

9. The holding connection, when fitted in position, shall be capable of standing a pressure of 40 feet, and no water shall be supplied until it has stood such a test applied by the Commissioners.

10. The size of the ferrule and the diameter of the communication-pipe referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of rule 7, and the number of taps shall be fixed in accordance with the annual valuation of the holding as follows:—

Annual valuation of holding.		Size of ferrule.	Diameter of communication- pipe.	Number of taps.
Rs.	Rs.
From 100 to 199	1/2	1/2	2
" 200 to 399	1/2	1/2	3
" 400 to 599	3/4	3/4	4
" 600 to 899	3/4	3/4	6
" 900 to 1,199	1	1	6
" 1,200 to 1,499	1	1	6
" 1,500 to 1,999	1	1	7

Rs. 2,000 and above, special sanction of the Commissioners will be necessary in each case.

11. (1) On every communication-pipe a brass or gun-metal stop-cock having the same water-way as such pipe shall be placed as near as practicable to the point where that pipe enters the holding to be supplied.

(2) The stop-cock shall be built in a brick chamber provided with a cast-iron surface cover-box so designed that it can be locked and the key of this box shall remain under the control of the Chairman.

(3) The stop-cock shall be capable of adjustment so that the supply to the holding may be regulated thereby.

12. (1) The meter shall be placed as near to the stop-cock as possible and in a position where it can be conveniently examined.

(2) The meter shall be fixed in a brick chamber covered over with a cast iron surface-box of approved pattern.

13. The Commissioners shall depute an authorized person to read every meter not less than once in a quarter, and shall give notice to the occupier at least twenty-four hours before the reading is recorded.

14. (1) Every owner or occupier of any holding, in respect of which a connection has been made, under these rules, shall be entitled to the supply of—

- (a) two thousand two hundred and fifty gallons of water per quarter per rupee of water-tax paid during the quarter;
- (b) a further proportionate number of gallons per quarter for every additional fraction of a rupee, paid by him quarterly as water-rate in respect of such holding.

(2) For all water supplied in excess of the quantity allowed under sub-rule (1) such owner or occupier shall be charged quarterly as follows:—

	Per 1,000 gallons.
	Rs. s. p.
(a) For any excess quantity of water not exceeding one-half of the amount of the allowance prescribed in sub-rule (1)	0 8 0
(b) For any excess quantity of water exceeding one-half of the amount of the allowance prescribed in sub-rule (1) but not exceeding that amount	0 10 0
(c) For any excess quantity of water exceeding the amount of the allowance prescribed in sub-rule (1) but not exceeding twice that amount	0 14 0
(d) For any excess quantity of water exceeding twice the amount of the allowance prescribed in sub-rule (1)	1 4 0

15. The Commissioners may cut off the connection between any of their water-works and any holding to which water is supplied from such works, or may turn off such supply, in any of the following cases, namely:—

- (a) if the holding is unoccupied;
- (b) if the owner or occupier refuses to admit any officer duly empowered in that behalf into the holding for the purpose of making any examination or inspection authorized under this Act, or under any by-law or rule framed under this Act, or prevents such examination or inspection;

- (c) if the owner or occupier of the holding touches or interferes with his meter in any way except with the permission of the Chairman, or wilfully injures or damages it;
- (d) if the owner or occupier of the holding wilfully or negligently permits waste of water in such volume as will, in the opinion of the Chairman, endanger the water-supply in the neighbourhood;
- (e) if the owner or occupier of the holding refuses or neglects to pay any of the fees or charges imposed in accordance with these rules for a period of fourteen days after he has been served with a notice of demand for the same;
- (f) if the owner or occupier of the holding constructs or fixes any cisterns, tanks, reservoirs, taps, pipes or any other works in connection with the water-supply not authorized by these rules;
- (g) if the pipes, taps, ball-cocks, cisterns, or any other parts of the connection are, in the opinion of the Commissioners at a meeting, in a leaking condition or a state of disrepair:

Provided that such disconnection or turning off of water-supply shall not relieve any person from any liabilities which he may have incurred under these rules.

In the circumstances contemplated in clause (d) an officer authorised by the Commissioners in this behalf by a general order shall have the power to turn off the supply for a period not exceeding eight hours on his previously recording his reason in writing.

16. Every tap shall be of the same size as the pipe to which it is attached and shall be of brass and of the pattern known as "Screw-down." Every tap shall be at least 3 feet above the surface of the ground beneath.

17. No cistern, tank or reservoir of any description which is intended to be supplied with water from the municipal water-works shall be permitted in any holding except with the sanction of the Commissioners at a meeting, and such sanction shall distinctly specify the dimensions and capacity of the cistern, tank or reservoir which shall be controlled by an efficient ball-cock so far the discharge thereinto may be completely stopped when the cistern, tank or reservoir is full. Any taps fed from such cistern, tank or reservoir shall be included in the number of taps allowed under rule 10.

18. No connection shall be permitted in any holding unless and until the owner or occupier makes effective provision to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for draining all waste water away.

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDER.

No. 6924Lab.—1st December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4091Lab., dated the 26th July 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. India Cycle Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Head Office at 4, Clive Ghât Street, Calcutta, Factory at 9, Tiljala Road, Calcutta, and their workers as represented by India Cycle Mazdoor Union, 100, Dilkhusa Street, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal constituted by Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, Sri Gopal Chandra Das, Welder and Sri Benode Behari Dey, Blacksmith, and other workers made complaints in writing before the said Tribunal that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workers, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto:—

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950 (Act XLVIII of 1950), made by the workmen of Messrs. India Cycle Manufacturing Co., Ltd., against Messrs. India Cycle Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Union: Jonab M. Safaat Ullah Khan.

For the Company: Sri I. C. Gupta, Director of the Company.

AWARD.

There have been three separate complaints under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950. These are numbered here as 28(14), 24(10) and 23(9) of 1950. The original case, out of which these complaint cases have arisen, was No. VIII-97/50, sent to this Tribunal by Government order No. 4091Lab., dated 26th July 1950. The original dispute was between Messrs. India Cycle Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Head Office at 4, Clive Ghat Street, Calcutta, Factory at 9, Tiljala Road, Calcutta, and their workers as represented by India Cycle Mazdoor Union at 100, Dilkhusa Street, Calcutta. These three cases are taken up for adjudication analogously. The award given will govern all of them.

In the aforesaid case No. 24(10) under section 33A Jonab M. Safaat Ullah Khan, during the hearing, has stated in writing that he has no instructions from the petitioner who, he is informed, has resigned his job. The petitioner in this case was one Gopal Chandra Das, Welder. This is in accord with the Company's statement, dated the 4th November 1950, that Gopal Chandra Das, Welder, has resigned of his own accord on 11th October 1950. He has also received full payment of his wages. So it is clear that at the time of the hearing there is no dispute existing between the parties. Hence the Tribunal passes an award of "no dispute". No direction is called for accordingly.

Regarding the case No. 23(9) under section 33A, the petitioner is one Benode Behari Dey, Blacksmith. His contention in the petition of complaint was that he had been drawing Rs. 65 per month and that his pay was reduced to Rs. 55 per month during the pendency of the original case. But during the hearing he has filed a signed petition saying that at no time was he dismissed by the Company and that he has been regularly working under the Company since the 6th October 1950. He further adds that he has no grievance against the Company. Jonab M. Safaat Ullah Khan, who represented him during the hearing, did not question the genuineness of the said application, but he contends that the original complaint of the petitioner must still stand. I find no substance in this contention. Evidently the Tribunal can grant no relief to this petitioner, even if it would, for the petitioner does not want any relief. So the only award that the Tribunal can pass in the circumstances is one of "no dispute" as in the previous case.

Regarding the case No. 28(14) under section 33A, the contention was that the Pujah bonus has been withheld. That is said to have amounted to an alteration of the condition of service. It is contended that section 33A has thus been attracted. The Company contends, on the other hand, that Pujah bonus has been withheld because there had been a strike by the workers on the 12th June 1949 followed by a lock-out on the 17th June 1949. The bonus here was for the period from 1st July 1948 to 30th June 1949. I do not, however, accept that bonus is merely an ex gratia payment which the Company can withhold at pleasure. Even if it be assumed that the Company can withhold bonus from delinquent workers going on strike, still such disciplinary action is not open to the Company to take when the Tribunal is in progress. But bonus may be paid any time during the year. So, if it is not paid during the Pujah, that cannot amount to a prejudicial alteration of the service condition. So the complaint, even if it is tenable, is rather premature. Besides, the payment of bonus by itself is not a service condition, strictly speaking. It is made payable by the Tribunal more by way of convention than by way of any pursuance of any term of service, on the basis of comparable profits in the years preceding. So I find that there is no case made out under section 33A in the present circumstances. So I reject the contention of the Mazdoor Union in this respect. The award is passed accordingly.

Before parting with this record I think it worthwhile to refer to my order on 6th November 1950 in connection with the representation of parties regarding Sri D. N. Basu, Advocate, representing the Company. The Union withheld its assent to the representation of the Company by the said Advocate and invoked a ruling from the Tribunal under section 36(4) of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950. The Tribunal overruled the contentions put forward by the learned Advocate, viz., (1) that he, being permitted to represent the Company in the parent case, cannot be prevented from so representing the Company in those cases which have arisen out of it, and (2) that he holds an authority from the Company to represent it not as a lawyer but as a General Adviser. According to the Tribunal, he could not be permitted to shed his capacity of a lawyer as it suited him on occasions. That would be in a way defeating the objective contained in section 36(4) of the aforesaid Act. Besides section 33A makes it clear that a proceeding under it is an independent proceeding. It was after the retirement of the Advocate that the Director of the Company, Sri I. O. Gupta, represented the Company in these cases.

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDER.

No. 6979Lab.—4th December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5142Lab., dated the 8th December 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Sen Roy & Co., Ltd., College Square, Calcutta, and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Bibhuti Bhusan Das Gupta of 44/5/1, Gorchha Road, Ballygunge, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge.

and whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

Matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Sen Roy & Co., Ltd., College Square, Calcutta, and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Bibhuti Bhusan Das Gupta of 44/5/1, Gorchha Road, Ballygunge, Calcutta.

PRESENT :

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal

Company: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, and Sri N. K. Mukherjee, Advocate.

Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal order No. 5142Lab., dated the 8th December 1950, the above industrial dispute was referred to me for adjudication.

The case of the Union is that Sri Bibhuti Bhusan Das Gupta was an old member of the Company with over 22 years of service and had become disabled due to an attack of paralysis. He had prayed for leave with full pay and gratuity at the rate of one month's pay for each year of the dispute was continuing and had been referred to the Labour Commission and later on referred to this Tribunal. Unfortunately the employee died during the pendency of the case before the Tribunal. There was a provision for substituting his heirs on record.

The Company was prepared to grant only Rs. 333 as ex gratia pay. There are several other points raised for adjudication both by the Union and the Company. But all these points became technical and academic in view of the new situation on the last date of hearing when the heirs of the deceased employee filed a petition before the Tribunal praying that they should not like to proceed with the case. The relevant extract of the letter is as follows:—

“Widow and relations of the deceased workman, Sri Bibhuti Bhushan Gupta, of Sen Roy & Co., have expressed their desire not to enter into a discussion of the propriety of the claim of the deceased before any court of law inasmuch as they feel very seriously that the same amounts to dishonouring the departed soul.”

It is unfortunate that the matter thus ended. The situation became complicated due to the unfortunate death of the old employee. The sum offered by the employer had been refused by the employee in his life and as such, this sum was not accepted by the widow and heirs presur on sentimental grounds. Whatever that may be, I would have been glad if the deceased's heirs could have been awarded a decent sum.

As the Union does not want to proceed with the case, there is no alternative than to hold that there is no dispute. The employers intimate to me that they are and would be always ready to pay the sum which had offered, and the heirs are always at liberty to take this sum from the award or no award. In view of the above circumstances, I hold that there is no dispute and as such, nothing to adjudicate. Ordered that the case be disposed of.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5094-Lab., dated the 12th October 1949, as amended by order No. 6063Lab., dated the 28th November 1949, this industrial dispute between the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., 4, Lyons Range, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Chloride Electrical Storage Company Workers' Union, Shammagar, 24-Parganas, regarding the questions of reinstatement and compensation in respect of four persons named Abdul Hai Mia, Dhani Sarma, Sewlall and Jagdish Dass has been referred to me as an industrial Tribunal for adjudication. By Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5111Lab., dated the 1st February 1950, as amended by order No. 9901Lab., dated the 28th February 1950, and order No. 3684Lab., dated the 7th July 1950, another industrial dispute between the same parties in connection with the discharge of one Jogendra Samal has also been referred to me as an industrial Tribunal for adjudication. The nature of the issues in these two cases being practically the same and the charges in the two cases having taken place in course of the same set of circumstances, these two cases have been heard together for the sake of convenience. The two parties, namely, the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., and the Chloride Electrical Storage Workers' Union representing the workmen have filed written statements before this Tribunal in both the cases. It transpired at a later stage that the manufacturing unit of Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., was transferred to another Company, namely, the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., and from the 1st January 1950. After a certain amount of enquiry the Tribunal decided to summon the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., as a party to the dispute under section 18(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The latter Company appeared in due course and in view of the new situation created by the introduction of that Company as a party, the Union was permitted to submit additional written statements. Both the Companies filed in due course their replies to the written statements filed by the Union. The issues framed in the present case, that is to say the earlier case which may be styled as the first case, are as follows:—

(1) Is the 'Chloride Electrical Storage Company Workers' Union, Shannagar, 24-Parganas, entitled to represent the workmen?

(2) Should the following persons be reinstated?

- (i) Abdul Hai Mia,
- (ii) Dhani Sarma,
- (iii) Jagdish Dass,
- (iv) Sewlall.

(3) Should any of the said persons be awarded any compensation? If, on what basis?

It may be noted here that the case of another person named Master Pand was also included in the order of reference in the first case, but it was subsequently dropped with the consent of both parties on the basis of representation made by that person to the effect that he was not interested in the dispute. It was settled that the issues in the second case would be on the same lines as in the first case except that the person concerned would be Jogendra Samal.

2. It is necessary at this stage to take note of the circumstances leading to the lock-out and discharge of all employees, excepting the managerial staff, with effect from the 23rd May 1949, with particular reference to the incidents which took place in the factory on Friday, the 20th May 1949, in presence of the Assistant Labour Commissioner and a Labour Officer and the Government of West Bengal. The Company has generally referred to the atmosphere of serious indiscipline created by certain employees particularly mentioning certain incidents of violence committed in the factory in February 1949. We are, however, principally concerned with the incident which took place on the 20th May 1949. Broadly speaking the version of these incidents as given on the Company's side is as follows. Sometime before 4 p.m. Sri S. B. Sarkar, Assistant Labour Commissioner and S. H. K. Biswas, Labour Officer, under the Government of West Bengal, arrived at the factory of Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India) Ltd., at Shannagar more or less unexpectedly, and while they were discussing certain pending labour disputes with the members of the management staff and with the Union Secretary Sri B. N. Neogi, a large number of workmen assembled in front of the Manager's Office where the Assistant Labour Commissioner was. The Assistant Labour Commissioner and the Labour Officer and some of the factory officials were surrounded by the workmen at the entrance of the factory office and kept confined there for a considerable period. The Assistant Labour Commissioner in due course addressed the gathering but some of the workmen and Union officials delivered insolent and violent speeches and passed objectionable remarks in disparagement of the Assistant Labour Commissioner in particular and of the Government in general. Some of these excited speakers stated that unless the Assistant Labour Commissioner gave a written undertaking to the effect that the grievances of the employees would be settled within a specified period, they would have the authority to take any action as they thought fit. The crowd assumed a threatening attitude and the Assistant Labour Commissioner and the Labour Officer considered it wise to remain inside the Manager's Office without making any attempt to get away through the crowd of workmen. Information was however given by telephone to the Subdivisional Office of Barrackpore and the local police happened to be informed, and eventual

The officer of the police-station arrived with a police force and then the crowd gradually dispersed. The authorities of the Company consulted their advisers as to the steps to be taken in the face of the situation created and they decided to declare a lock-out with effect from Monday, the 23rd May 1949, and to discharge all employees except the managerial staff with effect from the same date. The five persons involved in the present two cases were so discharged with effect from the 23rd May 1949 in course of the mass dismissal. The Company's case is that these five persons participated in acts of violence, obstruction and indiscipline particularly in connection with the incidents which happened after the Assistant Labour Commissioner's visit to the factory on the 20th May 1949. As regards the incidents of the 20th May 1949 the version of the Union is very different and is on the following lines. Sri S. B. Sarkar, Assistant Labour Commissioner, called at the factory and had a lengthy discussion with the Union Secretary regarding the demands of the workmen in the Manager's Office. When Sri Sarkar was still carrying on the discussion the factory closed for the day and the workmen having come to learn that the Assistant Labour Commissioner had come to settle their disputes sat down near the Manager's Office peacefully to hear about the settlement. In due course the Assistant Labour Commissioner addressed the gathering of the workmen and had a discussion with them on various points. Later on a police party arrived on the basis of a false alarm given by somebody to the effect that the Assistant Labour Commissioner was in a state of danger. The police party became satisfied that there was no danger and left the place. The work was done as usual on the 21st May and even on Sunday, the 22nd May, and the workmen were surprised to find that a lock-out had been declared with effect from the 23rd May, and the services of all the employees had been dispensed with. The Union's case is that there was no justification for the declaration of the lock-out or for the mass dismissal of all the employees, and the lock-out was improper, if not illegal, and at any rate the prolongation of the lock-out up to 9th October 1949 was completely unjustified. The Union's case further is that the Company discharged the five persons concerned in the two cases without any ostensible reasons, and they were victimised for their trade union activities, and the discharge amounted to an unfair labour practice. The Union has prayed for orders of reinstatement and compensation in respect of the five persons. The Company has generally contested the prayer on the footing that each of these five persons was justifiably discharged. The Company has further pointed out that the manufacturing section which was run by the Company in May 1949 is no longer under its control, in so far as it is said to have been purchased by another Company, namely, the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd. On this basis it is contended by the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., that there cannot be any order of reinstatement of any discharged workman, as it would be impracticable for the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., to reinstate any one in the manufacturing section which is now owned and controlled by another Company. The Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., has generally contended that it was summoned without proper cause as it cannot be said to have ever been a party to the dispute. It has been further contended by the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., that whatever may be the outcome of the adjudication in respect of the industrial dispute as between Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., and their workmen, no obligations arising out of any order of reinstatement or compensation would be cast on the purchaser Company. It is agreed by all parties concerned that some sort of a transfer in respect of the manufacturing section from the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., to the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., took place with effect from the 1st January 1950. The Union has contended that this transfer was a mere eye-wash. It appears that the old employees of Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., were invited to make fresh applications for appointment under the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., and on the making of such applications old employees were taken over by the purchaser Company, continuity of service being maintained and certain other amenities of employment being also kept intact. I shall first proceed to decide the issues as between the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd. and the Union representing the workmen, and subsequently determine the question of liability of the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., if any.

3. As regards issue No. 1, the question is whether the Chloride Electrical Storage Company Workers' Union is entitled to represent the workmen. It is true that the registration of this Union was cancelled in the latter part of March 1949. But the Union was registered again in June 1949, that is to say, long before the dates of reference in these two cases. I do not see any difficulty in the matter of this Union representing the workmen in the present adjudication proceedings. This Tribunal is not much concerned with the question of competency of the Union to carry on negotiations with the Company during the period from March to June 1949. So far as the question of negotiations is concerned it is open to an employer to carry on negotiations even with an unregistered Union. It appears that during the period from March 1949 another Union named Chloride Electrical Storage (India), Ltd. Mazdoor Congress was formed and registered. It is irrelevant for the purposes of this Tribunal to go into the question of the relative importance of the two rival Unions. It has been contended on behalf of the Company that in so far as all the employees were discharged with effect from the 23rd May 1949 there were no workmen in existence and therefore the Chloride Electrical Storage Company Workers' Union could not be legally functioning as such. I do not think there is any substance in this contention, as in my opinion the entire procedure of mass dismissal was unjustified. In any case this line of argument is irrelevant for the purposes of the present adjudication proceedings, and I hold that the Chloride Electrical Storage Company Workers' Union, which is a registered Union, is entitled to represent the workmen.

4. I next proceed to issues Nos. 2 and 3 regarding reinstatement and compensation respectively in respect of the five persons involved in the two cases. I may first examine the general circumstances emerging out of the oral evidence adduced and the documents placed before me. Several documents were put in by both sides as exhibits and copies of other documents were filed as annexures to the statements of the parties, and the file of the Labour Commissioner was copiously referred to. The Union examined witnesses, namely, the Union Secretary and the five persons involved in these two cases, the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd. examined 9 witnesses, and the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd. examined none. The main trouble which was the immediate cause of the lock-out declared and the mass dismissal ordered by the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., with effect from the 23rd May 1949 was an incident which took place in front of the Manager's Office about and at 4 p.m. on Friday, the 20th May 1949, in connection with the visit of the Assistant Labour Commissioner and the Labour Officer (D.Ws. 1 and 2). Considering the evidence both oral and documentary and all the material I find the following facts. On getting the news of the arrival of the Assistant Labour Commissioner Sri S. B. Sarkar at the factory shortly before 4 p.m. the workers conceived the idea of meeting him for getting their dispute settled, and while some workers arrived shortly before 4 p.m. in front of the Manager's Office where the Assistant Labour Commissioner was discussing with the Union Secretary Sri B. N. Neogi (P.W. 1) and some of the company's officers, many workers assembled there after 4 p.m., the closing of the factory. The Assistant Labour Commissioner in due course addressed the gathering, and the substance of his speech was explained in detail by others. Abodhraj Singh, an ex-President of the Union and some others vilified the Government and the officers of the Labour Directorate for alleged failure to redress the grievances of the workers, and they made threatening speeches using insulting language and adopted a somewhat violent attitude. They wanted the Assistant Labour Commissioner to settle their disputes immediately or to give an undertaking in writing to settle the dispute within a specified time, authorising the workers to act as they pleased if the time limit was not observed. The situation became tense and the Assistant Labour Commissioner thought it wise not to attempt to leave the factory in the face of the crowd of about 300 workers who had assembled there, and some of whom had adopted a threatening attitude. Meanwhile the Assistant Labour Commissioner's driver managed to contact the Subdivisional Officer of Barrackpore over the telephone and in due course a Sub-Inspector of Police arrived with a police force. Thereafter the crowd dispersed. The Assistant Labour Commissioner lodged a formal information with the police who prosecuted some persons and the criminal case is still pending. Work was done in the factory on Saturday, the 24th May 1950, though some workers might have indulged in a certain amount of laxity. The Company declared a lock-out and discharged all employees except the managerial staff with effect from Monday, the 23rd May 1949. The Company eventually lifted the lock-out on and from the 24th October 1949, and re-employed many employees on various dates after their discharge on 23rd May 1949. The five persons with whom we are concerned in the two cases were discharged along with others on 23rd May 1949, but they have not been re-employed owing to alleged acts of major misdemeanour. The manufacturing section, with all assets, of the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., was purchased in accordance with an agreement of sale by the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., who took over the management of the manufacturing section on and from the 1st January 1950. The latter company appointed many of the old employees of the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., who made individual applications, and the continuity of service and of amenities was maintained in accordance with the arrangement made. The present five persons do not appear to have made any applications for appointment by the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd.

It is difficult to say under the particular circumstances that the lock-out declared by the Company on and from 23rd May 1949 was illegal. In the light of certain materials in the Labour Commissioner's file it is possible that certain conciliation proceedings were pending at the time before a conciliation officer. But the lock-out cannot be characterised as illegal under any section of the Industrial Disputes Act. The real question is whether the lock-out was justified. In view of the threatening and insulting and objectionable attitude adopted by some of the members of the crowd of workers in the presence of the Assistant Labour Commissioner on 20th May 1949 and some of the previous happenings particularly in February 1949, the declaration of the lock-out from 23rd May 1949 cannot be said to have been quite unjustified. But I am satisfied that there was absolutely no justification for prolonging the lock-out beyond a legitimate limit. The Company was very unreasonable in not taking the advice of the Labour Commissioner and of the Government for lifting the lock-out at an early date and that the lock-out, though not illegal at the start, was wholly unreasonable and improper after a short period. The Company went still further in so far as it carried out a policy of mass dismissal of all employees except the managerial staff from 23rd May 1949. I fail to understand the reason of this most extraordinary and abnormal step. The Company indeed called upon at the time to take certain measures for the security of the factory. In my opinion a short-period lock-out was adequate for that purpose, and the policy of mass dismissal was neither necessary nor justified from any point of view. The Company was indeed at liberty to consider the question of re-employment, after the lock-out, of individual employees who might have been guilty of specific acts of major misdemeanour. If the Company wished to take any such step, it was incumbent on it to do so in accordance with the principles of natural justice and even in accordance with clause 18 of the Company's Standing Orders, to give to each employee who was intended to be discharged a full opportunity of explaining the circumstances alleged against him. The Company did nothing of the kind and deliberately violated its own Standing Orders and the principles of natural justice by carrying out an extraordinary policy of mass dismissal of some employees who were suspected to be guilty and of a large number of other employees who were innocent. The argument advanced on behalf of the Company to the effect that observance of the Standing Orders was not necessary under the particular circumstances as it was not possible to give charge-sheets to so many employees is hopelessly untenable. The Company cannot be permitted to take cover under its own unjustified act of mass dismissal to justify its violation of the Standing Orders. I find that the Company's act of discharging all the employees without any discrimination between the guilty and the innocent, in direct violation of the Standing Orders and of the principles of natural justice, deserves the severest condemnation. In the light of this clear finding, I feel that the evidence adduced on the side of the Company must be scrutinised with a good deal of care for the purpose of determining if any or all of the five persons concerned were guilty of any major misdemeanour such as would justify their discharge.

6. I have decided to consider the Company's evidence before making any reference to the earliest reports about the incident of 20th May 1950. The Company's evidence consists of several phases. The first phase is that some of the employees prevented other employees from leaving the factory premises after 4 p.m., the closing hour. Another phase is that some of the employees incited others to join the crowd in front of the Manager's office. Still another phase is that the crowd was an unlawful assembly with the object of insulting, annoying and intimidating and wrongfully confronting the Assistant Labour Commissioner. Another aspect of the evidence is that some of the employees prevented or tried to prevent other employees from entering the factory after the lock-out was lifted. The reports of importance are the Assistant Labour Commissioner's first information (Ex. K) lodged with the police on the date of the incident 20th May 1950, his report to the Labour Commissioner, dated 24th May 1950 (Ex. L) in the Labour Commissioner's file and the Company's reports to the Labour Commissioner, dated 23rd May 1950 (Annexures 23 and 24 to the Company's written statement). Unfortunately the Company has not examined its officers Mr. Tuckfield, Mr. Jolly and Mr. Goode. But their reports of 21st May 1950, about the incident (Annexures 20, 21, 22 to the Company's written statement) may be used for what they may be worth for the purpose of testing the oral evidence adduced before this Tribunal. But Mr. Tuckfield's statement about an isolated incident of obstruction is nothing in the earliest reports nor is anything alleged in the Company's written statement to indicate that some of the employees prevented other employees from leaving the factory premises on 20th May 1950. This circumstance considerably weakens the present evidence before me of the alleged obstruction of individuals. As regards the incitement to join the unlawful assembly alleged in the Company's written statement, nothing is mentioned in the earliest reports. As regards the behaviour of some persons in the assembly there are references to the threatening and insulting attitude adopted by some persons in the earliest reports and of course in the Company's written statement. But in none of the earliest reports is there any mention of any of the five persons with whom we are concerned as having committed any overt act, so far as the proceedings of the assembly are concerned, or as being present in the assembly. This rather tends to indicate that, although some of these five persons might be present in the crowd they were not alleged to have taken any specific part of an objectionable nature at the earliest points of time. It also appears that the police who investigated the case relating to the incident of 20th May 1950 did not proceed against any of these five persons and there is no police report of any kind against any of them. As regards alleged acts of obstruction after the lock-out was lifted, there is no indication in the Company's written statement. In the light of these circumstances I am of opinion that the evidence now adduced by the Company's witnesses regarding the complicity of these five persons should be scrutinised with a great deal of caution.

7. I now proceed to deal with the individual cases of the four persons, viz. Abdul Hai Mia, Dhani Sarma, Sewhall and Jagdish Dass, who are concerned in the present adjudication proceeding arising out of the first reference. The case of the 5th person Jogendra Samal who is concerned in the other adjudication proceeding arising out of the second reference will be dealt with in a separate award. It appears to me that the acts alleged to have been committed by these persons cannot legitimately be brought within the purview of any of the items of major misdemeanour recognised under the standing orders of the Company, other than the item (g) relating to disorderly behaviour. The question is whether any or all of these persons were guilty of disorderly behaviour. In scrutinising the evidence which has been placed before me it should be borne in mind that very strong and reliable evidence of active participation in disorderly behaviour or acts of indiscipline will be necessary. I shall take up the case against Abdul Hai Mia first. He was appointed as a general cooly on 24th April 1946 and was a fitter mate at the time of his discharge from 23rd May 1949. He thus served the Company for slightly over three years. The Assistant Labour Commissioner and the Labour Officer are not in a position to say anything specific against Abdul Hai. D.W. 3 who is a store clerk has said that the workers who obstructed others from going towards the outer gate included Abdul Hai, Dhani Singh (Sarma), Jagdish, Sewhall, and Jogendra Samal, and he cannot remember the names of others. This witness impresses me as an omnibus witness who came only to name exactly these five persons in the matter of acts of obstruction. I do not think D.W. 3 is a reliable person. Apart from this specific evidence I am not disposed to attach much importance to the evidence relating to acts of obstruction as such allegations were not made in the earliest reports or in the Company's written statement before the Tribunal. D.W. 4 has said that Abdul Hai was one of the persons who asked others to assemble in connection with the Assistant Labour Commissioner's visit. I do not think that asking or inducing other employees, without using force, or violence, to join an assembly for meeting the Assistant Labour Commissioner, would necessarily amount to disorderly behaviour. D.W. 4 has also stated in his evidence that Abdul Hai obstructed him when he was about to go out of the factory after the closing hour. This evidence of obstruction by Abdul Hai is not consistent with Exhibit D which is said to be a statement of D.W. 4, inasmuch as this written statement indicates that it was Dhani Sarma who obstructed him. D.W. 4 says that he signed the written statement exhibit D the body of which was written by somebody else. I am satisfied that D.W. 4, the person of whose signature I obtained, did not sign the document at all.

As regards the evidence of D.W. 5, a Supervisor, he also has stated that Abdul Hai asked others to join the assembly in connection with the Assistant Labour Commissioner's visit. This witness has also stated that Abdul Hai was one of the persons present in the assembly who insisted on that the dispute being settled by the Assistant Labour Commissioner immediately and said that they would not allow the officer to go without settling the dispute. D.W. 7, a motor driver, has stated that Abdul Hai was one of the persons who was talking about employees joining the assembly to meet the Assistant Labour Commissioner. I would not attach much importance to such acts of talking, asking or inducing, unless they were accompanied by any elements of force or violence. D.W. 7 has also stated that Abdul Hai was one of the persons in the crowd who demanded that they would have the dispute settled that very day and they would not allow the Assistant Labour Commissioner to go without settling the dispute. D.W. 6, Head Durwan, has only stated that Abdul Hai was in the crowd in front of the Manager's office. Abdul Hai himself admitted in his evidence that he was in the crowd. His mere presence in the crowd does not by itself indicate that he was guilty of disorderly behaviour although several other members of the crowd were certainly guilty of disorderly behaviour. It appears to me that many of the employees went up and joined the crowd out of curiosity or out of their anxiety to see the result of negotiations in the presence of the Assistant Labour Commissioner, and many of the employees never shared any intention of insulting, annoying or intimidating or wrongfully confining the Assistant Labour Commissioner or anybody else, and did not in fact commit any acts of insulting, annoying, intimidating or wrongfully confining any one. This aspect of the matter will be evident from the circumstance that some of the witnesses who have given evidence on the side of the Company were themselves members of the crowd and it can by no stretch of imagination be said that these witnesses on the side of the Company were guilty of anything. As to whether the crowd became an unlawful assembly within the meaning of the criminal law, I do not consider it necessary to come to any finding. What I am concerned with is to determine, with reference to each individual person, whether he was guilty of any act or acts amounting to disorderly behaviour. The only evidence of importance against Abdul Hai is that of D.Ws. 5 and 7 who have stated that Abdul Hai insisted on certain things with reference to the Assistant Labour Commissioner in a manner which amounted to disorderly behaviour. The question is whether the evidence of these two witnesses can be implicitly relied upon. The police investigated the case on the same day and took action against certain persons. No criminal charge was laid against Abdul Hai and there is no indication to the effect that there was any police report against him. The two Government officers, of course, would not be in a position to name individual workmen as culprits. But the Company's officers whose earliest statements are on record, and who actually named a number of workmen as culprits, did not claim to have noticed Abdul Hai to have taken any specific part in the proceedings of the assembly. Not much importance can be attached to exhibit F which is a belated report dated 10th November 1949, against Abdul Hai. In the light of what I have discussed I consider that there is no satisfactory evidence to establish that Abdul Hai was guilty of disorderly behaviour or any major misdemeanour.

8. I next take up the case against Dhani Sarma. He was appointed as assistant cook in the Hindu canteen on 6th July 1947 and was in service in the canteen on the date of discharge on 23rd May 1949, and thus served the Company for about two years. He has given evidence denying his presence in the crowd in front of the Manager's office. The Head Durwan D.W. 6 does not also say that he saw Dhani in the crowd. It is not probable that Dhani was not present in crowd as the canteen closed at p.m. while the crowd assembled at about 4 p.m. The omnibus witness W. 3 speaks of obstruction by Dhani Sarma. But for the reasons already discussed I do not consider this witness to be worthy of belief. D.W. 4 has said that Dhani Sarma was standing outside when Abdul Hai was asking her workmen to assemble in connection with the Assistant Labour Commissioner's visit. For the reasons already discussed I would not attach much importance to such acts of asking or inducing. D.W. 4 has not stated his evidence that he was obstructed by Dhani Sarma when he was about to go out of the factory, but he has spoken of obstruction by Dhani Sarma in statement exhibit D. This discrepancy is significant, and I am not disposed to attach much importance to this kind of evidence. D.W. 5, Supervisor, has said that Dhani Sarma was one of the persons who were asking other persons to join the crowd. Such an act by itself does not necessarily amount to disorderly behaviour or any major misdemeanour. D.W. 7 has said that Dhani Sarma was one of the persons who were talking about joining the assembly. As already discussed, such acts of talking do not amount to any major misdemeanour. D.W. 7 is the only witness who has implied that Dhani Sarma in an act of saying that they would have the dispute settled by the Assistant Labour Commissioner that very day and they would allow him to go without settling the dispute. The police did not take any action against Dhani Sarma and there is no indication of any police action against him. He was not mentioned as having done anything wrong in any of the earliest reports. I am, therefore, unable to place implicit reliance on the solitary evidence of D.W. 7, as regards Dhani Sarma's conduct in connection with the threatening and undesirable behaviour alleged in by some persons in the crowd. D.W. 8 speaks of an incident of obstruction offered by Dhani Sarma on 10th October 1949 when the ordered lock-out was lifted. I do not think much importance can be attached to this evidence in connection with the discharge which took place on 23rd May 1949. The net result is that there is no satisfactory evidence to establish that Dhani Sarma was guilty of disorderly behaviour or any major misdemeanour.

I next pass on to the case against Sewlall who was appointed as a coolie on 27th August 1945 and was a pasting sardar at the time of discharge on 23rd May 1949, and thus served the Company for nearly 4 years. The omnibus witness D.W. 3 says that Sewlall committed acts of disorderly behaviour like others. As I have already opined, this witness is unreliable. D.W. 5 says Sewlall asked others to join the crowd. This act by itself is of much importance. D.W. 6 saw Sewlall in the crowd. Sewlall himself admits his presence in the crowd. As I have already said, the mere presence of a person in the crowd is not of much value. D.W. 8, an Assistant Supervisor, is practically the only witness against Sewlall. He has said that he was prevented by Sewlall and others from going out of the factory on 20th May 1949, and he heard them saying that they would do best to see that all employees remained in the factory. This might be taken as evidence of inducement. As I have already said, allegations of obstruction are much depended upon. D.W. 8 has stated further that Sewlall, in the crowd, was uttering slogans saying that the Assistant Labour Commissioner would not be allowed to go till he has settled the dispute satisfactorily and he was required to give an undertaking in writing to the effect that the dispute would be settled within a reasonable time. Such a statement is of much importance. Such a statement of threatening and threatening behaviour on the part of Sewlall does not find much support in the earliest reports given by the Company's officers who mention the names of other culprits. The police took no action against Sewlall and there is no police report against him. I find myself unable to place implicit reliance on the solitary witness D.W. 8. In the result I find there is no satisfactory evidence to establish that Sewall was guilty of disorderly behaviour or any major misdemeanour.

10. The case against Jagdish Dass is now taken up. He was appointed as a general cooly on 13th November 1945 and was a paster at the time of his discharge on 23rd May 1949 and thus served the Company for a period of 3½ years. As I have already indicated, the evidence of D.W. 4 regarding obstruction offered by Jagdish and the evidence of D.W. 6 regarding the presence of Jagdish in the crowd which is admitted by himself are of no much significance. The only evidence against Jagdish is that of D.W. 8. This witness has said that Jagdish asked others to join the crowd and the evidence by itself is not of much value. Then the evidence of obstruction alleged to have been offered by Jagdish is also not of much importance. D.W. 8 has implicated Jagdish, in the same way as Sewall, as having uttered slogans and behaved in an insulting and threatening manner at the assembly. Such behaviour on the part of Jagdish was not reported in the earliest reports given by the Company's officers. The police took no action against Jagdish and there is no police report of any kind against him. Under these circumstances I cannot place implicit reliance on the evidence of the solitary witness D.W. 8. I find accordingly that there is no satisfactory evidence to establish that Jagdish Dass was guilty of disorderly behaviour or any major misdemeanour.

11. I have already expressed the view that the Company's policy of directing an indiscriminate mass dismissal of all employees simultaneously with the declaration of a lock-out from 23rd May 1949 was entirely unjustified. After examining the evidence regarding the alleged complicity of the four persons Abdul Hai Mia, Dhani Sarma, Sewall and Jagdish Dass in different acts of disorderly behaviour I have come to the finding that there is no satisfactory evidence to establish such complicity in respect of any of them. The conclusion must therefore be that the discharge of the four persons on and from 23rd May 1949 was unjustified. It is possible that the Company entertained some vague fears and prejudices against these persons on account of their activities in furtherance of the aims of the Union. In any case the act of discharge can by no means be said to be justified and I hold that it amounted to unfair labour practice. Under normal circumstances such a finding would lead to an order of reinstatement in their position, however, in this case the position is different. The Chloride Electrical Storage (India), Ltd., has been transferred to another Company, viz., the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., with effect from 1st January 1950. This is said to have taken place in pursuance of an agreement, dated the 31st December 1949, as between the two Companies. The consequence is that the Chloride Electrical Storage Co. (India), Ltd., has ceased to have any control over the factory where these four persons were originally employed. Under these circumstances the implementation of an order of reinstatement by the Chloride Electrical Storage Co. (India), Ltd., is impossible. It has been contended on the side of the Union that by virtue of the terms of agreement as between the two Companies the latter Company, viz., the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., would be bound to carry out an order of reinstatement if such an order is passed by this Tribunal. On reading the relevant portions of the agreement I am quite sure that the words used would necessarily cover an undertaking to carry out an order of reinstatement of discharged employees. It is noticeable that the five persons with whom we are concerned in these cases did not submit any applications for appointment by the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., in accordance with the procedure laid the Company got no opportunity of considering such applications. The remedy of reinstatement being at the discretion of the Tribunal I do not think that this remedy should be provided under the particular circumstances of the present case. We must therefore consider the alternative remedy of compensation. The Chloride Electrical Storage Co. (India), Ltd., exists as a Company, though it has parted with the previous manufacturing section with its assets, and an award of compensation can very well be given against the Chloride Electrical Storage Co. (India), Ltd. It is necessary for this Tribunal to express any opinion as to whether the Chloride Electrical Storage Co. (India), Ltd., would be entitled, under the terms of the agreement between the two Companies, to be reimbursed by the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., to the extent of the amount of compensation directed. I am clear in laying down that this award will be binding on the Chloride Electrical Storage Co. (India), Ltd., and the award which will not be binding on the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd.

I now proceed to determine the amount of compensation which could be paid by the Chloride Electrical Storage Co. (India), Ltd., to each of the four persons with whom we are concerned in the present proceedings. I direct that compensation to the extent of total emoluments for a number of months noted against each of the four persons in the chart set out below shall be paid by the Company within one month from the date on which this award becomes enforceable:—

Abdul Hui Mia—six months.

Dhanu Sarma—five months.

Sewlall—seven months.

Jagdish Dass—six months.

The expression "total emoluments" shall mean average total emoluments including the basic wages, the service pay and the dearness allowance and including overtime wages or any other allowances, bonuses or other benefits, during the last three months of service, inclusive of authorised leave, on wages, in each case. Thus while I answer issue No. 2 in the negative I do so on issue No. 3 in the manner indicated above.

ORDER

7010Lab.—6th December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 511Lab., dated the 1st February 1950, read with its corrigenda Nos. 990Lab., dated the 28th February 1950, 684Lab., dated the 7th July 1950, the industrial dispute between the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., 4, Lyons Range, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India) Workers' Union, Shamnagore, 24-Parganas, in connection with the case of Bra Samal was referred for adjudication to Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S.

And whereas the said Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.), has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., and their workmen represented by Chloride Electrical Storage Company Workers' Union regarding questions of reinstatement and compensation in respect of Jogendra Samal.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI S. N. MODAK, I.C.S. (RETD.), Chairman.

For the Union: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, Sri B. Neogi, Secretary

For the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd.: Sri N. N. Das Majumdar, Counsel, Dr. J. K. Bose of the Indian Engineering Association, Mr. E. Goode, Labour Officer and other officers

For the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd.: Mr. G. F. Kennedy, Solicitor of Messrs. Fowler & Co., assisted by Sri P. K. Ghose, Advocate and Mr. W. G. Hendry, Director.

AWARD.

By Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. Lab., dated the 1st February 1950, as amended by order No. 990Lab., dated the 28th February 1950, and order No. 3684Lab., dated the 7th July 1950, this industrial dispute between the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., 4, Lyons Range, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Chloride Electrical Storage Company Workers' Union, Shannagar 24-Parganas, regarding the questions of reinstatement and compensation in respect of one Jogendra Samal has been referred to me as an industrial tribunal for adjudication. By Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5094Lab., dated the 12th October 1949, as amended by order No. 6063Lab., dated the 28th November 1949, another industrial dispute between the same parties in connection with the questions of reinstatement and compensation in respect of four persons, Abdul Hai Mia and others, has also been referred to me as an industrial Tribunal for adjudication. The nature of the issues in these two cases being practically the same, the discharges in these two cases having taken place in course of the same circumstances, they have been heard together for the sake of convenience. The Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd., was summoned as a party to the dispute under section 18(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act at a subsequent stage. The present award in respect of Jogendra Samal arising out of the second reference should be read as a continuation of the other award in respect of Abdul Hai Mia and others given by me today in connection with the same dispute.

with the first reference. I do not propose to state the facts and circumstances and to discuss the nature of the evidence or to state my findings in a detailed manner in the present award, as they are practically the same as those which I have stated in great detail in the other award. Reference in this connection may be made to paragraphs 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the other award. Issue No. 1 relating to the eligibility of the Chloride Electrical Storage Company Workers' Union to represent the workmen is answered in the affirmative as in the other award. For the purposes of considering the questions of reinstatement and compensation in respect of Jogendra Samal under issues 2 and 3 I shall proceed to discuss the specific evidence against that person, the broad feature of the evidence in general being the same as in the other case.

2. Jogendra Samal was appointed as a cooly on 21st November 1945 and was at a later stage a separator machinist in the Joiners' Department till the date of his discharge on 23rd May 1949, and he thus served the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., for about 3½ years. D.W. 3 has stated that Jogendra obstructed others from going out of the factory on 20th May 1949. As I have held in the other award this witness appears to me to be an omnibus witness and he is not worthy of belief. D.W. 4 has stated that Jogendra was one of the persons who were asking other employees to join the crowd in front of the Manager's office to meet the Assistant Labour Commissioner. As I have held in the other award such acts of asking or inducing others do not necessarily amount to disorderly behaviour. It should be appreciated that when a Government official visits a factory employees would have a natural tendency to congregate near about him out of curiosity or owing to some anxiety to get certain grievances redressed. D.W. 6, head durwan, stated that he saw Jogendra in the crowd in front of the Manager's office. Jogendra himself has admitted in his evidence that he was present there. As I have indicated in the other award the mere presence of a person in a crowd like this without any evidence of any specific overt act done by him, is not of much significance. D.W. 8, an Assistant Supervisor, has stated that Jogendra, while in the crowd, uttered objectionable slogans saying that the Assistant Labour Commissioner would not be allowed to go till he had settled the dispute immediately. He was required to give an undertaking in writing to the effect that the dispute would be settled within a reasonable time. No other witness has gone forward to speak about Jogendra's complicity in such insulting and objectionable proceedings. He was not mentioned in any such connection in the earliest reports given by the Company's officers who did accuse certain specific persons as culprits. The police investigated the case on the date of occurrence and took definite action against some persons, but no action was taken against Jogendra and there is no police report of any kind against him. Under these circumstances I am unable to place implicit reliance on the evidence of the solitary witness D.W. 8. In the result I find that there is no satisfactory evidence to establish that Jogendra Samal is guilty of disorderly behaviour or any major misdemeanour.

3. As I have held in the other award the Company's policy of directing indiscriminate mass dismissal of all employees simultaneously with the declaration of a lock-out from 23rd May 1949 was entirely wrong and unjustified. After examining the evidence regarding the alleged complicity of Jogendra Samal in different acts of disorderly behaviour I have come to the finding that there is no satisfactory evidence to establish any such complicity. The conclusion must therefore be that the discharge of Jogendra Samal on and from 23rd May 1949 was unjustified. It is possible that the Company entertained some vague fear and prejudice against Jogendra on account of his activities in furtherance of the cause of the Union. In any case the act of discharge can by no means be supported and I hold that it amounted to unfair labour practice. For the reasons given in paragraph 11 of the other award I do not propose to make an order of reinstatement, and I have decided to direct payment of compensation. For the reasons given in the same paragraph of the other award I hold that the present award will be binding on the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., and the award as such will not be binding on the Associated Battery Makers (Eastern), Ltd.

4. I direct that compensation to the extent of total emoluments for six months shall be paid to Jogendra Samal by the Chloride Electrical Storage Company (India), Ltd., within one month from the date on which this award becomes enforceable. The expression "total emoluments" shall mean average total emoluments including the basic wages, the service pay and the dearness allowance and excluding overtime wages or any other allowances, bonuses or other benefits, during the last three months of service, inclusive of authorised leave, on full wages.

ORDER.

No. 7137Lab.—9th December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2200Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950, the industrial disputes which had existed between the 79 Printing Presses of Calcutta and Howrah mentioned in the list appended to the said order, dated the 3rd May 1950, and their employees represented by the Press Employees' Association, 249B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, over the questions relating to (1) minimum wages, grades and scales fixed in the previous award referred to therein, (2) dearness allowance, (3) gratuity and (4) Standing Orders regarding termination of employment, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal constituted by Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, Sri Khirod Chandra Dhar of 12, Durga Pituri Lane, Calcutta, an employee of the Prabartak Printing and Halftone, Ltd., of 52/3, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, being item No. 57 of the list aforesaid, as represented by the said Press Employees' Association, made a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said employee, the conditions of service applicable to him immediately before the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted his award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

the matter of Sri Khirod Chandra Dhar of 12, Durga Pituri Lane, Calcutta, an employee of the Prabartak Printing and Halftone, Ltd., of 52/3, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, represented by the Press Employees' Association, 149B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta,

and the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate) Tribunal Act, 1950 (Case No. 38 of 1950),

and the matter of reference No. 2200Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950, Government of West Bengal, Labour Department.

PRESENT:

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

for the complainant: Sri S. K. Dhar, Pleader, assisted by Sri Indu Bhushan Sarkar, Secretary of the Press Employees' Association.

for the opposite party: Sri N. K. Mukherji, Advocate.

AWARD.

In pursuance of the order of reference No. 2200Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, adjudication proceedings have been started for settlement of industrial disputes between the employers and employees of 79 Printing Presses of Calcutta and Howrah mentioned in the list annexed to the order of reference of which the Prabartak Printing and Halftone, Ltd., is one, being serial No. 57 in the list. The adjudication proceedings are still pending.

The complainant claims to be a permanent compositor and pleads that he had been absent on account of illness from the 8th May 1950 up to 15th August 1950; that the employer was duly informed about his illness; that a medical certificate was submitted; and that on the 16th August 1950 he resumed his duty after the Company's doctor had granted him a certificate of fitness. The complainant further pleads that during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings started under the order of reference No. 2200 Lab., the employer discharged him without any express permission in writing of the Tribunal by giving him a new temporary post and has thereby contravened the provision of section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The employer denies having ever received any intimation about the illness of the complainant except by a letter accompanied by a medical certificate which was received by him on 3rd July 1950. He also denies to have ever discharged the complainant or to have given him a temporary post. At the hearing the complainant Khirod Chandra Dhar was heard. It is clear from his statement that he was never served with any notice of discharge either verbally or in writing; and that he has been working in his original post without any alteration in his emoluments; nor was he given any notice indicating that his service was temporary. When he found that he has a case under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, he pleaded that the employer had given a notice to the effect that the complainant's absence would be considered as a break in his service for the purpose of his leave and increment of pay. This was not pleaded in the petition of complaint and the Company was not in a position to meet this allegation. The Company has the right to decide how the long absence of the complainant would be dealt with. The decision even if it affects the particular employee cannot be construed as punishment inasmuch as absence on the ground of illness was not an offence and without an offence there cannot be any punishment. If the decision affects the complainant prejudicially it may raise a fresh dispute. Such decision cannot be construed as a punishment nor can it be construed as a change in the condition of service of workmen, for in order to be change in the condition of service of a workman, the decision must affect the workmen in the collective sense. In any case, the complainant cannot be permitted to make out a new case at the hearing.

In the circumstances of the present case, the complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is rejected.

AWARD.

In pursuance of the order of reference No. 2200Lab., dated 3rd May 1950 of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, adjudication proceedings have been started for settlement of industrial disputes between employers and employees of 79 Printing Presses of Calcutta and Howrah, named in the list annexed to the order of reference, of which the Litho Press is one, being serial No. 43 in the list. The adjudication proceedings are pending.

The complainant's case is that the complainant had been the Supervisor of the Machine Department for 11 years at a monthly salary of Rs. 95 and dearness allowance Rs. 22; that the Company served a notice of discharge on the complainant in violation of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, that the notice was withdrawn and the complainant was asked to continue service at reduced emoluments. The complainant further alleges that the complainant having protested to accept the reduced emoluments, his services were dispensed with after the working hours of the 12th October 1950 as unfair labour practice without any express permission of the Tribunal prays for reinstatement with compensation.

The opposite party pleads that on account of deteriorating condition of the business and hence of the finance of the Press, the management contemplating retrenchment; that the management accordingly served notice of discharge on the complainant, who was only a machine man, not a supervisor, on the 1st of August 1950 in sheer ignorance of the amendment of the section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act; and that the complainant having approached the management with the request that he might be retained at a reduced salary and offered to continue in service on a consolidated salary of Rs. 95 per mensem. The management having agreed to the proposal of the complainant, the latter was allowed to continue at the reduced salary, but the complainant absented himself from the 13th October 1950. The management is agreeable to restore to the complainant the salary which he had been getting before the reduction from the date when the salary was reduced.

The amended section 33 prohibits any change in the service conditions of the workmen, their discharge, dismissal or punishment in any other way during the pendency of adjudication proceedings without the express permission in writing of the Tribunal. At the time when the notice of discharge was served on the complainant who was a workman when his total monthly emoluments were reduced, adjudication proceedings started under W. Bengal Government, Labour Department, order No. 2200Lab. of the 3 May 1950 were pending, and no permission of the Tribunal was obtained to discharge the complainant or to reduce his total emoluments. I cannot believe that the complainant had been a supervisor and that he was demoted to the rank of a machine man. The plea was taken falsely with the ulterior motive of claiming the higher wages of a supervisor according to the award of this Tribunal. In the last award the minimum basic pay of a supervisor of the machine department was fixed at Rs. 110. The complainant sued the management for dearness allowance, according to the award I never before he claimed the minimum salary of a supervisor. On the other hand, the complainant was described as a machine man in the Attendance Register. The complainant says that the management appointed a supervisor Nagen Mondal by name on 4th August 1950 but in the petition of complaint it has been alleged that it was only on the 12th October 1950 after the working hours that he was told that he was no longer a supervisor. If really he had worked as a supervisor till the 12th October 1950 there was no necessity of engaging another supervisor on 4th August 1950. The management deny to have engaged Nagen Mondal. The story of the complainant is absurd. I cannot believe it. My finding is that he was only a machine man.

The management is fair enough to admit that section 33 has been offended and is willing to compensate the complainant for the loss. On the facts and circumstances of the case I hold that the opposite party had asked the complainant either to work at a reduced pay or to go away; and that complainant received the reduced pay for September under protest on the 1st October; and did not turn up. This amounts to dismissal. The new award came into force on the 20th May 1950 and was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 6th July 1950. Ignorance of law is no plea. However, the management is agreeable to make good the loss the complainant has suffered.

Pending hearing the complainant was asked to join his post by the 10th November 1950. He joined his post as directed. Hence my award is that the complainant be reinstated to his former post without loss of his original emoluments as a machine man at the original pay and dearness allowance and shall be paid the difference of the original pay and dearness allowance and the reduced pay within a fortnight from the date on which this award comes into force. His absence shall be considered as extraordinary leave with full emoluments and shall not be debited against any kind of leave.

It was suggested that the complainant was not given the same machine which he used to work before. The machine men may be required to work at any machine in their department, according to necessity. No machine man can, as a matter of right, demand to work at the same machine all along. This plea of the complainant is frivolous.

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.), has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted his award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act made by one Becharam Kundu against Serampore Belting Works Ltd., in connection with Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5509Lab., dated the 4th November 1949, referring an industrial dispute between Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., and their workmen:

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI S. N. MODAK, I.C.S. (RETD.), Chairman

For the workman as represented by Serampore Belting Mazdoor Union:
P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, Sri Bishnu Charan Banerji, President, Dhananjoy Chatterjee, Secretary.

For the Company: Sri B. Roy Choudhury, Counsel, Sri J. N. Lal, Managing Director.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint presented on 10th October 1950 by a workman named Becharam Kundu as represented by Serampore Belting Mazdoor Union against Serampore Belting Works, Ltd. By Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5509Lab., dated the 4th November 1949, an industrial dispute between Serampore Belting Works, Ltd., 53, Gowkhana Road, Serampore, and their workmen was referred to this Industrial Tribunal for adjudication. The award given in the adjudication proceedings was published by Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6369Lab., dated the 8th November 1950. The adjudication proceedings were therefore pending in August 1950 on the 16th of which month the services of Becharam Kundu are said to have been dispensed with by the Company on the ground of prolonged unauthorised absence, and they were also pending in October 1950 on the 23rd of which month the workman is said to have rejoined work and to have been turned out by the Manager, according to the workman's version. The Company admits, therefore, that the workman Becharam Kundu was discharged during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings before the Tribunal. I find that the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were contravened and the complaint is well-founded.

2. The learned Advocate for the Union has contended that since it is found that the discharge was illegal by reason of the provisions of section 33 having been contravened, the Tribunal should automatically direct that the discharged workman be reinstated, without entering into the merits relating to the propriety or otherwise of the discharge. He has argued that if the Tribunal goes into the merits of the case even after the finding that the discharge has been illegal, and if it is eventually found that the discharge was justified either wholly or partially, such a finding would have the effect of encouraging the commission of illegal acts by employers, and that encouragement of illegal action could not have been intended by the legislature in enacting the new section 33A or in amending section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. In a recent award given by the Engineering Firms Tribunal consisting of myself as Chairman and Sri A. Das Gupta as member in the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act made by Nalini Chakraborty and another against the Be

Electric Lamp Works, Ltd., as published by Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5336Lab., dated the 16th September 1950, in the Calcutta Gazette of the 28th September 1950, that Tribunal observed as follows:—"At the outset of the hearing the learned Advocate for the employees concerned contended that this Tribunal should set aside the order of discharge and direct reinstatement with compensation without going into the facts and circumstances because the Company's action was obviously illegal. We do not agree that such an order should be passed under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act simply because the Company's action is held to be illegal and we are of opinion that the provisions of section 33A contemplate that a full enquiry into the facts and circumstances leading to the discharge should be made by the Tribunal and the subject-matter of the complaint should be duly adjudicated upon as if it were a dispute referred to the Tribunal and the Tribunal should in due course submit this award to the appropriate Government. We have therefore held the enquiry into all the facts and circumstances relating to the justification or otherwise of the action taken by the Company apart from the question of its illegality." We have no reason to deviate from the view expressed by the Engineering Tribunal. I would however like to elaborate the point a little further. It is to be noted that an act of contravention of the provisions of section 33 is punishable under the provisions of section 31 of the Industrial Disputes Act, irrespective of the question as to whether the act of contravention was justified to any extent or not. Employers who choose to contravene the provisions of section 33 would run a great deal of risk of criminal prosecution under section 31. It is, however, possible that some employers would take the risk and proceed to contravene the provisions of section 33. The legislature has enacted the new section 33A for the purpose of meeting the needs of such employers as may have taken the risk. The scope of section 33A however is not limited merely to a finding regarding the contravention of the provisions of section 33. Such a contravention is indeed the basis of the complaint and where such a basis is not found the complaint would be untenable. The question is what the Tribunal should do where the necessary basis of the complaint is found to exist. If the legislature had intended that if the basis of the complaint is found the Tribunal's duty would not be beyond directing the restoration of the previous state of things, the legislature would be expected to say so in clear terms while enacting section 33A. The words used in section 33A are as follows:—"On receipt of such complaint the Tribunal shall adjudicate upon the complaint as if it were a dispute referred to or pending before it in accordance with the provisions of this Act and shall submit its award to the appropriate Government and the provisions of this Act shall apply accordingly." These words must be understood to bear their ordinary meaning. It must be clear that the legislature intended by using these words that the Tribunal should proceed with a full-fledged adjudication regarding the subject-matter of the complaint taking as an industrial dispute referred to or pending before it, and all the provisions of the Act relating to an adjudication proceeding shall apply. The purpose of the legislature was evidently to afford a procedure of setting industrial disputes arising out of acts of contravention of the provisions of section 33 to the Tribunal with promptitude, in cases of industrial disputes arising out of acts of contravention of the provisions of section 33, thus removing the pendency of certain original adjudication proceedings. Such an act of the legislature cannot be negatived by the mere contingency that some employers would be likely to take risks by contravening the provisions of section 33. The disadvantage which accrues from such a contingency is far outweighed by the advantage which is gained by effecting a quick settlement of industrial disputes of a particular kind by virtue of the operation of the new section 33A. In my opinion section 33A does not lay down an automatic rule of procedure regarding the restoration of the previous state of things and the Tribunal is called upon to apply its mind fully and carefully to all the facts and circumstances relating to the subject-matter of a complaint, and it is open to the Tribunal to give an award under section 33A in any manner which it may consider to be just and proper in the light of the particular circumstances. It is very necessary to determine to what extent the employers' action might be justified apart from the question of its illegality. I shall therefore proceed to go into the facts and circumstances in this particular case.

3. Becharam Kundu and another workman have been examined in support of the complaint, and the Managing Director J. N. Lahiri has been examined on the side of the Company, and a number of documents have been put in on both sides. In his initial application for leave, dated 30th June 1950, Becharam stated that he was feeling uneasiness and sickness and he required rest for a few days. The Company by its letter, dated 8th July 1950, informed him that the application for leave was granted. The workman Becharam was admittedly absent during July, August and September. According to him he made an appearance before the employer on 3rd October and wanted to be allowed to join his job, and the management asked him to come after the Puja holidays and he actually joined work on the 23rd October but after about half-an-hour's work he was turned out by the Manager. The Company's version is that the workman never appeared on 3rd October, but appeared on 21st October when he was told that he had already been discharged with effect from 16th August. The Company has put in its letter, dated 1st August 1950, purporting to have been written to Becharam Kundu informing him that no further extension of leave would be granted and asked him to join immediately, failing which his services would be terminated without further notice, and also its letter, dated 16th August 1950, purporting to have been written to Becharam informing him that as he had failed to comply with the instructions contained in the letter dated 1st August 1950, his services were dispensed with with effect from 16th August 1950. The authenticity of these two letters said to have been issued by the Company has been contested on the side of the Union. Whether these two letters were issued by the Company or not does not appear to me to be very material for our purposes. The workman Becharam Kundu sent his initial application for leave, dated 30th June 1950, informing the employer that he required rest for a few days owing to his uneasiness and sickness. He thus created an impression in the employer's mind that his illness was not grave and he would return to work after a few days. The employer accordingly granted his application presumably on the basis of leave for a few days. The workman did not submit any medical certificate either with his initial application for leave or at any time throughout the months of July, August and September and he allowed this long period to elapse without asking for any extension of leave and without giving any information whatever to the employer. The employee could not expect that in the absence of clear and reliable information the employer would be prepared to condone his absence for an indefinite period. The workman has now come forward with a belated medical certificate, dated 2nd October 1950, given by a homœopathic medical practitioner mentioning his disease as typho-malarial fever. If he was suffering from serious illness he should have sent in proper time an application for extension of leave on the basis of a dependable medical certificate. An employee is not at liberty to absent himself from work at his sweet will and expect the employer to wait for his return indefinitely. Whether the workman Becharam was really ill and whether he really went for a change of climate are matters which are beside the point. It is not necessary for me to determine precisely whether he actually joined work of his own initiative on the 23rd October and was turned out by the employer. The employer's action in refusing to condone the workman's unreasonably long absence, when the workman made a reasonable attempt to ask for extension of leave and furnish proper grounds for such extension, cannot be said, under the particular circumstances, to be unreasonable or unfair. The workman seems to have been guilty of indiscipline and negligence in the performance of his duties. Under these circumstances the employer's action in discharging the workman either in August or in October 1950 cannot be said to be unjustified. An order for reinstatement cannot be passed in a case like this, as the employer's right of controlling indiscipline and negligence on the part of employees should be recognised. The only question is whether the workman should be given any compensation. He appears to have served the Company for about seven months in all. As I have already found he lost his job owing to his own negligence. The employer, however, was guilty of contravening the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, in so far as he discharged the workman during the pendency of the original adjudication proceedings without the express permission in writing of the Tribunal. Under these circumstances the payment of some compensation is called for.

4. I direct that the complainant Becharam Kundu shall be paid by the Company compensation to the extent of one month's total emolument within one month from the date on which this award becomes enforceable. The expression "total emolument" shall mean the average total emolument including the basic wages, the dearness allowance and any other benefit in the nature of foodgrain concession or food allowance and excluding overtime wages, bonuses or other benefits, during the last two months of service of the particular workman, inclusive of authorised leave, on full remuneration. I further direct that any amount of bonus which may be payable to the complainant under the system adopted by the Company shall be paid to him along with the amount of compensation.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Shalimar Rope Works Ltd., Shalimar, Howrah, and their workmen as represented by Shalimar Rope Works Mazdoor Union, 4, Lokenath Chatterjee Bys-Lane, Shibpore, Howrah, and in the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJI, Judge, Industrial Tribunal

For the Company: Sri H. C. Ghosh, Advocate, and Sri S. R. Toshawat, Manager of the Company.

For the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, and Sri Bejoy Krishna Mukherjee, General Secretary of the Union.

AWARD.

This is an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as modified up to 1st July 1950. By this petition, the aggrieved workmen complain that the Company has contravened section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act by withholding payment of annual bonus before the Puja, which they had been paying for the last four years without interruption and without any references to profit and loss in the business, at the rate of one month's wages. It is further alleged that the Puja bonus being a condition of service, has been illegally stopped during the pendency of the Tribunal. The employees invoke the aid of the Tribunal to recommend punishment to the employer under section 31 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The Shalimar Rope Works, Ltd. (the employer), alleges that the Company is running at a heavy loss and that the granting of bonus was not a condition of service at all, and that the payment of bonus for the last four years was purely ex gratia. It is further alleged that in the parent dispute the question of bonus is an important issue and without adjudicating the main issue in that case, the present application is not maintainable.

On hearing both sides, I am of opinion that this application is premature and is rather misconceived. The allegation of the Union is that the bonus is a condition of service inasmuch as for the last four or five years the Company has been paying bonus at the rate of one month's wages to every employee during the time of Puja.

On reading the statement of the Company in the parent case it is seen that they denied that the bonus of one month's pay is a condition of service. They further contend that the workmen are not entitled to get bonus as claimed, or at all. It is also contended that the question of bonus was neither included in the charter of demands; nor considered by the Conciliation Officer as fit and proper for adjudication in this Tribunal. The contention of the Company also is that the financial position of the Company did not justify payment of bonus this year. In my opinion, before the adjudication of the issue in the parent case, it cannot be said whether bonus in the shape of one month's wages was a condition of service. This is the bone of contention and without adjudicating that issue in the parent case it cannot be said now that the Company has violated the condition of service. The Union has prayed for criminal sanction against the employer for violating the mandatory provision of section 33. Let us see what section 33 contemplates. Section 33 lays down in brief that during proceedings before a Tribunal in respect of any industrial dispute, no employer shall alter the conditions of service without written permission of the Tribunal. The condition of service, which are alleged to have been violated, are seriously debatable and cannot be adjudicated without proper materials and elaborate enquiry. The mere fact that the employees are having bonus for the last four years is too weak a proposition to hold that it is a condition of service. So, in my opinion, prima facie no case of violation of any condition of service has been made out. The application therefore seems to be rather hasty and premature and is misconceived. Ordered that the petition under section 33A be rejected. I make award accordingly.

P. R. MUKHERJI,

Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

The 28th November 1950.

By order of the Governor,

D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jr. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 7207Lab.—13th December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2421Lab., dated the 12th May 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. East India Produce Co., 6, Kumarpara Road, Calcutta, and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Sitala Prosanna Roy, Siddheswaritola, P. O. Shyamnagore, 24-Parganas, was referred for adjudication to Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. East India Produce Co., 6, Kumarpara Road, Calcutta, and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Sitala Prosanna Roy, Siddheswaritola, P. O. Shyamnagore, 24-Parganas.

PRESENT :

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal

By order No. 2421Lab., dated the 12th May 1950, the Government of West Bengal constituted a Tribunal of one Judge under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act (Act XIV), 1947, and referred the said dispute to me for adjudication. The reference was received on the 17th May 1950. Sri Sitala Prosanna Roy filed his written statement by registered post on 29th May 1950. Notice in form "F" was issued to the Company but it returned undelivered with the remark "not known". Thereafter the notice was again sent to the address revised by the petitioner, viz., at 6, Kumarpara Road, Dum-Dum, 24-Parganas. Later on the notice "F" was sent by registered post on 7th July 1950. It came back unserved with the endorsement "left". The Labour Commissioner was written to for supplying the address of the Company. The Assistant Labour Commissioner sent a report to this Tribunal. He also got no reply to his registered notice and assumed that the Company was evading service. Thereafter this Tribunal sent a peon, Biswanath Dutta, for service of the notice on 20th September 1950. In the peon's return it is stated that one Samir Kumar Mitra in the office room of the Company took the notice; he endorsed receipt in pencil in the peon's book, but when he was asked to open the envelope and sign the duplicate copy of the notice, he erased his endorsement in the peon's book.

In the circumstances, the Tribunal was satisfied that the Company was avoiding service. It proceeded to try the case on the basis of the report of the petitioner before the Assistant Labour Commissioner forwarded to this Tribunal. Then 12th October 1950 was fixed as the date for final hearing, with intimation to both sides by registered post conveying that in the event of non-appearance on the date fixed, the matter would be heard ex parte or on default. Then the case was finally heard on 4th November 1950 ex parte.

AWARD.

2. A brief reference to the facts of the case will be relevant. According to the petitioner's statement before this Tribunal, it appears that he had been employed by Messrs. East India Produce Co. of 6 Kumarpara Road, Dum-Dum, on the 28th September 1949 as an Accountant on a salary of Rs. 200 per month. The proprietor of the firm was one Sudhir Kumar Mitra and the office was located in his residence. On the 7th January 1950, the petitioner was suddenly informed that his service had to be dispensed with because of financial stress of the Company. In answer to his demand for arrear salaries amounting to Rs. 645-2-6 for November and December 1949 and seven days of January 1950, and one month's salary more in lieu of notice, the proprietor is said to have told him that he would be paid as soon as there was a shipment of 130 bales of Kapok to Messrs. Hales & Son, Liverpool. The petitioner states that the said shipment had been made, partly on the 14th January 1950 and in full on the 16th January 1950, but no payment of salary was forthcoming. He called on the proprietor on the 23rd January 1950 when he met with a flat denial of his claim. The Labour Commissioner was moved on the 3rd February 1950 and thereafter the matter was referred to this Tribunal.

3. As it has already been shown, the Company has not entered appearance. Under the rules framed by the Government of West Bengal, as amended up to the 30th June 1949, the service of summons in form "F" should be effected by registered post or through the Court of Small Causes, Calcutta (vide rule 12). Rule 15 provides that if without good cause shown, any party to the proceedings before the Tribunal fails to attend or to be represented, the Tribunal may proceed as if such party had duly attended or had been represented. In the case before me I had ample evidence that in spite of repeated notices by registered post and also by messenger the Company did not care to enter appearance. So the Tribunal had no choice other than to proceed ex parte in the case.

4. But even if the case is tried ex parte, the Tribunal must decide how far the claim is tenable in law. The present case is one between the petitioner on the one hand and the employer on the other. So, prima facie, it appears to me to be an individual dispute.

The next point that is involved in the present case is whether Sri Sitala Prosanna Roy, being a discharged employee, can maintain the case inasmuch as he does not come within the definition of "workman" as defined in section 2(s) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

Another point which is also involved is whether the dispute which arises after the discharge of the employee is an industrial dispute.

It has also to be considered whether the petitioner is a clerk or does the work of an officer and whether, as such, he is a "workman", as defined in the Act.

These are all problems of great nicety. They have also been considered in one or other cases of the Industrial Tribunal in West Bengal and elsewhere. As per an ex parte trial I did not have the advantage of having the views of both parties. Let me however take up and decide the points one after another.

5. So far as the question whether Sri Sitala Prosanna Roy does clerical work or the work of an officer is concerned, the evidence is one-sided. He says that he is an Accountant. Of course it must be supposed that he does "skilled" clerical work as his pay is Rs. 200 per month. So I find that his status is no better than that of a skilled clerk.

It is evident that the present dispute has arisen after Sitala Prosanna's discharge. As a matter of fact, the dispute is practically confined to his discharge. So it can never be said that there was a prior dispute in course of which Sri Sitala Prosanna Roy happened to have been discharged. There is no allegation on that score either in evidence. So the position becomes, whether there is an industrial dispute at the instance of such a discharged employee.

If we next turn to the definition of "industrial dispute" as per section 2(k), we shall see that the definition resolves itself under three heads, viz., (1) the parties to the dispute, (2) the subject-matter of the dispute and (3) the origin or the connection of the dispute.

Regarding the parties to the dispute, it appears that it must be either between employers and employers or between employers and workmen or between workmen and workmen. Here I am not concerned with a dispute between employers and employers or between workmen and workmen. I find on the evidence that this dispute is between the employer and the workmen who continue in service. For this I refer to the evidence of the petitioner who deposes,—“The employees of the firm developed discontent and unrest over my sudden discharge and that without payment of salaries. Nirode Kanta Dutta, the Assistant Manager of the Hide and Skin Department, and Tarapada Mukherjee, entrusted with the customs work of the firm, took up my case. They agitated it with no effect. So my case has been referred to the Tribunal”. Nirode Kanta Dutta, who has been examined, and also the Government order of reference, have corroborated the above. So I get that there was some unrest between the Company and its workmen over this abrupt discharge of the petitioner without notice and without payment of salaries. So the first element of the "industrial dispute" is satisfied.

Regarding the second element which deals with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment, or with the conditions of labour, it may be said without hesitation that the requisite condition has been satisfied in the present case. The service of Sri Sitala Prosanna Roy has been dispensed with. So it is a case of non-employment.

Regarding the third element of the definition of the "industrial dispute", it appears that the dispute must relate to the non-employment, etc., "of any person". In my opinion this "any person" may or may not be a workman, as defined in the Act. So, if he is an officer over whose discharge the dispute has arisen, the dispute will be an industrial dispute provided it is taken up by some persons in the employ of the Company. Similarly, if the dispute is over the discharge of an employee, the employee may not be competent to set up an industrial dispute against the employer by himself; but if his cause is espoused by other persons who are in the employ of the Company, then the requirements of the industrial dispute will be answered. So, in short, the definition of "industrial dispute" seems to be sufficiently comprehensive and elastic. Some confusion has been created in certain awards ignoring or missing the implication of "any man" in the tail of the definition. But Sri A. Das Gupta in the Joint Steamer Co. vs. their workmen (Calcutta Gazette, dated 22nd September 1949, at pages 1733-34), presiding over the Tribunal, has observed,—“‘Any person’ in the definition of ‘industrial dispute’ seems to be sufficiently elastic to include an officer”.

Lord Shaw in Conway vs. Wade (1909) A.C. 506, observes,—“An industrial dispute originally may come to be a subject in which sides are taken and may develop into a situation of a general aspect containing the characteristics of a trade dispute, but until it reaches that stage I cannot hold that a trade dispute necessarily exists”. The Hon’ble Mr. Justice Mack observes,—“The Industrial Disputes Act was never intended to provide a machinery for redress by a dismissed workman or even a group of workmen who may be simultaneously punished or dismissed.....If such a dismissal, however, of an individual workman, is taken up by a workers’ Union or a substantial body of workmen who continue in employment and espouse his cause, an industrial dispute may arise”. Thus it appears that I am fortified in my interpretation of the definition of “industrial dispute” in section 2(d) by the observations quoted above. So, in the present case, whether Srida Prosanna Roy is a discharged workman or not during the dispute, it does not very much matter. He is protected under the clause “of any person” in the definition of “industrial dispute”. There is no flaw as his cause has been espoused by other workmen in the service of the Company.

6. Coming to the claim of the petitioner, I find that the evidence is ex parte. He is entitled to the recovery of his salaries for the months of November and December 1949 and seven days of January 1950 at the rate of Rs. 200 per month. He is also further entitled to recover one month’s salary in lieu of notice. I direct the Company to make this payment in two equal monthly instalments, the first instalment within one month after the award comes into operation. The award is passed accordingly.

Sen, an employee of the India General Navigation and Railway Co., Ltd., 4, Fairlie Place, Calcutta, being item No. 44 of the schedule aforementioned, made a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said employee, the conditions of service applicable to him immediately before the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto:—

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by an employee named B. P. Sen against the India General Navigation and Railway Co., Ltd., in connection with industrial disputes between 64 engineering firms including the said Company and their workmen referred for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 1126Lab., dated the 8th March 1950.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

PRESENT

SRI S. N. MODAK, I.C.S. (RETD.), Chairman

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge, Member.

For the complainant: Sri B. P. Sen.

For the Company: Mr. H. J. Thompson, Senior Labour Welfare Officer, and Mr. Thomas, Labour Welfare Officer.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint, dated 30th October 1950, under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented by a person named B. P. Sen against the India General Navigation and Railway Co., Ltd., 4, Fairlie Place, Calcutta (No. 44 of the list), which is one of the 64 engineering firms concerned in the industrial disputes between them and their workmen, referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 1126Lab., dated the 8th March 1950. The case of the complainant is that he was appointed as an Overseer in the Rajabagan Dockyard of the Company on 5th May 1947 and was illegally discharged on and from 17th June 1950 during the pendency of the original adjudication proceedings, and the discharge was not justified. The Company's case, on the other hand, is that owing to unfavourable trading position between India and Pakistan the Company, whose business is inland shipping, was faced with a financial crisis owing to a marked fall in work, and the Company was obliged to carry out retrenchment of employees on a substantial scale, and as a large number of workers in the department in which the complainant was appointed as an Overseer had to be retrenched, the complainant could not be retained in service any longer and he being the junior-most man in his department had to be paid off with the benefits he was entitled to. It is admitted in the Company's statement that in so far as this Tribunal's express permission in writing was not sought or obtained during the pendency of the original adjudication proceedings, the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were contravened. It is explained, however, that the Company was not aware of the amendment of section 33 brought about by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, which came into force on 20th May 1950.

2. It is clear that the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were contravened by the Company in connection with the discharge of B. P. Sen on 17th June 1950. The ex-employee is therefore entitled to make the complaint. The complainant has not established our satisfaction that the retrenchment which the Company undertook was not justified by the circumstances. We have no materials before us enable us to judge the extent of the retrenchment which would be just and fair under the particular circumstances. The complainant's chief point is that the Company failed to act on the principle of "last in, first out" which it claims to have followed in carrying out the scheme of retrenchment. The complainant has pointed out to us that several men were appointed Overseers after his appointment as Overseer on 15th May 1947 and the men although junior to him have been retained in service while the complainant has been discharged. We find that out of the five men said to have been appointed as Overseers after the complainant four had long years of service behind them and were promoted as Overseers from lower ranks and this is admitted by the complainant. The real point is whether the Overseer named Suren Naskar who appears to have been appointed as Overseer on 20th June 1947, that is to say, after the appointment of the complainant, has been retained in service to the detriment of the complainant. The Labour Welfare Officer of the Company has explained that Suren Naskar is a more efficient Overseer than the complainant for the purposes of the Plating Department. In the absence of proper material, we are not satisfied that the complainant is necessarily less efficient than Suren Naskar. We find that Suren Naskar was junior to the complainant and yet the complainant has been discharged while a junior man has been retained. It is difficult for us to say under these circumstances that the principle of "last in, first out" was strictly adhered to. The few days' notice given to the complainant before his discharge on 17th June 1950 though perhaps consistent with the rules, does not appear to have been quite fair to the complainant under the particular circumstances. On his discharge he was paid only a small amount which was lying at his credit in the Provident Fund and was allowed some leave which was due to him. In course of the discussion the Senior Labour Welfare Officer for the Company submitted that he had no objection to some compensation being awarded on the lines of section 122 of the proposed Labour Relations Bill, 1950. We have examined the whole position and have come to the conclusion that apart from the action of the Company being illegal by reason of the provisions of section 33 of the Act having been contravened, the discharge of the complainant B. P. Sen was not quite regular, although retrenchment of some Overseers was called for and not unjustified. We are not disposed to make an order for reinstatement under the particular circumstances, but in our view the complainant is entitled to get some compensation.

3. Just before his discharge, the complainant B. P. Sen used to earn Rs. 4-11 per day as basic wages plus Rs. 40 per month as dearness allowance, besides some amount as attendance bonus. Apart from the question of attendance bonus, we find that the complainant was earning roughly Rs. 162 per month as basic wages and dearness allowance, the working month being taken as consisting of 26 days on the average. We direct that the Company shall pay to the complainant B. P. Sen compensation to the extent of three months' total emoluments, the monthly total emolument being taken as Rs. 162. The compensation payable shall be paid within 15 days from the date on which this award becomes enforceable.

The 6th December 1950.

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

For the employer: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, and Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader, assisted by Sri J. P. Gupta, General Manager, and Sri G. P. Misra, General Works Manager.

For the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, assisted by the office-bearers of the Union.

AWARD.

Prior to the present references there had been two other references—one was under order No. 768Lab., dated 12th March 1948, and the other under order No. 170Lab., dated the 11th January 1950. The first dispute was decided by Sri S. C. Chakrabartty, whose award was published under Government order No. 1996Lab., dated 18th June 1948, and the second dispute was decided by myself and the award was published under order No. 4733-Lab., dated the 25th August 1950.

Reference No. 2931Lab., dated 2nd June 1950, relates to the discharge of three workers Narsingh Singh, Sheopujan Singh and Gomti Kahar, and reference No. 3668Lab., dated the 6th July 1950, relates to the discharge of three workers Babulal Mourya, Deo Naram Mistry and Chandrabali Sukla.

With the consent of both parties, the two references, involving, as they do, identical questions of law, were taken up together for hearing, for the sake of convenience, and I propose to discuss the two cases jointly and to give a joint award.

The following points were raised:—

- (1) Were the orders of discharge of the six workmen justified?
- (2) Are the six workmen or any of them entitled to reinstatement? If so, on what terms?
- (3) Are the workmen or any of them entitled to compensation, in case they are not reinstated? If so, how much?

All the six workmen are said to have been guilty of some offence or other and to have been discharged after an enquiry into the offence alleged to have been committed by each. My duty shall be to enquire whether the workers or any of them really committed an offence justifying the extreme penalty of dismissal and whether such a punishment was inflicted with due opportunities to the workers concerned to explain the circumstances under which such offences are alleged to have been committed, and if the workers offered an explanation whether such explanation was satisfactory and acceptable.

Before I enter into the merit of the case I shall discuss the law relating to reinstatement of discharged employees.

Industrial Tribunals have been clothed by the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, with unlimited powers to direct reinstatement. The question was fought up to the Hon'ble Federal Court and the matter has been settled by the recent decision by the Hon'ble Federal Court. Although there is nothing in the Act to limit the jurisdiction of Industrial Tribunals in any way, the majority of the Judges of the Tribunals interfered with the employers' decision and action and directed reinstatement when an employee was found to have been wrongfully discharged by way of victimisation or as an unfair labour practice. Most of the Judges refused to interfere when the dismissals were found to have been on grounds other than victimisation and unfair labour practice, either on the ground of expediency or on account of a restricted view about the jurisdiction of the Industrial Tribunals. I do not propose to discuss whether an Industrial Tribunal is justified in interfering with all cases of wrongful dismissals not connected with victimisation or unfair labour practice. It has become almost a convention with the Industrial Tribunals to intervene and to direct reinstatement whenever dismissal of a workman is found to have been prompted, though not openly, by victimisation or unfair labour practice. The terms "victimisation" and "unfair labour practice" have not been defined anywhere in the Industrial Disputes Act. The amended Trade Unions Act enumerates some instances of unfair labour practice. Those are in connection with trade unions. Cases enumerated in the amended Trade Unions Act cannot form an exhaustive list of "unfair labour practices." "Victimisation" has been defined in an award given by Janab Niwaj Muhammad in the case Mazdoor Hargaoon versus Arjun Sugar Mill as whatever injures or illegally affects an employee. In the case of Coimbatore Cement Works, the Advocate Sri C. R. Krishnaram has defined the term as the taking of some action prejudicial to the workers on some pretexts other than the true reason. In my opinion, any order made in bad faith with an ulterior motive arbitrarily or with harshness, is an instance of unfair labour practice.

Under the ordinary laws of contract between masters and servants, a master has absolute discretion to dismiss a servant; and if the dismissal is wrongful the remedy of the servant, in common Law Courts, is for compensation. The common Law Courts cannot direct any reinstatement on any simple ground that a contract for personal service cannot be specifically enforced. The labour legislations including the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 aim to give some relief to the workmen in this direction. It is in view that Industrial Courts can interfere when the dismissal is an instance of unfair labour practice or victimisation. If the dismissal is correct, undoubtedly it is on the workman to prove that his discharge was in such circumstances as to justify an intervention by the Industrial Courts. But when both parties adduce evidence the question of onus ceases to be anything but academic. In such cases the question of onus need not be pressed too far.

Tangible evidence of unfair labour practice is not possible. In all cases of unfair labour practice and victimisation, attempts are made by the employers to make out an apparent "cause". We are to find out whether the apparent cause is the real cause. If the apparent cause is found to have been not the real cause but to have been ascribed with some ulterior motive, it is undoubtedly an instance of unfair labour practice or victimisation. To arrive at a correct conclusion on this point some outward manifestations of the feelings of the employers should be taken into account. I enumerate some of these outward manifestations which I consider may be relevant for the purpose of the present enquiry :—

- (1) Discrimination between workers.
- (2) Singling out Union leaders or members.
- (3) Anti-Union statement made at the time of discharge or shortly prior thereto.
- (4) Relative significance of the alleged infraction.
- (5) Whether others ever committed the same infraction without similarly being punished to the extent of discharge.
- (6) Failure without explanation to introduce specific evidence in support of a general accusation or reason for discharge or to call witnesses who have personal knowledge of the basis of denial.
- (7) Failure of the employer to hold an investigation.
- (8) Failure to afford an employee the opportunity to defend himself.
- (9) Uneven application of the Company's rule.

It has been accepted generally that before an employee is discharged, he should be given an opportunity to meet the charges brought against him and to defend himself. He should be given an opportunity to examine witnesses for himself and to cross-examine the adversary's witnesses. This is based on the principle of natural justice. The principle of natural justice is an equitable principle, and equity demands this principle to be followed in domestic Tribunals. In the case of Gouri Ambala and others versus G. S. Mill, Ltd., reported in Industrial Court Reporter, 1949, at page 1.

Justice K. C. Sen set aside an order passed against some employees as proper and illegal on the ground that no opportunity had been given to them to explain the circumstances alleged against them. A similar view was taken by Mr. Justice Sen in the case of Walchand Nagar Industries, Ltd. versus Shripat Vithal Jadhav, reported in the same Reporter at page 8.

Reference has been made to instances of past misconduct of some of these workmen. Without expressing myself on the merit of such misconduct, I may safely say that a past offence which has been condoned cannot be made ground for dismissal. But when a workman commits a new offence, his past offences may be taken into account in assessing the punishment.

I shall now take up the cases of six discharged workmen one after another.

Gomti Kahar.

He was an employee in the Despatch Department and was in service about three years. Gomti Kahar is alleged to have been guilty of subordination, insolence and gross misconduct. He is alleged to have refused to obey the instruction of his immediate superior Sri S. C. Ganguly and to have refused to work. The Union's case is that Gomti Kahar was discharged under a vague charge of insubordination, insolence and misconduct, as he had refused to dissociate with the Union at the instance of the General Works Manager, Pandit G. P. Misra. On 4th April 1950 he was charged with refusal to work and disobedience to the instruction of Sri S. C. Ganguly. He was asked to explain his conduct within three days. From the evidence we find that one Sriram Pande was similarly charged and was similarly called upon to explain his conduct. The charge against Gomti Kahar is Ext. D. It was made clear in the charge-sheet in the event of his explanation being not satisfactory, strict disciplinary action would be taken against him. He submitted his explanation to the charge and assuring unqualified obedience to his superior officers. On this explanation, it was suggested that the charge was the result of Gomti Kahar's refusal to sever connection with the Union as requested by the General Works Manager, a few days before the alleged incident. Ext. D(1) is the explanation. It is dated 7th April 1950. No date was fixed for enquiry to the knowledge of Gomti Kahar nor was any enquiry made to his knowledge. The uncorroborated testimony of Sri P. N. Chakrabarti that he made an enquiry cannot be believed. Even if any enquiry had been made, it was made in the absence of Gomti Kahar who had no opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses examined for the Company or to adduce evidence. He had no opportunity to disprove the charge and to defend himself. If any enquiry had been made in the absence of Gomti Kahar, it was against the principle of natural justice. There is nothing on the record to show what complaint Sri S. C. Ganguly had made against Gomti Kahar. The charge of insubordination was vague. It was not specifically mentioned what order he disobeyed and when. The sworn testimony of Gomti Kahar is that both Pandit G. P. Misra and Sri S. C. Ganguly had asked him to leave the Union and that he had refused and that he had been threatened with unfavourable consequences. Sri S. C. Ganguly is not produced before the Tribunal to dispute the allegation nor had Pandit G. P. Misra who has been watching the proceedings before the Tribunal the moral courage to appear before the Tribunal as a witness to deny the allegation made against him. Gomti Kahar was discharged on 11th April 1950 by the letter No. 15. The explanation was considered unsatisfactory and allegations in the explanation were said to have been false and scurrilous.

Much was made of the explanation of Sriram Pande which has been marked Ext. C(1). The evidence is that Sriram Pande was served with a charge-sheet similar to Ext. D and that he got an explanation drafted by P. W. 3 Rajani Kanta Deb Nath similar to Ext. D(1). Subsequently, he thought it wise to shift the responsibility for the alleged incident to Gomti Kahar and to seek favour of the management. This has been amply proved by the sworn testimonies of Gomti Kahar and Rajani Deb Nath. Since Sri S. C. Ganguly was present in the court-room when these witnesses were being examined, he is still in service. Neither the management nor Sriram Pande had the courage to deny the allegations made against him by Gomti Kahar. On the evidence before me I cannot but hold that Gomti Kahar was discharged on a false and vague charge without any enquiry, without any opportunity to Gomti Kahar to disprove the charge and to defend himself simply because he did not comply with the directions of the General Works Manager. Sri S. C. Ganguly to sever all connection with the Union. All these letters, Exts. D and D(1), were over the signatures of Pandit G. P. Misra. I cannot avoid responsibility for the contents of the letter. I cannot conceive of a graver instance of unfair labour practice. Almost all the other manifestations of unfair labour practice already enumerated are found in the dismissal of Gomti Kahar. He is still unemployed. I am entitled to reinstatement without any loss for the period he has been unemployed by the unfair labour practice of Pandit G. P. Misra.

Deo Narain Mistry and Babulal Mourya.

The cases of these two workmen are based on the same set of facts and are taken up by me together for discussion for the sake of convenience.

Deo Narain Mistry who had put in 15 years' service was the Head Mistry of the Roller Department and Babulal Mourya was second in charge of the Roller Department next to Deo Narain had put in only 12 years' service. They were brothers. Babulal was for some time a member of the Executive Committee of the Union. He is said to have since been elected as Vice-President. There are several sets of rollers, each set consisting of two rollers. The Roller Department was being worked into two shifts, Deo Narain being in charge of the first shift and Babulal of the second shift. A Shift Register maintained by the Company indicate the following hours.—

First Shift or A Shift—7 a.m. to 1 p.m., 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Second Shift or B Shift—1 p.m. to 3 p.m., 5 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The evidence is that these working hours were not in practice adhered to. Shift works from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 12 noon to 4 p.m. And B shift works from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. This is proved by the sworn testimonies of Deo Narain, Babulal and Tufani. Tufani is still in service. He says that working hours of the two shifts have been as stated by Deo Narain and Babulal from before and that no change has as yet been made. Exhibits 18 and 18(a) are the extracts from the Shift Registers. These show that Deo Narain and Babulal there were 20 ordinary workers for the Rolling Department and that these twenty were equally divided for the two shifts. From the evidence of Babulal, Deo Narain and Tufani, which has not been contradicted by any competent witness on the side of the Company, we get that generally 16 workers were present daily; and that of these 16 workers 12 were employed for the A shift and 4 for the B shift. On any particular day there was further deficiency, the deficiency was made up from the Time Office and in the event of the Time Office failing to make up the deficiency, all workers including Babulal were employed for the A shift. We find from the Attendance Register that on the 29th May 1950 only 11 of the ordinary workers were present, 5 of whom were entered in the Shift Register for A shift and 6 for B shift. The evidence shows that Pandit G. P. Misra directed Deo Narain and Babulal to run the rollers with three workers for each set of rollers. When this order was communicated to the workers they refused. On Deo Narain's insisting, this order was made in writing (Ext. E). The sworn testimony of Deo Narain and Babulal is that this was reported to the General Works Manager. Deo Narain says on oath that he reported the matter to the General Works Manager and told him specifically that if the deficiency in the workers were made up from other departments he would be compelled to stop the B shift. As Deo Narain did not get a favourable reply, he employed all workers for the A shift from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 12 noon to 4 p.m. The working hours for the A shift were not changed. On 29th May 1950 the working hours were as before. The Company has not examined any competent witness to prove that the working hours for the A shift were changed only on 29th May 1950 for the first time. If the working hours for the A shift had been changed by Deo Narain and Babulal, the change was made not on 29th May 1950 but much earlier. According to the terms of the charge-sheet the enquiry should be whether the working hours were changed on or after 29th May 1950. If the working hours had been changed earlier, the presumption is that the change had the sanction of the management. Attention was invited to section 58 of the Indian Factories Act, 1948, which prohibits overlapping shifts. In the present case we are not concerned whether such overlapping shifts as were in force in the Roller Department of the R. B. S. Jain Rubber Mills was punishable under the Factories Act, and when these were made and who were responsible for them. The fact remains that the overlapping shifts existed from before the date on which the offence is alleged to have been committed by Deo Narain and Babulal. My attention has also been invited to sections 61, 62, 63 and 92 of the Factories Act, and rule 81 of the rules framed by the Government of West Bengal under the Act. The Manager is to display a notice of daily period of works for the department groups of adults work in a factory and to maintain a register of workers indicating therein the particular shift or group for which an individual worker is to be employed. This is what sections 61 and 62 lay down. Section 63 prohibits employment of any worker except according to the notice and the entry in the register against his name. Section 92 provides punishment for breach of any of the provisions of the Act. If we refer to the form prescribed under section 61, it will be clear that notice to be displayed under this section is to show in the abstract, the workings of different shifts or groups without mentioning the individual workers employed for different shifts. The details of individual workers are to be entered in the register to be maintained under section 62. Under section 63 the workers are even prohibited from working in contravention of the notice under section 61 and the entries in the register under section 62. If really the workers of the shift B worked for the shift A and if really Deo Narain and Babulal employed them in this way in the direction of the Manager, the workers themselves and Deo Narain and Babulal were punishable under section 97 of the Factories Act. In the present circumstances the Manager would be exonerated. We are not, however, concerned with this aspect of the case.

As I have already mentioned that there was a reference under Government order No. 170Lab., dated the 11th January 1950, and the award which followed was published under Government order No. 4733Lab., dated the 25th August 1950. On the relevant date that is on 29th June 1950, the proceedings before the Tribunal were pending. Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, has since been amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, which came into force on the 20th May 1950. Section 33 as amended prohibits alteration of conditions of service to the prejudice of the workmen concerned in a dispute during the pendency of conciliation proceedings or proceedings before a Tribunal in respect of a dispute. All the workers of the Rubber Mills were concerned with the dispute under adjudication under Government order No. 1170Lab., dated the 11th January 1950. The evidence is that from the start of the dispute 4 workers were employed for each set of rollers. This was the working condition prevalent in the Mills prior to 29th May 1950. The workers refused to work at three for each set of rollers on the ground that the work was tedious and risky. Prior to 29th May 1950, two workers were employed for a time for a set of rollers. After they had worked for some time they were replaced by two others and they were employed for incidental works like picking up the waste, cleansing the same for feeding the roller machine, oiling the machine and cooking the rubber on stoves. If three workers were employed for each set of rollers undoubtedly the strain would considerably increase. This is undoubtedly changing the working conditions of the workers and hence their service conditions. This change if carried out would have exposed the Manager to penalties under the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950. That was an illegal order, and if the workers refused to carry out an illegal order they cannot be punished. The workers were adamant and would not work at less than four for each set of rollers. This is clear from Evidence A and J. Apart from the legal bar under section 33 of the amended Act, even if any one was punishable it was the ordinary workers who would never be punishable as directed by the General Works Manager and not Deo Narain and Babulal whose duties were only to make the workers work and supervise their work. The arrangement made by Deo Narain and Babulal when the workers refused to work at three for each set of rollers might at best be punished.

under section 97 of the Factories Act, but on a careful scrutiny I find that the arrangement was to the benefit of the Industry. Five workers of A shift and 6 workers of the B shift were present on 29th May 1950. If they had been employed for the respective shifts for which they were earmarked one worker of the A shift and 2 workers of the B shift would have to sit idle and only two sets of rollers would have been run. But for the arrangement the services of all the 11 ordinary workers and Babulal, in all 12 were utilised for the A shift. By this arrangement three sets of rollers were run. This arrangement was made for the interest of the industry. And there was no mala fide on the part of either Deo Narain or Babulal in working out this arrangement.

The sworn testimonies of Deo Narain and Babulal are that the fact that the workers had refused to work at three for each set of rollers was reported to the General Works Manager. That this was reported is also mentioned in the explanation of Deo Narain and Babulal (Ext. E(2)). In the letter, Ext. E(4), by which these two workmen were discharged, this was stated. Pandit G. P. Misra had not the moral courage to appear before the Tribunal to deny this statement on oath. I cannot but believe that the matter was duly reported to Pandit G. P. Misra. He did not make any arrangement obviously with the object of seeing how the work was carried on. The motive was apparently to find out some opportunity to catch hold of Deo Narain and Babulal. If really Deo Narain and Babulal had worked both the shifts who knows that Pandit G. P. Misra would not have accused them for allowing three workers in the two shifts to sit idle. Pandit G. P. Misra ought to have been grateful to Deo Narain and Babulal for saving him from the penalty to which he exposed himself by his order, and for the arrangement which was to the best advantage of the Industry at their own risk. This moral consideration did not weigh with Pandit G. P. Misra. When he was prevented from committing an offence under section 33(a) he committed an offence under section 33(b) in discharging Deo Narain and Babulal in contravention of section 33(b). This order of dismissal was illegal. It cannot be upheld either in law or in facts. The General Works Manager did not consider it fit to hold an enquiry as to whether the workers had really refused to act according to his direction. This is also another instance of gross unfair labour practice.

Babulal appears to have been charged on the 11th May 1950 for wasting time by moving about here and there and holding a meeting during working hours in the Cab-Tyre Packing Department. He was warned. We need not enquire whether Babulal was guilty of any such offence. Even assuming that Babulal committed an offence on the 11th May 1950 that offence had been condoned, and as I have already said that a condoned offence cannot be made a ground for dismissal. It may at best be taken into account in assessing the punishment provided a fresh offence is committed. As no fresh offence had been committed by Babulal, the condoned offence as evidenced by Ext. F has no value. In the circumstances both Deo Narain and Babulal are entitled to reinstatement without any loss for the period they were kept out of employment.

Sri P. N. Chakbast says that he made an enquiry in respect of the charges against Deo Narain and Babulal of one Rambadan Singh. Rambadan Singh was one of the signatories of Exts. E and J, which clearly indicate that Rambadan was one of those workers who had objected to work at three for each set of rollers. Rambadan has not been produced before me. After the discharge of Babulal and Deo Narain, he has been placed in charge of the Roller Department. Even if any enquiry was made, it was made in the absence of Deo Narain and Babulal.

We are not very much concerned with the present system of work. Nor are we concerned with the question whether it is practicable to run the rollers with three men for each set. The fact remains that by the change sought to be introduced, the Works Manager intended to increase the strain of the workers and thereby changed the working conditions during the pendency of the last adjudication proceedings. We get from Tufani that the workers are being made to work at three per set of rollers under a threat of dismissal. There is no denial on this point. Thus it is clear that some have been promoted and some have been threatened with dismissal and that this is the way how the work is being done now.

Chandrabali Sukla.

He had put in about 9 years' service when he was discharged on the 3rd June 1950. He was in charge of the Rana Handloom Department. In November 1949, 20 lungis were prepared in the Handloom Department. Eighteen of these were sold to the workers and Rs. 45 were realised. This was on 7th November 1949. On the same day the General Works Manager Pandit G. P. Misra took two lungis, the price whereof was Rs. 5. Chandrabali prepared one cash memo for the 20 lungis. The sworn testimony of Chandrabali is that he approached Atarchand Jain for his signature on the Cash Memo. We get from the evidence on record that Rs. 15 which had been realised from the workers were tendered to the cashier but the cashier refused to accept the money on the grounds that the cash memo was not signed by the Manager and that the amount tendered was Rs. 5 less. The cashier could accept the money if the full amount of the cash memo was tendered and if the cash memo was signed by the Manager. After Sri A. C. Jain refused to sign the cash memo on the ground that he did not know the price, Chandrabali approached the Store-Keeper for getting the cash memo signed by the Manager. The store keeper Sheobachan Choubey who is still in service has not been examined to deny the sworn testimony of Chandrabali. Sri A. C. Jain has not also been examined. Sri A. C. Jain is the brother-in-law of the proprietor Mahabir Prosad Jain. Although officially he was not assigned any specific office, he used to sign the chalans, vouchers and to look into the accounts. Chandrabali applied for leave for one month with effect from 24th May 1950. The application is dated 22nd May 1950. The leave was granted on the very day the application was submitted and Chandrabali was directed to make over charge of the accounts of the Handloom Department. This is evidenced by Ext. G(3). On the 31st May 1950 he was called upon to explain his failure to deposit the amount of Rs. 50 as per cash memo No. 41 (Ext. G). Chandrabali submitted his explanation on the very day. Exhibit G(1) is the explanation. It was made clear in this explanation that Rs. 5 was due from Pandit G. P. Misra on account of two lungis, and that he had approached Sri A. C. Jain in the matter, but that he had refused to sign the cash memo saying that he had no knowledge of the matter. On the 3rd June 1950 he was discharged on the allegation that his explanation was unsatisfactory; and that he had made allegation against Sri A. C. Jain that he had refused to sign the cash memo in question. The evidence is that Chandrabali is always ready to deposit the amount lying with him. Exhibit G(2) is the letter by which Chandrabali was discharged. In it, it was suggested that Chandrabali should have approached either the General Manager or the General Works Manager to get signature on the cash memo. This was undoubtedly a lach on the part of Chandrabali. But it might be that he considered the General Manager and the General Works Manager too high for him and might have felt shy to approach them. In the circumstances of the present case, the aches were not such as would warrant the extreme punishment of dismissal. It was suggested at the hearing that Chandrabali should have prepared two separate cash memos, one for the lungis sold to Pandit G. P. Misra and the other for those sold to the workers. Chandrabali had not the foresight to see that the General Works Manager would withhold his dues so long. If Chandrabali failed to deposit the money, Pandit G. P. Misra's contribution to this failure cannot be ignored. If Chandrabali was guilty of a temporary misappropriation, Pandit G. P. Misra could pause and think whether he was not equally guilty. His high position makes the offence more serious. Exemption might be claimed by the members of the Proprietor's family but not by General Works Manager. When Pandit G. P. Misra was a party to the transaction it was no less a duty of his to adjust the accounts at the earliest possible moment. In these circumstances, I cannot uphold the order of dismissal of Chandrabali. Besides, Chandrabali was dismissed on the 3rd June 1950 when the adjudication proceedings started under the West Bengal Government order No. 170lab., dated the 11th January 1950, were pending. By that time the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, prohibiting dismissal of workmen during pendency of adjudication proceedings without the permission of the Tribunal had come into force. In this view of the case the order of dismissal was bad in law, no permission of this Tribunal having been sought or obtained for this action of the management. This illegal order cannot be upheld.

Before I proceed to discuss the cases of Sheopujan Singh and Narsing Singh, I should do well to find out if the explanations of Gomti Kahar, Deo Narain, Babulal and Chandrabali contained any allegations against the management which might by themselves warrant the extreme penalty of dismissal. I may note that a protest against the abuses of the superior officers does not justify any punishment whatsoever. In the order of discharge of Gomti Kahar (Ext. 15) it was stated that the explanation contained a false and scurrilous allegation against the management. The relevant extract from the explanation of Gomti Kahar [Ext. D(1)] is quoted below:—

"From the above letter it has been observed that such threatening letters are being issued in the different names only to those persons who have not yet tendered their resignation from the Union on your indication."

Gomti Kahar had the courage to vouch the truth of this statement on oath before this Tribunal. But neither Pandit G. P. Misra nor Sri S. C. Ganguly had the courage to deny it before this Tribunal on oath. The allegations have been proved to be true. Babulal and Deo Narain stated in their joint explanation [Ext. E(2)]—

"It is really strange and it appears that you want to make some disturbance before receiving the Tribunal award. We do not understand why you are making such alterations in the work when the question was put up before the Judge while he was here on visit."

The truth of this statement has also been proved but still Pandit G. P. Misra would insist that the statement was impertinent. In Ext. G(2), Chandrabali was charged to have made allegations against Sri A. C. Jain that he had refused to sign the cash memo in question. The allegations stand un rebutted when Sri A. C. Jain did not appear to swear against this statement.

Sheopujan Singh.

He had put in 15 years' service in the Company. He was a member of the Executive Committee. He was discharged on the 17th April 1950. A charge-sheet was drawn up against him on the 11th April 1950. The charges were—

- (1) Not taking hessian from the Tube Finishing section in spite of the direction of the management and delaying packing for more than four hours.
- (2) For not writing forwarding notes and chalang in proper time causing thereby a considerable loss to the Company.
- (3) For not supervising properly the work of the workers of his section and not supplying work to them in proper way and thereby causing the Company financial loss.

Ext. A is a copy of the charge-sheet. The detailed circumstances are quoted below:—

"On 5th April 1950 you reported that you had no hessian to pack the goods to be despatched the same day. At 9-30 a.m. you were asked to take it from Tube Finishing Section but you did not take the same and said that it was not in stock and you will not be able to start packing work unless new hessian was purchased. Accordingly the work was delayed up to 2 p.m. when the management found that a sufficient quantity of hessian was available in stock in Tube Finishing Section which was known to you. The management is therefore convinced that you deliberately delayed the work on false pretext.

Besides this you started writing the forwarding notes and chalan only after the goods were loaded in the lorry.

It is also found that you keep men working with you generally misplaced in the day and put them on work only at the close of the factory hours so that management may have to pay overtime to get the day's job finished by the day."

The charge-sheet is alleged to have been tendered to Sheo Pujan but to have been refused by him. There is no evidence worth the name to prove the factum of tender to and refusal by Sheo Pujan. It was suggested that one Badri, a Peon of the Company, is a member of the Union but there is no evidence that Badri was ever deputed to tender the notice or that Sheo Pujan had refused to accept the notice. On 14th April 1950 Sheo Pujan was again called upon to explain why he had refused to accept the charge-sheet. In the first charge-sheet he was called upon to explain the charges within two days and in the second charge-sheet he was called upon to explain the charge within 24 hours. He was put under suspension with effect from 14th April. These are Exts. A and A(1). A(1) is also alleged to have been tendered to but refused by Sheo Pujan. There is also no definite evidence of tender to and refusal by Sheo Pujan of this charge sheet. Sheo Pujan's evidence is that on the 14th April when he was coming out of the Mills he noticed two notices on the notice-board. He could not prepare copies from the notices on the notice-board. He went to the Labour Commissioner's office and copied the letters from the file of the Labour Commissioner. On the 15th April 1950 Sheopujan addressed a letter to the Assistant Labour Commissioner stating that the charge brought against him by letters, dated the 11th and 14th April, were false and baseless. He made certain allegations against Pandit G. P. Misra. The allegations were: "Sri G. P. Misra has determined to destroy the Union and to declare lock-out by discharging some certain Union leaders in duration of the Tribunal and such letters are being issued only to those persons who have not yet tendered their resignation from the Union on his indication. I surprise to see the present attitude of Mr. Misra who wants to make disturbance among the workers in duration of the Tribunal by several unfair means. It is therefore requested that such practice be immediately stopped for the interests of the Industrial peace." Sheo Pujan also disputed the authority of Pandit G. P. Misra to issue such charge-sheet. The statement is Ext. A(2). A copy of this statement appears to have been sent to the Manager, R. B. S. Jain Rubber Mills, and this copy has been filed by the Company before me. By the letter Ext. B, dated the 17th April 1950, Sheo Pujan was discharged. It was alleged in this letter that enquiries were made by the Management. I do not think that Sheo Pujan had any interest in refusing the charge-sheets when they were tendered to him. It also appears that the management did not care to fix a date of enquiry in the charge-sheets which are alleged to have been tendered to Sheo Pujan. Obviously the management had no intention to make any enquiry in his presence. Sheo Pujan is an important member of the Union. This cannot be denied. The management ought to have produced before me the evidence which it considered before the final order was passed. But the evidence has not been produced. About the first charge, the management could have produced the stock accounts of the Tube Finishing Department to show that on 5th April 1950 there was hessian in the Tube Finishing Department for packing goods. The accounts have not been produced before me for reasons not known. The management ought to have also examined competent witnesses before whom Sheo Pujan is alleged to have refused to take hessian from the Tube Finishing Department. Then about the second charge, Gomti Kahar's evidence stands un rebutted. He says that before despatch chalang were prepared and then lorries are loaded. This is the practice as Mr. Chakbast says. The second charge has thus been positively disproved. About the third charge the management should have produced before me evidence about the quantum of work a worker usually does and the quantum of work a worker did during Sheo Pujan's time to show that the management had to pay overtime allowance to the workers for the normal quantum of work. Assuming that Sheopujan refused to accept the charge-sheet and to explain the charges, it was incumbent on the management to be satisfied about the truth of the charges before any punishment was inflicted on the worker charged. In this particular case the management got Sheopujan's explanation in the letter addressed to the Labour Commissioner, a copy whereof was forwarded to the management. This was before the final order was passed. It really the management had any bona fide it would have fixed the date for the enquiry and attempted to give Sheo Pujan an intimation about the date. No such step was taken.

About the allegation in the letter Ext. A(2) that Pandit G. P. Misra was proceeding against those persons who have not severed connection with the Union as directed by him has been amply proved in the case of Gomti Kahar. Pandit G. P. Misra does not come forward to deny the allegation made in Ext. A(2). Sheopujan has not been discharged for disputing the authority of Pandit G. P. Misra. Still I am inclined to look into the question with a view to decide whether Sheopujan is entitled to be reinstated. It may be noted that workers were agitating for a long time for the removal of Pandit G. P. Misra. Feelings between Pandit G. P. Misra and the workers had become so very strained that the workers repeated the demands more than once. By a letter, dated 19th June 1947 Sri Kailash Chandra Jain was appointed Assistant Works Manager to deal exclusively with labour. It was made clear in the order that the arrangement was by no means the creation of dual management. Before Sri S. C. Chakrabartty this demand was renewed. But the management representing that Pandit G. P. Misra was not in touch with Labour, the learned Adjudicator refused the demand. The observation of the learned Adjudicator is quoted below:—

“The Union demands that ‘Pandit G. P. Misra, General Work Manager, should go in the interest of the industry and industrial peace. It is evident that the workers and the General Manager had not been pulling on well. On the 19th June 1947, the proprietor distributed work between Pandit G. P. Misra and Mr. Kailash C. Jain. By this arrangement Pandit G. P. Misra does not come in contact with labour. I cannot understand how the Union can now complain against Pandit G. P. Misra, unless it is for some other reasons. I could understand that he (President of the Union) was nursing a grievance against Pandit G. P. Misra. Pandit G. P. Misra is not in touch with labour and I do not think any reasonable grievance can now be made against him. The demand is refused.”

After some time Kailash Chandra Jain went away and Pandit G. P. Misra dealt with labour matters again. The workers again agitated the demand. The matter went up to the Labour Commissioner for conciliation. On the 14th April, there was an agreement on this point [Ext. I(14)]. The relevant term of agreement was “Management agree to take necessary steps to minimise the friction between the Manager G. P. Misra and the workers”. In pursuance of this agreement a notice was issued by the General Manager Sri J. P. Gupta under which Sri J. P. Gupta and one Sri Hulash Chandra Jain were to attend the Factory and workers were advised to put their applications for advances, etc., before either of them. Workers were requested to try to create an atmosphere of goodwill and to forget the past. The notice is Ext. I(15). This was approved by the Union by a letter, Ext. I(16). Prior to this agreement, General Manager authorised Pandit G. P. Misra to exercise the authorities which had been exercised by Sri K. C. Jain. This was on the 6th July 1948 (Ext. 20). There is nothing to show as Sri J. P. Gupta says that this notice was forwarded to the Union. In any case this notice was superseded by the agreement and by the notice issued in pursuance of the agreement. This agreement has not as yet been superseded by another agreement. Mr. Chakbast was appointed some time in December 1949. The Union wanted to know the significance of the appointment by the letter, Ext I [27(a)]. This was on the 17th December 1949. By a notice, dated 19th December 1949, the duties of Mr. Chakbast were notified. He was to look to labour welfare and to recommend sickness leave, suspense, advances, leave, hours of work and sanitation. Nothing was said that Pandit G. P. Misra was vested with the final authority in these matters. The agreement still stands. If Mr. Chakbast has only recommendatory duty, it was Sri J. P. Gupta alone who was only competent to deal with labour matters. Thus Pandit G. P. Misra had no authority to deal with labour matters. Pandit G. P. Misra has been reported to the Inspector of Factories as the Works Manager under the Factories Act. He might be appointed so. But he was not vested with any authority to deal with labour matters in which labours were affected. Hence the allegations against Pandit G. P. Misra in Sheopujan's letter was a truth and does not justify the extreme penalty that has been inflicted on him. He is thus entitled to reinstatement. Sheopujan appears to have been warned on a previous occasion for his absence as evidenced by Ext. B(1). I need not enter into an enquiry into the truth of the charges made against Sheopujan in this letter. Sheopujan was warned and the matter was disposed of. It could have some significance if Sheopujan had committed a fresh offence which he had not.

Narsingh Singh.

He was appointed in 1938 as an ordinary worker. He was gradually promoted to the office of Relation Officer. He is the President of the Union. Sri J. P. Gupta knows him personally. He worked for some time at Benaras and Gaya and was in charge of the godown and depots of Messrs. R. B. S. Jain Rubber Mills there. He was wanted at Calcutta, presumably on account of his efficiency, as evidenced by letter, Ext. I. Sri J. P. Gupta's estimate of Narsingh Singh is that during labour negotiation, Narsingh Singh was always found good and that he is not aware of any complaint against Narsingh Singh. Sri J. P. Gupta does not remember if Narsingh Singh ever made any complaint about advances. Narsingh Singh complained several times against Pandit G. P. Misra on behalf of the workers. Thus it is clear from the evidence of Sri J. P. Gupta that the grievances which Sri Narsingh Singh ventilated against Pandit G. P. Misra were on behalf of the workers, whom he represented as President of the Union. But Sri J. P. Gupta suggests that Narsingh Singh fell out with Pandit G. P. Misra over advances. The circumstances are according to him as follows: Narsingh Singh wanted some advances. Pandit G. P. Misra wanted to deduct the previous advances and asked Narsingh Singh how the previous amounts were to be deducted. Narsingh Singh went home and since he returned all this golmal started. According to Sri J. P. Gupta the trouble over Narsingh Singh's advance started in 1947, and that the difficulty about giving Narsingh Singh an advance was talked of before the agreement, Ext. I(14), dated 14th February 1949. According to Sri Gupta this difficulty was at the basis of this agreement. But there is no satisfactory corroborative evidence on this point. On the other hand, a resolution appears to have been passed by the Union under the Presidentship of Bidyasankar Doubey on 5th February 1949 demanding that Sri Mahabir Prasad might be kept at a distance from Pandit Misra lest the former should develop anti-labour feelings, at the instigation of Pandit Misra. This is Ext. I(10). On the 10th February, one Maharaj Ahir, a worker of the Chemical Department, was alleged to have been assaulted by Mahabir Prasad. This was reported to the Superintendent of Police in pursuance of a resolution of the workers in a meeting held under the Presidency of Sri Akshoy Kumar Ghosh. These are Exts. I(11) to I(13). Copies of the resolution and the letters appear to have been sent to the Assistant Labour Commissioner. Immediately after this the agreement, Ext. I(14), dated 14th February 1949, was entered into. Having regard to the proximity of the alleged incident to the agreement, the irresistible presumption is that the unhappy incident as reported to the Superintendent of Police by Ext. I(11) was at the basis of the agreement. It is clear from the notice, Ext. I(15), by which Sri H. C. Jain and the General Manager Sri J. P. Gupta were to deal with labour matters exclusively, that the notice was the result of the agreement, I(15). In December 1948, Narsingh Singh applied for leave and some advance out of his pay. On the application, the Cashier reported that Rs. 526-2-3 was due from him, and that he had said that he had worked at so many places and that he had suffered too much due to flood. The Cashier further submitted that the General Works Manager Pandit Misra might deduct the money after consultation with Bhaiyaji. Pandit G. Misra appears to have talked to Narsingh Singh on this point and he was given to understand that deduction would be made after his return from home. Pandit Misra directed that Rs. 50 might be paid to him on suspense account. This is evidenced by Ext. 8 series. On 27 August 1949, Narsingh Singh appears to have addressed a letter to the General Manager to settle the accounts. This is Ext. 1(25). In the letter, Narsingh Singh says that he personally met the General Manager several times and talked about the accounts. There was nothing untoward on the part of Narsingh Singh in this connection.

By a letter, dated 1st March 1950, Ext. I, Narsingh Singh applied for one month's leave from 2nd March 1950 on the ground of ill health as also on the ground that he was wanted at home to attend Holika. The evidence is that this letter was handed over to Sri Chakbast by Sheopujan. In the written statement of the Union, it was stated that leave was applied for from 1st March 1950. This was obviously a mistake. Narsingh Singh's evidence is that he had a talk with Sri Chakbast on the 1st March 1950 and that he was given to understand that leave would be granted. He left Calcutta for Hooghly on his way home, handing over the application for leave, Ext. I, to Sheopujan to be presented by him before Sri Chakbast. Sheopujan's evidence is that the letter was handed over to Sri Chakbast on the 2nd March and Sri Chakbast said that it was alright. From what Sri Chakbast is alleged to have said to Sheopujan the latter could understand that the leave would be granted. He accordingly communicated the information to Narsingh Singh at Hooghly. Sri Chakbast's evidence is that the application for leave was presented on the 1st of March 1950 on which date Narsingh Singh had attended his work. This application is alleged to have been presented before him after 12 noon. Sri Chakbast said that he enquired of Sheopujan as to why Narsingh Singh had not presented the application himself. To this Sheopujan is alleged to have told him that Narsingh Singh had fallen ill and had gone home. If really Narsingh Singh had left his work immediately after 12 noon he would have been marked half present. But the Attendance Register shows that Narsingh Singh worked the full day. Finding no other way to explain away the entry in the Attendance Register, Sri Chakbast went so far to say that Narsingh Singh had slipped away without the notice of the management. I wonder how Sri Chakbast who was in charge of labour could say so in the teeth of his own evidence that Sheopujan had told him after 12 noon that Narsingh Singh had gone home. If Narsingh Singh had done so, it would undoubtedly be dishonesty and this was sufficient to warrant a severe punishment on Narsingh Singh. The clerk in charge of the Attendance Register has not been examined. The less I discuss on this point the better for Sri Chakbast. I cannot believe Sri Chakbast in preference to the entry in the Attendance Register made by the Time-Keeper. This story was invented only to prove the absurdity of what Narsingh Singh had said about the talk in connection with his leave. This false story invented by Sri Chakbast lends weight to what Narsingh Singh had said on this point. Narsingh Singh could have no evidence to corroborate what he had said, for at the time of the talk no one else appears to have been present, but the false story invented by Sri Chakbast proves the story. Sri Chakbast's evidence is that he had told Sheopujan that leave was due to Narsingh Singh and that Narsingh Singh should return. According to him he clearly told Sheopujan that the leave applied for would not be granted. But no such endorsement was made on the application for leave. The explanation is that as Pandit Misra was absent, the final order could not be passed. Several applications for leave have been placed before me, and I find that soon after the application was filed some order was passed on the applications themselves. I may refer to some of these, Exts. 8, 10, 10(a) and G (3). Even if the final order could not be passed on the ground of absence of Pandit Misra, there was no bar to Sri Chakbast endorsing on the application his own note. On the 5th March, police went to the labour quarters of the mills and enquired about Pandit Misra. Pandit Misra on his return enquired of the police the reasons. In reply the Officer-in-charge, Jally police-station, reported that Narsingh Singh, Sheopujan and some others were wanted in some criminal cases [Exts. 13 and 13(a)]. It was on the 9th March 1950 that Pandit Misra addressed a letter to Narsingh Singh calling upon him to return to duty within 7 days. Narsingh Singh intended to go home as indicated in the application for leave, Ext. 1. But his sworn testimony is that he fell ill and that he had repeated attacks of illness. Besides, some criminal cases were pending against him. It has been suggested for the workers that the criminal cases were started at the instance of the management. We need not enquire into these points. The fact remains that Narsingh Singh and Sheopujan surrendered before the Magistrate and were released on bail. No attempt appears to have been made by them to abscond or to avoid arrest. I am told that in all these criminal cases they have been acquitted. In these criminal cases Narsingh Singh filed some medical certificates to prove that he was ill from time to time. The copies of these certificates have been filed before me. We find that Narsingh Singh received a letter from home asking him to go home during the Holi. The letter is Ext. 1(23). The address of this letter is in the handwriting of Narsingh Singh. When this letter was tendered, I was inclined to believe that Narsingh Singh had written to his nephew in a reply card requesting him to go home. This suspicion of mine could not stand. The letter written by Narsingh Singh's nephew was on a post card on which is printed "Annexed card is intended for the answer". If really Narsingh Singh had written to his nephew in a reply card as suggested above, the post card which was used by his nephew would have been used by Narsingh Singh. Narsingh Singh's evidence is that he left some addressed post cards at home for use in case of urgency. He could not go home partly because he had repeated attacks of illness and partly because several criminal cases were pending against him. The mere fact that he could not go home does not prove any collusion between him and his nephew in respect of the letter, Ext. 1(23). The letter of Pandit Misra, dated the 9th March 1950, to Narsingh Singh was addressed to his home address. This could not be delivered to him and it was returned. A similar letter was sent to the labour quarters. This was also returned. We get from Sri Chakbast that he enquired about the whereabouts of Narsingh Singh. He got information that Narsingh Singh was somewhere in Calcutta but could not get his correct address. He should have enquired of Sheopujan, who carried the application of Narsingh Singh for leave, but he does not appear to have made such an enquiry. After this letter came back to the management undelivered, Pandit Misra issued a letter to Narsingh Singh addressed to his home as also to the Mill quarters fixing 20th March for enquiry. This letter is Ext. 14(c) and is dated 18th March. It will be seen that this letter was issued by registered post on the 20th March. It is clear that the management was trying to make a show of enquiry. If it was really issued on the 20th March it was physically impossible for Narsingh Singh to attend enquiry that was to be held on the 20th March. On the 20th March Pandit Misra addressed a letter to Narsingh Singh, in which it was stated that he was guilty of insubordination and indiscipline inasmuch as he deliberately violated Company's rules relating to attendance and leave. He was dismissed with effect from 2nd March 1950. This is Ext. 14(c). The sworn testimony of Sri Chakbast is that he had enquired and he had been told that Narsingh Singh had fallen ill and had gone home somewhere else without informing the Manager. But did he get a report that Narsingh Singh was not ill? From the Attendance Register we find that cases where question of leave of a worker was decided on his return after long absence are not rare. I may refer to cases of Ramdhan Lohar who had been absent and was marked "L" for the entire of April and May and he was absent almost the entire of March, the entire of April and May and one day in June. Rojhan Barai was absent from the 2nd March 1950 till the 1st of June 1950. He was marked "L". Rampragash Singh was absent from the 5th December 1949 to 21 March 1950. They were not discharged and they are still in service. During the financial year in question, Narsingh Singh was on medical leave for one day in November 1949. In December he was absent for 10 days and was not paid anything for the period of his absence. In January 1950 he was absent for 27 days and was not paid for the period of his absence. In February he was absent for 10 days and was not paid for the period of his absence. I fail to understand why Narsingh Singh who had been absent only for 52 days prior to 2nd March 1950 and had applied for one month's leave from the 2nd March 1950 was differently treated when cases who had been absent for a longer period were leniently dealt with. I also find an indecent haste in dealing with the case of Narsingh Singh. A date was fixed for enquiry but it was not intended that he should attend the enquiry. If no leave was due to Narsingh Singh under the rules and if really he was ill he could have been allowed leave without pay as many other workers had been allowed. This discrimination in the case of Narsingh Singh who happened to be President of the Union and was taking an active part against Pandit Misra on behalf of the workers is undoubtedly an instance of unfair labour practice. In these circumstances, I cannot uphold the dismissal of Narsingh Singh. He must be reinstated without any loss. The period of his absence covered by his applications for leave must be dealt according to the rules.

Some documents were put in to show how the workers were behaving under the leadership of Narsingh Singh. There was some trouble in 1946 over light refreshment during the Biswakarma Puja in 1946. This is evidenced by Ext. 4 series. The workers felt insulted and they refused to take any food distributed by the management. Narsingh Singh was not to blame. Besides, that has long been disposed of. And because of some such friction it was agreed that Pandit Misra would not deal with labour matters.

An attempt appears to have been made to make Narsingh Singh responsible for the stay in strike of the workers on the 20th April 1946. This is Ext. 3. This matter has long been dropped and cannot be re-agitated after a long series of conciliation proceedings and adjudication proceedings that have since been concluded. On 19th April 1946, Narsingh Singh was charged that he had left the work of measuring cable rolls entirely to the coolies which was to be done by himself as his predecessor had always done. This charge is no longer alive. Even if there had been any past lapses on the part of Narsingh Singh, these lapses had long been condoned. They do not by themselves warrant any punishment. They might be taken into account in assessing the punishment, when a fresh offence is committed. I was referred to an instance where Narsingh Singh would not apply to the management for permission to stay away. The Union sent Narsingh Singh as its representative to attend the Bombay Session of the I.N.T.U.C. held in Bombay from the 16th to 18th May 1948. The Secretary of the Union applied to the management for permission to Narsingh Singh to attend the session at Bombay. Pandit Misra held this under objection and insisted an application by Narsingh Singh personally. The absence of any such application was considered by Pandit Misra an instance of indiscipline. On a previous occasion the Union was invited to attend the marriage in the family of the Proprietors. Narsingh Singh was sent as the Union's representative. On this occasion also the Union Secretary applied for permission to Narsingh Singh to attend the marriage. In both these cases, Narsingh Singh was sent as a representative of the Union, and the Secretary of the Union applied to the management for necessary permission. I do not find any difference in the two cases. Pandit Misra will do well to pause a little to consider whether he was fair to insist on a personal application from Narsingh Singh for attending the Bombay Session of the I.N.T.U.C. as a delegate of the Union when no such application was insisted for attending the marriage in the Proprietor's family as a representative of the Union, which was not in the interest of the industry.

In the present case, the management should have held an enquiry against Narsingh Singh after his return from leave with due notice to him and with due opportunity being given to him to defend himself and to disprove the charge. No such step was taken. The management thus offended the principle of natural justice.

My finding is that all the six workmen have been discharged as an unfair labour practice and my direction is that all the six workers shall be reinstated to their former posts without any pecuniary loss, if they report themselves to the General Manager, Sri J. P. Gupta, within a week from the date of enforcement of this award. The period of absence of Narsingh Singh for leave and extension of leave from the 2nd March 1950 shall be dealt with according to the rules of the Company. Subject to this modification all the six workers shall be paid their basic pay and dearness allowance and all other allowances, if any, for the period of their respective unemployments, and shall be entitled to all benefits as if they had not been discharged. The period of unemployment on account of the unfair and illegal discharge orders shall be considered as duty on full pay and shall not affect the leave that was due to their credit at the time when they were discharged. In the event of default of any of the workers to report himself to the management as directed he shall lose all benefits under this award.

RESOLUTION No. 9031W.T.

Calcutta, the 13th December 1950.

In view of the existing deplorable conditions of the Bengal Provincial Railway and Barasat-Basirhat Light Railway, the State Government, in consultation with the Government of India, Ministry of Transport, have been considering the question of replacing the two railways by a suitable road transport. But as the establishment of such transport will take considerable time, the State Government consider that the existing means of rail communication would have to be continued for some time. It was, therefore, suggested to the Ministry of Transport, Government of India, that a high level Committee be appointed in Calcutta with adequate terms of reference to devise ways and means to rehabilitate the two railways in such a manner as to permit of at least three years of useful and efficient service while road construction goes on eventually to replace the railways.

2 The Ministry of Transport, Government of India, have since agreed to the formation of the aforesaid Committee. The constitution of the Committee will be as follows:—

Chairman.

The Hon'ble Chief Minister, West Bengal.

Members.

The Director, Railway Board (to be nominated by the Ministry of Railways and Transport).

The Deputy General Manager (Works), East
Indian Railway.

The Government Inspector of Railways.

Sri B. P. Singh Roy, Chairman, Board of Directors, Bengal Provincial Railway.

Sri B. C. Roy, Chairman, Board of Directors,
Barasat-Basirhat Light Railway.

Sri S. N. Chakravarty, Chief Engineer, Roads.

Sri N. K. Bose, retired Chief Mechanical Engineer, East Indian Railway.

Member-Secretary.

Sri N. C. Ghosh, State Transport Commissioner and ex-officio Secretary, Home (Transport) Department.

Joint Assistant Secretaries.

SRI H. L. Roy, General Manager, Barasat-Basirhat Light Railway.

SRI S. C. Bhattacharjya, Manager and Engineer, Bengal Provincial Railway.

3 The Committee will assemble at an early date and their investigation will have particular reference to the following subjects, namely:—

- (i) to examine the reports and data already available regarding these railways;
- (ii) to collect such other information as is considered necessary; and
- (iii) to record their conclusions from (i) and (ii) above as to the justification or otherwise of incurring further capital expenditure for rehabilitating the two lines, either for a long period or a short one.

Order.

Ordered that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette and that a copy be forwarded to the Ministry of Transport, Government of India, the members concerned, the Works and Buildings Department of this Government, the local administrations of the railways concerned for information.

By order of the Governor,
N. C. GHOSH, Secy.

THE SCHEDULE.

The Dasnagar Electricity Supply Corporation, Limited.

The area is bordered on the south by a line starting at point No. 1 at the inter-section of 88°17'18" eastern longitude from Greenwich and 22°36'6" northern latitude situated on the police-station Jagacha border line in the village area of Eksara. This point is 50 yards south of the Cart Road crossing that border line. The southern boundary follows in a distance of 50 yards to the north of the said Cart Road till it is reaching the Bengal Nagpur Railway line on its northern side, at a point No. 2 which lies on the inter-section of eastern longitude 88°18'15" and latitude 22°35'47". From here it follows the Bengal Nagpur Railway line on its northern side till a point where that is crossing the Jagacha police-station border at the point No. 3 at the inter-section of eastern longitude of 88°19'10" and northern latitude 22°35'53" this place lies within the village Sahampur.

From the said point the eastern side boundary is identical with the Jagacha police-station or new revenue unit border till a point No. 4A lying on the inter-section of eastern latitude 88°19'19" and northern latitude 22°36'15" from where it goes crossing direct north-east to the point of crossing of the Benares Road and Cart Road on the inter-section eastern longitude 88°19'17" and northern latitude 22°36'28" at a point No. 4 in the village Belgachia-Kismat. Thence the eastern border follows the Cart Road on its centre line till that Cart Road crosses the northern village border of Belgachia-Kismat at point No. 5 on the inter-section of eastern longitude 88°19'21" and northern latitude 22°36'48".

On the north the boundary is starting from the end point aforesaid, upon the eastern border; thence the boundary follows the Belgachia-Kismat village border till that joins the Jagacha police-station border at a point No. 6 at the inter-section of eastern longitude 88°19'6" and northern latitude 22°36'53". From this point onward it follows the new revenue unit boundary of Jagacha police-station till a point No. 7, 100 yards before that is reaching the Benares Road at a point lying at the inter-section of eastern longitude 88°18'41", northern latitude 22°36'56". From this point the northern border follows a line parallel to the Benares Road and at a distance of 100 yards to the north of the same till it is reaching the village border line of Eksara at the point No. 8 of the inter-section of eastern longitude 88°17'52" and northern latitude 22°37'33".

From this point onwards the northern boundary is identical with the south village border of Eksara till that is reaching the new revenue boundary of police-station Domjur at the point No. 9 of the inter-section of eastern longitude 88°17'31" and northern latitude 22°37'29".

Here the western border starts, that following all through the new revenue border of Domjur police-station (partly common with the new revenue boundary of Bally police-station and new revenue boundary of Jagacha police-station), till that again is reaching the point 50 yards south below the crossing of the Cart Road and the said new revenue border line at the starting point, i.e., at the inter-section of the eastern longitude 88°17'18", northern latitude 22°36'6" which is common point of the western and southern border points 1 and 10.

Subject:—Cess collections for other districts received but not remitted during the month—accounting procedure.

No. TM(Dep)/213. — 16th December 1950. — Attention of all Treasury Officers in West Bengal is invited to this office circular letter No. 248TM/Dep., dated the 24th March 1916, in terms of which cess collections for other districts received but not remitted during the month are hitherto being credited to the head "Suspense". It has now been decided by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India that such cess collections received but not remitted during the month should be credited to a separate detailed head of account under the head "Revenue Deposits" and that repayment of such credits, when made, should be treated as refund of deposits. It is accordingly hereby directed that receipts and payments on this account should with effect from the accounts for January 1951 be shown in the State Section of the Cash Account and List of Payments under a new detailed head "Cess Collections for other districts" to be opened under the head "Revenue Deposits" subordinate to the major head "Civil Deposits". Separate sets of receipt and repayment registers should be maintained in the treasury for these deposits exactly in the same way and in the same form as in the case of Revenue Deposits. Extract registers of receipts and repayments of these deposits should also be submitted to this office monthly in the form prescribed for Revenue Deposits in support of the credits and debits to be shown under the new detailed head in the Cash Account and List of Payments respectively.

2. It is also requested that the total cess collection for other districts received up to 31st December 1950 but not remitted on that date should be withdrawn by actual treasury transaction and credited to the head "Cess Collections for other districts" subordinate to the minor head "Revenue Deposits" in the accounts for January 1951, the debit being shown against the item "Cess Collections for other districts" under "Miscellaneous Debt and Remittances, etc." in the List of Payments. The full particulars of the amounts thus withdrawn should be shown on the reverse of the voucher. A separate statement showing the amounts transferred should also be sent to this office simultaneously immediately the transaction is passed through the treasury accounts.

3. The procedure outlined in paragraph 2 above may also be adopted in respect of the amounts of land revenue and cesses paid or deposited into the treasury in respect of tanzis borne on the revenue roll of East Bengal or West Bengal and having lands in both the estates which were being kept under "Suspense Accounts" under the orders of the Board of Revenue.

Notices were issued to both parties and they filed written statements.

The Union's case is as follows:—

The Company is a well known one and is one of the biggest mercantile firms in India. Since early part of 1949 the Company in its policy of expansion of business increased the strength of the Senior and Junior Grade workers and also the clerical staff in the Shipping Department. Nine out of ten clerks, the matter of whose discharge is under reference, were named as "sircar" and eight of the ten were styled as temporary, and two were appointed as probationers. These clerks were appointed on different dates in the year 1949. After the Award of the Mercantile Tribunal under Government order No. 3642Lab., dated 25th July 1949, the Company adopted ways and means to terrorise the workmen with a view to disrupt the Union. One Mr. Gupta, an Officer of the Shipping Department, treated the employees in a rude manner and this came to a climax in the latter part of 1949. He abused, threatened and coerced the employees and ultimately arranged for discharge of 10 employees under colour of retrenchment. The Company's plea of recruitment of these employees under reference for a temporary purpose and for a temporary accumulation of work and discharge owing to clearance of such accumulation is unworthy of acceptance, as there has been no fall in the Shipping business of the Company justifying discharge of these employees. No reduction has been made in the officers' staff and as the volume of business in the Shipping Department has not deteriorated, overtime work became absolutely necessary for the clerical staff and even officers were engaged to do the duties done by the clerical staff. Some of the employees who were discharged, were again employed to do casual work for the Company without showing their services in the Company's books. There was no reason justifying the action of the Company and in any case, these employees could be usefully employed in other departments and concerns under the Company. The discharge of these employees were instances of victimisation and unfair labour practice on the part of the Company.

The Union, therefore, prays for reinstatement of these 10 persons under reference and for compensation for the period of their non-employment.

The Company opposed the Union's claim for reinstatement of the discharged employees mentioned in the above schedule on the following grounds:—

Between March and August 1949, a number of temporary employees were engaged by the Company in order to clear off the arrears of work which had accumulated in the Shipping Department. This backlog of work had arisen due to the difficulties which had previously obtained in securing freight space either in the Railway wagons or Steamer flats. The situation as it then prevailed, had resulted in considerable liabilities for demurrage and godown rent, and when freight facilities eased and despatches proved possible additional temporary staff was necessary to deal with the backlog. When these arrears had been liquidated no further work remained for all the particular temporary men who had been engaged and their services were terminated. The statement of the Union regarding the appointment of Junior Grade Officers in 1950 is unfounded. Two Junior Grade Assistants left the Shipping Department and one was transferred to another department. In replacement of these three individuals an inter-departmental transfer of two was made.

The 7 persons under reference were appointed between 18th March 1949 and 9th September 1949. Of them 8 were purely temporary and two were probationers. As the temporary men were taken in temporary capacity their services terminated as soon as the work was finished. The services of the probationers were dispensed with before they became eligible for confirmation. None of the employees under reference were ever confirmed or considered as permanent.

So far as Mr. Gupta is concerned his services with the Company has been dispensed with. Besides, engagement and discharge of staff are carried out entirely by a Director. A "sircar" is essentially an outdoor employee trusted to do a work to its completion, no matter what time it requires. They have to see the loading of chests (tea) completed even on holidays lest they are shut out from sailing boats. They have to tender the goods to the wharves on an appointed date or else the space obtained would be lost. Such jobs are usually one man's job. They, therefore, would normally require overtime remuneration in completing such allotted jobs. Consequently, payment of overtime wages to the personnel of the Shipping Department does not prove the necessity for extra hands or extra volume of business in that department requiring extra hands. The allegations that services of the discharged hands were utilised to carry on the day-to-day work without entering their names in the Company's books are incorrect and baseless. Under the circumstances the prayer made by the Union should be rejected.

Issues were framed on 12th July 1950.

The appearances for the parties were as follows:—

For the Union: Sri Niren Dey, Counsel, assisted by Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader, Sri Jiten Banerji, Joint Secretary for the Association of Employees' Unions, Calcutta, and Sri Digendra K. Ghosh, Secretary of the Association.

For the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, assisted by Sri J. K. Ghosh, Pleader of Messrs. Orr, Dignam & Co., Solicitors, Calcutta, Sri S. L. Banerji, Assistant to the Labour Adviser to the Company and Mr. I. O. Small.

The issues framed were as follows:—

DECISIONS.

Issues Nos. 1 and 2.

Messrs. McLeod & Co. is one of the leading mercantile firms in this country and have, as I am told, as many as 61 branches all over the country. Besides being Managing Agents of several Jute Mills and a large number of tea gardens in the Duars, Terai and Assam, they have an extensive sea import and export business. In 1948 they acquired the interest of Messrs. Begg Dunlop & Co. who were also Managing Agents of Jute Mills and tea gardens and carried on business in import and export similar to themselves. It also appears that the Western Jute Baling Company, Ltd., and the Eastern Jute Baling Company, Ltd., were formed at the instance of the Company in 1948 and were under their management. These Companies also are concerned with the business of export of jute. Table 6) shows a gross profit of about Rs. 28½ lakhs and a net profit of about Rs. 18 lakhs after providing for income-tax. All the business of the Company is done through their Head Office in Calcutta where the Company maintains a staff of more than 400 clerks. It, therefore, appears that since 1948, the Company has been substantially expanding their trading activities which were already considerable.

The Shipping Department of the Company dealing with export of jute, tea and other merchandise and import of machineries, tea chests and other goods and despatching them to their proper destination, had in the last part of 1949 a complement of 19 sircars or outdoor clerks. These outdoor clerks have to look after the cooping of goods in the sailing boats, clearance of imported goods from the Port Commissioner's godowns, and despatching them to their proper destination. Nine out of these 19 sircars and one office clerk were discharged with effect from the end of December 1949 and this proceeding is concerned with the dispute over the discharge of the 10 employees. Table, Ext. 4, which is made Appendix A of this Award shows the date of employment and discharge of these 10 employees and also some other details as to the service of these employees. It appears that five of the employees being Ajit Kumar Ghose, office clerk, Saroj Kumar Ghose, Jibandhan Banerji and Patit Paban Ghose, import sircars and Brojen Nath Bhattacharji, Land Custom sircar, were appointed in the month of March 1949. All these persons were appointed temporarily for 3 months and after the termination of this period they were continuing in the service of the Company till the date of the discharge in December 1949. Samaren Nath Roy and Nishit Kumar Ganguly were appointed in the month of July 1949 as probationers, on probation for 6 months. These two employees were discharged in the month of December before the probationary period of 6 months was completed. Becharam Dutt was appointed in the month of August 1949 temporarily for a period of 6 months. This employee was discharged in the month of December before he could serve his temporary period in full. Krishna Chandra Paul and Govinda Das Banerji, import sircars, were appointed in the month of September temporarily for a period of 3 months. They were also discharged in the month of December along with others. The employees who were appointed before the month of August used to draw an initial basic pay of Rs. 50 or Rs. 55 per month and this basic pay was raised to a minimum of Rs. 65 per month after the publication of the Mercantile Tribunal's Award affecting this Company. The employees who were appointed after the 4th of August 1949, and they were 3 in number being Becharam Dutta, Krishna Chandra Paul and Govinda Das Banerji, were employed on a basic pay of Rs. 65 per month according to the provision of that Award.

The Government of West Bengal by order No. 135Lab., dated 1 January 1948, referred the industrial disputes between 267 Mercantile Firms in Calcutta and their employees to a Tribunal of three Judges for adjudication. The Company in the present proceedings (serial No. 115) and the employees were parties to that reference. The Award of the learned Tribunal with regard to the dispute between the present Company and the employees was published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated 4th August 1949. By this Award the basic pay and some conditions of service of the clerks and the subordinate staff were revised to their advantage and the outdoor clerks were given a scale of basic pay at Rs. 65—4—133. The minimum grade scale for the office clerk was fixed at Rs. 70—4—134. Out of the 10 discharged employees Ajit Kumar (those, employed on 18th March 1949, as an office clerk and his pay was increased from Rs. 50 to Rs. 70 and the other outdoor clerks had their pay raised to Rs. 65 in accordance with the provisions of this Award.

As has been mentioned above, the Union assailed the discharge of these clerks as instances of victimisation and unfair labour practice on the following grounds:—

(1) After the Award of the Mercantile Tribunal was published the Company became stiff to the employees to the point of disrupting the Union. Gupta, an officer of the Shipping Department, ill-treated the employees in his department and ultimately secured dismissal of the 10 persons in question.

(2) The plea of fall in business in the Shipping Department as set up as reason of the discharge of these men was unfounded. No reduction was made in the superior staff of the officers and the services of some of the discharged employees were utilised by the Company without showing them the books after the date of their discharge.

The Company supports the discharge of the employees on the ground that the additional temporary staff recruited in 1949 was necessary to deal with a backlog of work which had arisen due to difficulties in securing berth space and when the arrears had been liquidated no further work remained for the temporary men engaged in 1949 and their services were terminated. The Company also states that in 1950 no fresh appointment of Senior or Junior Grade Officers was made in the Shipping Department and only two officers were placed there by an inter-departmental arrangement in replacement of three who had left the Shipping Department.

Oral and documentary evidence was adduced by both parties in support of their respective cases. The Union examined P.W. 2 Jibandhan Banerji, P.W. 3 Saroj Kumar Ghose, P.W. 4 Samarendra Nath Roy and P.W. 6 Patit Paban Ghose, four of the discharged employees, P.W. 1 K. P. Bhattacharji, Shed writer of the Port Commissioners, and P.W. 5 R. Banerji, an employee of Messrs. Tilok & Co., Contractors. Documents, Nos. 1 to 31 were also proved for the Union. The Company examined two witnesses O.P.W. 1 Mr. I. O. Small, and O.P.W. 2 Mr. E. H. Rodricks and proved the documents Exts. A to H series.

The evidence adduced by the Union was principally directed to substantiate the plea that four of the discharged employees being Jibandhan Banerji, Saroj Kumar Ghose, Samarendra Nath Roy and Patit Paban Ghose were asked for the Company and discharged the duties of sircar for them between the months of January and May 1950. Some papers of the Port Commissioners, Calcutta, were produced by P.W. 1 Sri K. P. Bhattacharji at the instance of the Union and it was sought to be proved that these employees acted in the Port Commissioners' jetty papers on behalf of the Company between January and May 1950. Signatures Exts. 2 to 2(f) show that Saroj Kumar Ghose, licensee No. 3350, signed on these papers in due course of the business of clearing the imported articles from the Port Commissioners' godown on behalf of the Company. Signatures Exts. 3 to 3(i) were made by Samarendra Nath Roy, licensee No. 3289, as an agent of the Company on these papers up to the month of May 1950. These papers and documents contain details of goods cleared from the Port Commissioners' jetties and godowns and entered into by the office of the Company. All these documents were produced from the custody of the Port Commissioners. There were some other papers produced from the Company's custody which show signature of Saroj Kumar Ghose, Ext. 2(g) and of Jibandhan Banerji, Ext. 31. These are bills of the Contractors who removed the goods from the Port Commissioners' godown to other places on behalf of the Company under the supervision of clerks who signed as agents of the Company on these papers. It is noticeable that the sircars who were required to work for the Company at the Port Commissioners' jetties and godowns require a license representing the Company there and the sircars who worked for the Company at the jetties even after the date of their discharge could do so as they were in possession of their licenses originally granted by the Company. All licenses were not revoked by the Company after their discharge. It is further noticeable that these licenses were never utilised by the sircars to the disadvantage of the Company at any time. P.Ws. 2, 3, 4 and 6, 1 of the discharged sircars who claim to have worked for the Company some months even after the date of their discharge, stated in evidence that they were paid small amounts from time to time by O.P.W. 2 Mr. Rodricks of the Shipping Department, as remuneration for the casual work done by them for the Company. P.W. 2 Jibandhan Banerji states in cross-examination that Mr. Rodricks assured him that he would be taken back after Gupta's services were dispensed with by the Company. The other discharged sircars P.Ws. 3, 4 and 6 also stated that they worked during these months at the instance of Mr. Rodricks and got some remuneration from him from time to time.

The import register of the Company showing the record of the clearance of the imported articles from the Port Commissioners' jetties and godowns by the sircars of the Company was filed before me. It was shown from this book that the invoice papers showing the signatures Exts. 2 to 2(f) of Saroj Kumar Ghose were made over to sircar Indu Dey and the invoice papers showing signatures Exts. 3 to 3(i) of Samarendra Nath Roy were made over to sircars K. D. Chandra and L. B. Roy. It is obvious from the evidence on record that the clearance of these goods were effected by Saroj Kumar Ghose and Samarendra Nath Roy and not by the sircars whose names appear in the import register of the Company. Entries Exts. 5 to 5(c) are invoices that were entrusted to some of the discharged sircars before the date of their discharge on 31st December 1949. There is nothing in this register to show if they were entrusted to any other sircar after the discharge of the original sircar or as to who actually made the clearance in case of any invoice entry there. Mr. I. O. Small, a senior officer of the Shipping Department, could not explain why the Company did not revoke the licenses of the discharged employees after their discharge, although these licenses were issued at the instance of the Company to enable them to work in the Port Commissioners' docks and jetties, and it was the duty of the Company to see that discharged workers do not have any license. Mr. Small could not explain why the signatures of the discharged employees of the Company could appear on the Port Commissioners' papers after the date of their discharge. He stated that it was only at the time when the evidence was adduced on 24th August 1950 that he knew for the first time that these discharged employees resigned on the Port Commissioners' papers on behalf of the Company. O.P.W. 2 Mr. Rodricks, another officer of the Shipping Department and the other witness examined on behalf of the Company, states that when the Company receives information of any cargo arriving, the Shipping Department completes the documents and then deputes the sircar for clearing the cargo and despatching them to their appropriate destination. The sircar has to sign on these documents when he has to effect clearance of the goods. In cross-examination he states that looking at the Port Commissioners' papers he finds that the work was not really done by the sircar whose name appears in the Company's book in Exts. D series but that he finds from the Port Commissioners' papers that this work was done by the discharged employees.

several times. He could not explain why the signatures of some of the discharged employees appear in the Port Commissioners' papers. He says that he saw these signatures on the date of his examination on 25th August 1950 for the first time. He never asked the discharged employees to work for the Company as sircars. He suggested that some permanent man who was entrusted with the work must have allowed these discharged employees to do the work for him, and he could not conceive of any other circumstances in which this could have happened. He never came across any instance in which a permanent employee of the Company delegated or could delegate his work to an outsider; it would have been very wrong on his part to do so. No steps have been taken against any permanent employee of the Shipping Department for delegating work to an outsider. It appears from his evidence that he used to go occasionally to the docks without notice to the sircars who were working there. He says that he is less experienced than Mr. Small in this department. He joined the service of the Company in the Shipping Department in February 1949. Mr. Small, it appears, has been in the Shipping Department since before 1947. It, therefore, appears from the evidence on record that some of the discharged sircars worked for the Company after the date of their discharge. Although O.P.Ws. 1 and 2 stated in evidence that they knew of this fact for the first time at the time of the examination of the P.Ws., letter Ext. 20, dated 12th April 1950, written by Sri H. M. Ghose, Assistant Labour Commissioner, West Bengal, during the conciliation proceedings over this dispute mentioned about this matter in item No. 7 of the informations communicated to the Company with an invitation for their comments thereon. The signature Ext. 20 of Saroj Kumar Ghose and Ext. 31 of Jibandhan Banerji appearing in the Contractor's bills produced from the custody of the Company are matters of which the Company must have had notice long ago. It is in evidence of Mr. Small that the Shipping Department of the Company had only two superior officers in 1947, 8 in 1949, 5 from January to June 1950 and 7 from July 1950. It is difficult to appreciate that even though the papers with Exts. 20 and 31 were in the custody of the Shipping Department since March 1950 and the document Ext. 20 was addressed to them by the Assistant Labour Commissioner in April 1950, the Company could not get the information that some of the discharged employees were working for them in the matter of clearance of imported goods on the strength of their licenses which were never revoked, till this matter was proved in evidence at the hearing of the Tribunal in the latter part of August 1950. The Company has no explanation to offer on this fact and the absence of any explanation as to their failure to revoke their authority, i.e., the license from the discharged employees, deserves serious notice in view of the facts disclosed.

I shall now consider the evidence connected with Mr. J. Gupta of the Shipping Department. Mr. Small states in cross-examination that Mr. Gupta left in April 1950. The Company's written statement shows that Mr. Gupta's services with the Company have been dispensed with. According to Mr. Small it was he himself who in 1949 was in charge of the Shipping Department theoretically, but in fact Mr. Gupta was in charge of the department. It, therefore, appears that Mr. J. Gupta was really in charge of the Shipping Department in the year 1949 when the discharge of these 10 employees took place by way of retrenchment. The evidence of all the witnesses for the Union also shows that it was Mr. Gupta who was in charge of the Shipping Department in 1949 and that the four discharged employees who deposed in this case were in the bad books of Mr. Gupta as almost all of them took sides with Nishit Ganguly in a controversy with Mr. Gupta. This controversy appears to be of a rather serious character. Letter Ext. 16 of the General Secretary of the Union to the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company, dated 18th July 1949, shows that the Union received a written complaint from Nishit Kumar Ganguly to the effect that he was insulted and assaulted by Mr. J. Gupta of the Shipping Department at No. 3 G. R. Jetty on 15th July 1949. It appears that the General Secretary interviewed with Messrs. Peppercorn and Hards, two of the Directors of the Company and Mr. C. Weale, Labour Adviser of the Company, in this connection. Ext. 15 is the reply, dated 20th July 1949, by the Chairman of the Board of Directors to the General Secretary intimating to him that the incident has been amicably settled. Ext. 14, dated 21st July 1949, is a reminder to Ext. 16 by the General Secretary to the Chairman of the Board of Directors. Letter Ext. 13, dated 27th July 1949, is in reply to the Company's letter, dated 20th July 1949, in which the General Secretary was advised that the matter had been amicably settled. The letter demands an unqualified written apology from Mr. J. Gupta as a vindication of the offence given to Ganguly. Ext. 11, dated 1st August 1949, by the General Secretary to the Chairman of the Board of Directors is a reminder to Ext. 13 and Ext. 12, dated 2nd August 1949, is the reply of the Company to the General Secretary intimating to him that this matter has been finally settled. Ext. 10, dated 5th August 1949, is a letter by the General Secretary to the Company in reply to Ext. 12 of the Company in which the Secretary intimates his inability to confirm that the incident has been settled until and unless Sri J. Gupta actually apologised to Sri Nishit Kumar Ganguly and he heard from the Chairman in writing in that behalf. There is no other document in this connection to show what happened after 5th of August over the controversy between Mr. Gupta and Sri Ganguly, i.e., in other words whether Mr. Gupta actually apologised to Ganguly. I shall, however, refer to a document a little later to justify the conclusion that Mr. Gupta did really apologise to Mr. Ganguly by way of amends for his insults. Ext. 9, dated 19th October 1949, is a second application by the General Secretary to the Deputy Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company accusing Mr. Gupta of having deliberately insulted one Sri Bijoy Kumar Gupta, an employee of the Cash Department, under circumstances mentioned in detail in the application. Ext. 7, dated 19th October 1949, is a reply of the Company to the General Secretary which shows that the Deputy Chairman talked to both Bejoy Babu and Mr. Gupta together and the matter had been settled to the entire satisfaction of both the parties. The notices on the discharged employees were mostly dated 16th December 1949 and the notices on Saroj Kumar Ghose and Brojendra Nath Bhattacharya were issued on 30th December 1949 in exchange of two permanent clerks who were notified for discharge on 16th December 1949, but who were finally retained at the sacrifice of these two clerks. Ext. 8, dated 22nd of December 1949, is a letter from the General Secretary to the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company complaining that Mr. Gupta of the Shipping Department has been unfortunately found to threaten employees of the Company, coerce the senior clerk of the department and also to ill-treat others and in this hard market the said officer has unfortunately taken to a policy of discharge which is apprehended to be with some ulterior motive and that discharge notices have already been served on 10 employees of the Shipping Department and the General Secretary, therefore, sought an interview of the Association with the Chairman of the Board of Directors on that day at 2-30 p.m. in order to place grievances before him. The result of this interview is not known. The letter, Ext. 25, dated 4th January 1950, addressed by Mr. Peppercorn, a Director of the Company, to the General Secretary of the Association shows that as a result of interviews of the Association with the Directors of the Company on the 28th and 29th of December the discharge notices served on Sri Gopinath Mondal and Sri Satya Charan De, two of the permanent clerks, were withdrawn and in their place the notices of discharge were served on 30th of December on Saroj Kumar Ghose and Brojendra Nath Bhattacharji. Letter Ext. 24, dated 28th/30th January 1950, by the General Secretary of the Association to the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company again complains about the conduct of Mr. J. Gupta to one Sri Adhar Chandra Mukherji and the Head Clerk of the Department Sri Dinabandhu Mukherji. It is further stated in this letter that this officer is always in a temper and uses such language to the staff as are ungentlemanly and highly insulting. It is further mentioned that Mr. J. Gupta was manipulating affairs from behind to bring about dismissal of certain employees. In a paragraph of this letter it is mentioned that it will be recalled that Mr. J. Gupta had to apologise on two previous occasions and the Association was surprised to find that far from improving himself in his dealings with the staff he had further deteriorated. It appears to me that one of the occasions on which Mr. Gupta had to apologise must have been in course of the trouble with Sri Nishit Kumar Ganguly, a probationer sircar of the Shipping Department. Letter Ext. 21, dated 15th February 1950, is a reply of the Company to the General Secretary's letter Ext. 24. The Company assures the General Secretary that the complaints against Mr. Gupta relating to his treatment with the staff of the department would be investigated on Mr. Paton's return from Southern India. The Company also states that they have reached the conclusion that there is some substance in the complaint as to the exception taken to the tone and general attitude adopted by Mr. Gupta, and the view of the Directors in this connection had been conveyed clearly to Mr. Gupta. As to the allegation that Mr. Gupta manipulated affairs to achieve the dismissal of certain employees, the reply is that on investigation the Directors found this to be without foundation, and in no case had any dismissal notice been issued without prior investigation by at least two members of the Board. Lastly, in regard to a circular issued by Mr. Gupta, dated 7th November 1949, the Directors found themselves in entire agreement with the General Secretary regarding the manner in which the circular was phrased. The Directors, therefore, arranged for the circular to be withdrawn and a new circular issued. In view of these circumstances, it is clear that Mr. Gupta, the officer in charge of the Shipping Department of the Company in 1949, whose services were dispensed with in the month of April 1950, probably after Mr. Paton's return from Southern India, behaved in a disgraceful manner with the sircars and the other employees of the Shipping Department and had actually to apologise to Nishit Kumar Ganguly, a probationer export sircar, appointed in the latter part of June 1949. The letter of the Company Ext. 21, dated 15th February 1950, says that in no case has any dismissal notice been issued without prior investigation by at least two members of the Board. It does not, however, mention that Mr. Gupta had nothing to do with the discharge of the employees of the Shipping Department against whom dismissal notice was issued, may be after investigation by two members of the Board.

I shall now discuss as to whether discharge notices issued on the 10 temporary and probationer clerks were justified by genuine trade reasons, as it was pressed by the learned Advocate for the Company. Mr. Small states in cross-examination that the business of export is one which admits of very great fluctuations from month to month and the fluctuation in the volume of work is a constant feature of export business. His evidence further shows that the volume of business depends upon the amount of goods handled either in sending out or bringing in and that the Company maintains an import register book. This book gives the details of the goods which were coming in or going out. The import register book shows the details of the volume of business by way of import of goods. He was not sure that the export register book shows the goods exported. He supposed that it showed the quantity of goods exported but he was not sure.

The Company's case in its written statement with regard to the discharge of these employees is as follows:—

"Temporary employees are appointed for temporary work and at the time of appointment such employees clearly understand that their service will not be required when the particular work for which they have been employed are finished. * * * Between March and August 1949 a number of temporary employees were engaged in order to clear off the arrears of work which had accumulated in the Shipping Department. This backlog of work had arisen due to the difficulties which had previously obtained in securing freight space either in the Railway wagon or Steamer flats. The situation, as it then prevailed, had resulted in considerable liabilities for demurrage and godown rent, and when freight facilities eased and despatches proved possible additional temporary staff was necessary to deal with the backlog. It will be realised that when these arrears had been liquidated no further work remained for all the particular temporary men who had been engaged and their services were naturally terminated." It appears as if these temporary and probationer clerks, 9 sircars and one office clerk, were appointed with the express purpose of liquidating the arrears in the Shipping Department that resulted in considerable liability for demurrage and godown rent to the Company. The Company filed a memorandum Ext. C showing "A review of imports, rents and extra staff in 1949" which is made Appendix B of this Award. It shows that the average demurrage rent paid per month during the year 1949 was Rs. 18,844. The figures of January to July 1950 give an average of monthly demurrage of Rs. 5,664-6. The figures of 1950 were made on the 19th August 1950. There is no indication as to when the figures for 1949 in Appendix B were prepared. The Company took up the stand that demurrage charges diminished towards the end of 1949, they were entitled to notify the discharge of the employees in question, as they were taken for the purpose of clearing the arrears of the Shipping Department and that work had been finished. The evidence of Mr. Small with regard to the demurrage figures is as follows: "Demurrage may be payable on account of Company's delay in taking delivery of goods from the Port Commissioners' Warehouses or on account of imposition of any restriction by the Government. The Company also experience difficulties owing to restrictions imposed by Government in taking delivery of goods and these also caused payment of demurrage for such goods. Demurrage is a payment made on account of detention of goods in the Port Commissioners' godown. Simply by going into the figures of payment of demurrage one cannot say the amount of goods which were detained....". Mr. Small further says "I think there was reduction of business in export and import towards the end of 1949. I am aware that since then there has been an increase in the export business. The import business has not improved; it has rather been reduced a bit. The correct position can only be shown from the documents of the Company. I cannot explain why there are 7 officers in 1950, whereas we had only 2 in 1947". The Company have not produced any figures showing the volume of the export and the import work in 1948 and 1949 to enable the Tribunal to appreciate the plea, taken up by the Company and stoutly opposed by the Association, that there has been a drop in the business in the Shipping Department towards the end of 1949, although extra staff was engaged till the month of September 1949. The service records of all the 10 clerks have been produced before me. Nishit Kumar Ganguly and Samarendra Nath Roy who were appointed towards the end of June 1949 as probationers with a period of probation of 6 months were the only two clerks in the batch of the discharged employees who were appointed not as temporary clerks but as probationary clerks, i.e., on a permanent basis subject to a period of probation of 6 months' satisfactory service. Becharan

Dutt was employed on 12th August 1949, Krishna Chandra Paul and Gobinda Das Banerji were employed on 9th September 1949. The appointment letter of Becharam Dutt shows that he was appointed as a temporary clerk for a period of 6 months at the first instance. The service record of this clerk shows the report, dated 11th August 1949, of Mr. J. Gupta who requested the Labour Adviser to issue an appointment letter to this clerk on probation for 6 months. The appointment letter was, however, issued as a temporary sircar from 8th August 1949 for a period of 6 months at the first instance and not as a probationer. The service records of Krishna Chandra Paul and Gobinda Das Banerji also relate the same tale. Mr. Small asked the Labour Adviser to appoint them as import sircars on probation for 3 months, but the appointment letters were issued to them as temporary clerks with a period of 3 months at the first instance. In both these cases Mr. Small's letter was countersigned by Mr. Gupta. I do not find any such papers in the service record of the other clerks. It is, however, apparent that the Company appointed Becharam Dutt, Krishna Chandra Paul and Gobinda Das Banerji with a view to confirm them after a period of 3 months in the case of Krishna Chandra Paul and Gobinda Das Banerji and six months in the case of Becharam Dutt, although appointment letters were issued to them as temporary clerks. Mr. Small says that it is the general practice of the Company to appoint a sarkar as a temporary hand in the first instance. These circumstances do not justify the plea of the Company that all these clerks were appointed with the sole purpose of liquidating the arrears that caused the payment of the demurrage rent to the Port Commissioners and that as soon as the liability in demurrage rent diminished the necessity of these clerks also vanished. This fact does not also show that the export and import business was dwindling towards the end of 1949. The fact that there were still 7 officers in the department, whereas there were only 2 in 1947 also does not support a condition of paucity of work in the Shipping Department in the latter part of 1949 or in 1950. According to Mr. Small's evidence the monthly salaries of these officers ranged from Rs. 350 a month in the minimum to Rs. 1,250 a month in the maximum. The fact that some of the discharged employees were doing work for the Company in spite of their discharge but shows that the Company was not being able to manage the work with the staff left behind at the end of December 1949. As demurrages are payable amongst other causes for difficulties owing to restrictions imposed by Government in taking delivery of goods, the payment of a large amount of demurrage rent does not necessarily show the necessity of more import or export sircars. Mr. Small states that simply by going through the figures of payment of demurrage one cannot say the amount of goods detained. It is also to be noticed that out of the 10 employees, being one office clerk and 9 sircars, who were notified for discharge on the 16th of December 1949, two, namely, Gopinath Mondal and Satyacharan De were permanent clerks, notices on whom were withdrawn at the intervention of the Association whereupon notices of discharge on Saroj Kumar Ghose and Brojendra Nath Bhattacharji were issued on 30th December 1949. The contention that the services of the temporary clerks were dispensed with as the work for which they were appointed, namely, accumulation of goods in the jetties and docks vanished, is not applicable to the attempt of discharge of the two permanent clerks. It is in evidence (vide Ext. 19) that the Company gave past assurances and also reiterated those assurances on 19th May 1950 that no permanent employee's service would be dispensed with as direct consequences of recommendations on rationalisation made by Messrs. Ibcn, Ltd., who were examining the situation. It is, therefore, clear that the Company were zealous of continuing in employment their permanent employees and that appears to be the reason why the notices of discharge on the two permanent employees issued on 16th December 1949 were withdrawn. It appears from the evidence of P.W. Patit Paban Ghose that one Harendra Chandra Chatterji, a sircar who was appointed in June or July 1949, i.e., subsequent to the date of appointment of Patit Paban on 31st March 1949, had been retained in service although as many as five men senior to him in service had been discharged. In any case the discharge of 9 sircars out of 19 along with an office clerk Ajit Kumar Ghose demands a considerable reduction in the business of the Shipping Department, which I have no doubt is far from the truth.

The letter Ext. 21, dated 15th February 1950, shows that the Company took up the investigation of Mr. Gupta's conduct in relation to the staff in the Shipping Department, after Mr. Peton's return from Southern India some time after the date of that letter. Before that date Mr. Gupta was the official in charge of the Shipping Department. The service records of the employees, Exts. H to H(9) have been examined by me. In most of these records it appears that the appointments of the employees were made on Mr. Gupta's notes and reports. The papers showing the procedure and details of the reasons why the employees were discharged by the Directors have not been produced before the Tribunal. It would not obviously be possible for the Directors to act in the matter of the discharge of these employees without the report of the head of the department who was in actual charge of the administration of the department. The presumption would be that there were such reports and notes by Mr. Gupta, the head of the Shipping Department, on the propriety or otherwise of discharging these employees. I have no doubt that had they been produced the hand of Mr. Gupta in this business of discharge by way of notes and reports as to his opinion would have been discovered. I cannot persuade myself to believe that Mr. Gupta as the head of the Shipping Department did not have a say in the discharge of the employees. The absence of these papers showing the notes and orders on discharge deprives the Tribunal of the opportunity of forming any idea as to whether the decision of the discharge was made as a result of Mr. Gupta's opinion or independent enquiry by any member of the Board of Directors, although there is no doubt that the final order was passed by a member of the Board of Directors. The plea of the Company that engagement and discharge of staff were carried out entirely by a Director is of very little substance unless the degree of discretion exercised by the Director is proved on reference to the relevant papers in the matter of discharge of the employees. The service records go really to show that although the Director made the appointment technically, his action was wholly influenced by the opinion of the officer concerned. In the same way I have no doubt that although the letter of discharge was signed by a Director that must have been in pursuance of the decision and opinion of the head of the department Mr. Gupta, and the non-production of these papers, leaves no room for any contrary view on the matter. Mr. Gupta had a very unpleasant experience with Mr. Nishit Kumar Ganguli and his conduct with this sircar was resented by other import and export sircars. Nishit Kumar Ganguli would have been confirmed on the 27th of December 1949, on the expiry of the probationary period of 6 months. The Company by its tradition and practice do not ordinarily terminate the employment of a permanent employee (rule Ext. 19). If Mr. Gupta had any animus against Nishit Kumar Ganguli and if he was to be hit, along with some of the others under his control whose support lent weight to the demand of making proper amends by Mr. Gupta, such an action would have been difficult after the 27th of December 1949. Mr. Small's evidence shows that he was not aware of any previous occasion when Messrs. McLeod & Co. discharged 10 men at a time.

From what has been discussed above it is clear that the plea of the Company that the 10 employees in question were discharged because the accumulation of work in the Shipping Department which rendered necessary a temporary expansion of staff in that department had been eased is unworthy of support. The issue of discharge notice on two of the permanent employees which were ultimately withdrawn by the Company is not explained by this plea. The retention of a junior sircar Harendra Chandra Chatterji appointed in June or July 1949 to the exclusion of those who were appointed in March 1949 is not also answered by this scheme. The fact that the services of 3 or 4 of the discharged sircars were utilised between the months of January and May 1950 also shows that the work in the department could not be managed by the staff left back at the end of December 1949. The retention of 7 superior officials in the department in 1950 in place of only 2 in 1947 does not show a general deterioration of the volume of the business in the Shipping Department. In any case, as has been stated above, the discharge of 9 out of 19 sircars in the month of December 1949 while as many as 3 of them were appointed in August and September 1949 does not appear to be justified on the evidence adduced. It appears to me that the discharge of the 10 employees in question was mainly motivated by the animus of Mr. Gupta towards the employees and particularly Nishit Kumar Ganguly and the steps taken by Mr. Gupta in this direction was acquiesced in by the authorities of the Company in the normal course of business of the administration of a large organization. It will now be considered that if the employees are entitled to any relief in these circumstances.

The learned Advocate for the Company referred me to the Award of Sri A. T. Das Gupta in the dispute of Messrs. B. N. Elias & Co. and their workmen published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated 20th October 1949, and my Award on Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., and their employees published in the Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary, dated 28th February 1950, where it has been observed by the Tribunal that the management has a right to discharge employees for a "cause" and it has a right to have this initiated function respected by arbitrators and upheld in the absence of showing a bad faith and bad faith would be shown by evidence of an intention by the employer to deprive the Union or its employees fruits of an agreement or award or to victimise them for any trade union activity, while good faith would mean the desire to carry on business according to its needs. The learned Advocate pressed that when no bad faith was proved on the part of the employer, the discharge could not be superseded by the Tribunal. I am in complete agreement with this principle. There is no question of victimisation for a trade union activity in the present matter. In my Award on the industrial dispute between Messrs. J. K. Eastern Industries, Ltd., and their allied concerns and their employees published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated 2nd November 1950, I have made an attempt to ascertain what is meant by "victimisation" and "unfair labour practice", and in that Award I have also mentioned the principles governing the management's right to discharge an employee for a sufficient cause on the lines of the observation made in the Award on Messrs. Allen Berry & Co., Ltd., and their employees. In the Award on J. K. Eastern Industries and their allied concerns vs. their employees, I quoted the following paragraph from the Award of Mr. D. C. Kamarkar in his Award in the dispute between Ravalgao Sugar Firm, Ltd., and their workmen reported in 1949 I.C.R., Bombay, p. 355.

"It is now well-established from the decisions in several adjudication proceedings before Industrial Tribunals in this Province, that ordinarily an Industrial Tribunal will not direct reinstatement unless it is proved to its satisfaction that the employee concerned was victimised for trade union activities or the employer was otherwise guilty of unfair labour practices in terminating his employment. A presumption as to such unfair labour practices may fairly be drawn where an employee is found to have been dispensed with for no reason whatever or for a reason which is patently false or is proved to have been false, the true reason being an indirect or ulterior motive; and on the presumption remaining un rebutted on the part of the employer, the Tribunal may well consider whether in fairness and with a view to maintain better industrial relations, in the interest not merely of the employee concerned, but also of the community as a whole the employee can be reinstated."

Other Awards and judgments of Courts were also cited in my Award on Messrs. J. K. Eastern Industries, Ltd., and their allied concerns and their workmen. I still adhere to the same view as expressed in that Award and hold that the Tribunal may direct reinstatement when it is proved to its satisfaction that the employee concerned was victimised for trade union activities or the employer was otherwise guilty of an unfair labour practice or in other words when the employer terminated the employment in bad faith, with an ulterior motive or committed an encroachment of any natural, contractual, statutory or legal rights of the employee.

From what has been discussed above it is clear that as the discharge of all the employees was vitiated by an indirect or ulterior motive of Mr. Gupta which was acquiesced in by the authorities of the Company and this was the real cause of the discharge of these employees and not a drop in the shipping business or the liquidation of arrear works in the Shipping Department as contended by the Company, the Company was guilty of an unfair labour practice in terminating the employment of the employees in question. It appears to me that in fairness and with a view to maintain better industrial relations, in the interest not merely of the employees concerned, but also of the community as a whole, the employees should be reinstated.

The next question that arises is as to whether the employees in question are entitled to any compensation for the period of their non-employment from 1st of January 1950. The evidence on record shows that the authorities of the Company endeavoured to maintain an attitude of fairness to their employees in the whole course of this unfortunate business, although they had to depend on the discretion of Mr. J. Gupta, the official in charge of the Shipping Department, at the point of time in question. They had to do so according to normal procedure and custom of administration of a large organization. There is evidence to show that on occasions the authorities of the Company made all endeavours to mend matters without causing hardship to either Mr. Gupta or the clerical staff. Before long the Directors of the Company initiated an investigation on Mr. Gupta's conduct and ultimately dispensed with his services. This happened, however, a few months after the mischief to the employees was done. The Directors of the Company were, therefore, only constructively liable for the damage to the discharged employees and I award that the reinstated employees should be paid emoluments for only 2 months of the period of their non-employment by way of compensation in addition to the notice money of one month's emoluments already allowed by the Company. It is awarded that all the employees mentioned in issue No. 1 shall be reinstated on the date this Award comes into operation. The period of probation of Sri Nishit Kumar Ganguly and Sri Samarendra Nath Roy shall be extended till the month of February 1951 and the other employees shall be reinstated to their original posts on the same terms of employment as they enjoyed on the date of their discharge. The period of non-employment of the employees shall be deemed to be leave on compensation as allowed above without any effect on any term of employment. The amount of compensation allowed under this Award shall be payable within six weeks of the date on which this Award comes into operation.

APPENDIX B.

(Ext. C.)

McLeod & Co., Ltd.,

Shipping Department.

A review of imports, rents and extra staff in 1949.

The table below shows the figures of demurrage that McLeod & Co., Ltd. had to pay to the Port Trust in 1949 for not being able to clear the consignments that had arrived in the earlier months:—

Month (1949).	Rent paid.
	Rs.	a.	p.
January	21,122	0	9
February	14,337	13	6
March	18,108	10	0
April	21,267	14	0
May	33,529	10	0
June	21,727	12	9
July	21,264	15	0
August	21,709	10	6
September	16,985	8	0
October	15,606	14	3
November	10,188	11	6
December	4,268	15	6
Total	2,26,118	7	9

The average rent paid per month was, therefore, Rs. 18,844. It may be seen from the above list that right up to August the rent charges continued to exceed the average figure although it had started improving from June. From September the improvement was more appreciable since the figure fell below average and by December it had reached a reasonable level.

In the third and fourth quarters of 1949 the imports had fallen appreciably owing to the tightening of import rules and, therefore, the bulk of the work, which required extra hands, virtually ended before the close of the year 1949.

The monthly demurrage, therefore, works out to Rs. 5,664-6, i.e., only 30 per cent. of last year's monthly average we paid to the Port Commissioners. Our cargo at the docks awaiting clearance on the last days of April, May, June and July weighed 28 tons, 26 tons, 2 tons and 8 tons, respectively. This illustrates the speed with which the landed cargoes have been moving out during these months. There are now no accumulations (we do not simply allow them) and hence the figures of demurrages are low.

Swaika Oil Mills, Pollock House, 28A, Pollock Street, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Swaika Mazdoor Union, 1, Bazar Lane, Bally Congress Office, Bally regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Swaika Oil Mills, Pollock House, 28A, Pollock Street, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Swaika Mazdoor Union, 1, Bazar Lane, Bally Congress Office, Bally.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, assisted by Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader.

For the Union: Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate.

1. By an order No. 4632Lab., dated the 21st August 1950, the Government of West Bengal constituted a Tribunal of one Judge under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (Act XIV of 1947), and referred the said dispute to me for adjudication. The reference was received on 23rd August 1950. The Union filed its written statement on the 5th September 1950. The Company filed its written objection on 20th September 1950. On the 5th September and 16th September 1950 the workers filed two applications under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, and the Company filed an application under section 33 of the said Act. The applications under section 33A were disposed of by separate awards; the application under section 33 was disposed of after hearing both sides on the 6th September 1950. This was finally heard on the 13th November 1950.

2. The issues contained in the schedule to the Order of Reference stand as follows:—

- (1) If the discharge of (a) Hiralal, Ticket No. 125, (b) Sudhir, Ticket No. 126, (c) Kaliprosad, Ticket No. 127, (d) Sudhir, Ticket No. 128 and (e) Baren Chatterjee, Ticket No. 120 of the Paint Department was justified, and if they are entitled to any relief
- (2) If the Company should be justified in making any further retrenchment of workers.

AWARD.

3. The Union's case, as stated in the written statement, is that the Company in question started its business as far back as 1926. It was a manufacturing concern of linseed, mustard, ground-nut, mahua, kapok, castor and kandari oil. The main business of the Company was the production of linseed oil for the purposes of painting and varnishing. The Union came into being in 1947 when the conditions of labour in this concern were deplorable. The Union took steps to remedy their grievances as far as possible in face of opposition of the Company. Agreements were entered into from time to time with the Company. The Company was bent on breaking up the Union. It is also making attempts to do away with the old hands and to replace them by new recruits on smaller pay. It is also trying to defeat the claim of bonus during the Pujabs. In July 1950 the Union had to move the Subdivisional Officer, Howrah, when the Company tried to terrorise the Joint Secretary of the Union, Krishna Bahadur Singh. Some time in June 1950 the Company gave notice to the five workers mentioned in the schedule to the reference on the plea that the painting and marking of drums were going to be discontinued. The Company pleaded loss of business. But the Union is informed that the Company has received an order from Pakistan for supply of 40,000 maunds of mustard oil. Instead of producing this oil in the factory the Company is making secret purchases just to bring down the strength of the workers.

The Company, on the other hand, denies most of the above allegations. It contends that it is faced with strong foreign competition and, as such, cannot hold its ground in the matter of production of oil. It is stated that the price of oilseeds is very much on the increase, while the demand for oil is considerably reduced, both in and outside India. As a consequence of that the Company had to close down the Ghani Department in January 1950. It has totally stopped manufacturing mustard oil since then. In June 1950 the Company was forced to give notice of discharge on these five workers of the Painting Section. The Company, however, assures that if the section is re-started and workmen are taken, then these old hands would be entitled to receive preference in the matter of appointment. The Painting Department is said to have been started during the war just to make the drums sent abroad look decent. Due to post-war depression and competition from Argentine, Brazil and United States the Company has practically lost the foreign market. So it had no choice in the matter of retrenchment of the five workers. The Company also states that the immediate outlook is rather dismal. So the Company may have to effect further retrenchment. The Company, however, denies that its dealings with the Union are not sincere. The agreements referred to by the Union speak eloquently in favour of co-operation between the Company and the Union.

Issue No. 1.

4. As far as I could see, the contention of the Union is that the Company did retrench these five hands with three objects in view, viz., (1) to effect economy by replacing the old hands by new recruits on smaller scales of wages, (2) to defeat the claim of Pujah bonus of the workers and (3) to disintegrate the Union by terrorising the workers with the prospect of retrenchment. It is broadly contended by the Union that the alleged loss of business of the Company is merely a plea to uphold their action; it is not bona fide. The Company has given a stout denial to these contentions. I must, however, hold on the evidence that the Union has failed to substantiate any allegation set up by it. On the other hand, the evidence that is before this Tribunal seems to be convincing enough that the Company had no choice in the matter. Firstly, there is nothing on record to show that the vacancies created by the discharge of these five workers were filled in by new recruits. What evidence is there shows that the work of marking was done by other people, either in addition to their duties or by transfer of coolies from other departments. Two years ago a machine was purchased by the Company just to prepare stencils. After this purchase the clerks used to do the work of preparing stencils. So the work of painting and marking was no longer any dexterous work, it was more or less mechanical. The evidence shows that even coolies could do it. The Company has further contended that it has lost its foreign market in the matter of export of oil. The Union contended that loss of market was merely a show and not real. The Union, however, failed to substantiate it. The Company has shown that in 1949, due to increased competition from Argentine and Brazil, and increased production of vegetable oilseeds in U.S.A., the Company's export to foreign countries considerably dwindled. There was a lesser crop of oilseeds in India in 1948 due to "Grow More Food" campaign. So the Company had to close down its Ghani Department on 17th January 1950. Fifteen workmen were retrenched. In February 1950 the Press Department was stopped. There was a joint conference between the Company and the Union with the intervention of the Assistant Labour Commissioner. As a result of a tripartite agreement, dated 2nd March 1950, 102 workers of the Press Department were laid off. The situation worsened in March 1950. As a result of another joint agreement with the Union the mill was closed for two months. There was a further tripartite agreement on 23rd June 1950 under which 88 workers of the Press Department were retrenched. On 16th June 1950 the Soap Section of the mill was closed down. Ten workmen were discharged. From the above, is it not clear that the loss of business spoken of by the Company is a stern reality? It does not stand in the mouth of the Union to say that the business of the Company is in full swing in the face of these agreements to which the Union was a signatory. So the background for retrenchment is certainly there. Coming next to the retrenchment in the Painting Section I find that it was only in the fitness of things. I find from the oral evidence on record that this section became practically a superfluity after the export to foreign countries had been considerably reduced. If the Company wants to effect economy just to maintain its total existence, it cannot be blamed. The Company cannot be asked to provide these men in other departments when the existence of the Company itself is indeed, jeopardized.

Regarding the second contention that the retrenchment was resorted to only with a view to defeat the claim of the ensuing Pujah bonus, I must say that the contention is hollow. When the retrenchment is bona fide and called for by the exigencies of the situation, the quotation of any motive behind the Company's action cannot be justified. Of course the Company has received an export license for supply of mustard oil to Pakistan, but that is neither here nor there. The evidence shows that the Banaspati Food Products, Ltd., had purchased mustard oil for the said supply. So that becomes practically irrelevant. Besides, even if it is held that this Company purchased in the name of Banaspati Food Products, Ltd., still it does not improve the stand taken up by the Union. It can never be urged with any amount of force that the Company was purchasing oil and supplying the same and not crushing it in its own mill just to put the workers in difficulty. If the Company could manage to crush the seeds in its mill with profit, it would never go in for purchase of the oil from the market. So I accept the contention of the Company that it is not profitable for it to buy oilseeds in the market at economical prices and to crush the same in the mill.

Regarding the third contention that the whole move is directed to crush the solidarity of the Union, I must say that it is more imaginary than real. I do not see how it is open to the Union to urge it when it has entered into so many agreements in the recent months with the Company just to pave the path of the workers.

I can never take it that this retrenchment is by way of victimisation or can amount to unfair labour practice. Hiralal is an executive member of the Swaika Mazdoor Union. The other discharged workers are merely members.

the Union could not place a single instance that the Company bore any blame in particular against these five men. I must point out that the Union has not also set up this contention in its written statement. So I find that the discharge of these five men was justified. They were given proper notices. They are entitled to no relief accordingly.

Issue No. 2.

5. What I have stated above makes it sufficiently clear that the financial position of the Company, taken by itself, is anything but sound. Its very existence seems to be in imminent peril. It is somehow managing to keep its head above the water, only because the proprietors have ample resources at their command. The Company might have been affluent during the war period when there was neither foreign competition nor a slump in the local market. But after the war, particularly since 1949 and more so in 1950, the Company is heading towards a crisis. If it can tide over the crisis, so much the better for the workmen. The Company has stated in its written statement that it is prepared to give preference to discharged hands in the matter of future recruitment. That ought to suffice for the present because the Company cannot commit itself more than that. So if the Company in its frantic effort to preserve its existence reduces the size of its working personnel, I cannot say that it is not justified. So if this issue requires to be answered, it should be answered in the affirmative. I must however point out that such an issue is really difficult to answer. The position of the Company is never static. Change it must and that from day to day. So the Company can never be put under a ban not to cut its working strength to suit its trade objective. The Tribunal should rather refrain from putting any restriction in the matter if it does not like to ruin the trade. But as the issue has been contained in the Order of Reference, I have answered it as above.

G. PALIT,

Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

the 6th December 1950.

By order of the Governor,

D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 7318Lab.—19th December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal order No. 4065Lab., dated the 26th July 1950, the industrial dispute which had existed between the 11 Printing Presses in Calcutta, shown in the list appended thereto and their employees represented by the Press Employees' Association of 249B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, over the question of (1) Scale of pay and fixation of pay, (2) Dearness Allowance, (3) Gratuity and/or Provident Fund, (4) Leave, (5) Working hours, (6) Security of service and (7) Bonus, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal constituted by Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, the Press Employees' Association of 249B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, on behalf of Sri Manik Chandra Ray, an employee of the Jnanoday Press of 9B, Bechu Chatterjee Street, Calcutta, being serial No. 3 of the said list, made a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workman, the condition of service applicable to him immediately before the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the power conferred by section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of Sri Manick Chandra Ray, a discharged employee of Jnanoday Press, 49B, Bechu Chatterjee Street, Calcutta, represented by the Press Employees' Association, 249B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, in the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950 (Case No. 19 of 1950), and in the matter of reference No. 40 Lab., dated the 23rd July 1950, of the Government of West Bengal Labour Department.

PRESENT :

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

For the complainant: Sri S. K. Dhar, Pleader, assisted by Sri Bhushan Sarkar, Secretary of the Press Employees' Association.

For the opposite party: Sri N. K. Mukherji, Advocate, instructed by Sri Krishna Chatterji, Manager of the Press.

AWARD.

In pursuance of the order of reference No. 4065 Lab., dated the 23rd July 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, adjudication proceedings have been started for settlement of industrial disputes between the employers and employees of 11 Printing Presses of Calcutta and Howrah mentioned in the list annexed to the order of reference of which the Jnanoday Press is one, being serial No. 3 in the list. Adjudication proceedings are still pending.

The complainant's case is that the complainant who had been a Machine Man in the Jnanoday Press was discharged illegally on 1st August 1950 in contravention of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, without any written notice and without giving the complainant any opportunity to submit an explanation.

The opposite party denies that the complainant was ever a Machine Man and pleads that the complainant who was an inkman was given some wrapping paper on 13th July 1950 for use in the cylinders of the printing machine; that when the paper was required the complainant reported that the bundle was missing; that thereupon an explanation was called for from the complainant and the complainant was threatened with deduction of the price of paper in the event this was not traced out and that this attitude of the employer offended the vanity of the complainant and that he tendered resignation of his own free will. The employer denies to have discharged the complainant.

The case was taken up for hearing on 16th November 1950. After the evidence and arguments of the parties were closed, the learned Advocate for the employer, at my suggestion, agreed to take the complainant back. On 17th November 1950 the Manager Sri Krishna Chatterji saw me in my chamber and told me that the proprietors were not willing to take the complainant back in the Machine Department. His points were that the complainant had an injury in his finger and that the proprietors entertained some suspicion against the complainant. The Manager was however told that these points should have been raised in the presence of the complainant on the previous day. He was however asked to bring in the complainant. The complainant could not be brought. At the close of the day on 17th November 1950 I referred to the injury in the finger of the complainant in the presence of the representatives of the Press Employees' Association. As to the suspicion of the Proprietors against the complainant nothing was spoken simply on the ground that this plea did not then appeal to me. On 24th November 1950 the Manager filed a written statement taking the case specifically and indicating the ground for the suspicion. It has been urged on behalf of the employer (1) that the learned Advocate for the employer readily accepted the Tribunal's suggestion to take back the complainant simply because the latter was not discharged; (2) that by such agreement the employer was not bound to keep the complainant in his original post but had the right under the Standing Orders as approved by the last award to transfer the complainant from one department to another; (3) that the fact that the complainant who has since been working at a higher wage intends to come back to this press raises a suspicion in the employer's mind against the complainant; (4) that the stern attitude of the employer demanding the complainant to find out the paper and threatening him that in the event of the paper not being found out, the price thereof would be deducted from his wages offended the vanity of the complainant and that the complainant bore a grudge against the employer. The employer thinks that the complainant who having once resigned wants to come back leaving a job carrying higher emoluments must have some motive.

During the hearing I suggested a proposal and enquired of the learned Advocate for the employer if the complainant could be taken back. He readily agreed and it may be fairly presumed that the agreement was to take back the complainant in his original post. The points now raised by the employer requires careful consideration. The interest of an industry must always have priority over that of individual workers. If really, re-appointment of the complainant threatens the interest of the industry in any way the so-called agreement which was based on misconception cannot be permitted to stand. In industrial matters legal technicalities cannot be rigidly insisted upon. I accordingly do not attach much importance to what the learned Advocate for the employer had said by way of agreement in reply to my query. I must accordingly decide the case on merit. The complainant does not appear to have been very fair. In the written statement he claimed to be a Machine Man. At the hearing he had to admit that he was no better than an Inkman. Obviously he had some ulterior motive. He claimed higher position obviously to make out a claim for higher wages in future. Nothing was suggested in the written statement as to whether the employer had any occasion to be displeased with the complainant. At the hearing an attempt was made to make out a case for unfair labour practice. It was stated that on 29th July 1950 the Manager had asked him along with other workers to give a declaration in writing that the workers had no claim against the management and that the complainant on behalf of the workers retorted: "You are not paying us dearness allowance and bonus", although the complainant had to admit that he had been paid

Rs. 40 as bonus in 1949. The minimum wages of an Inkman was fixed by the last award at Rs. 35. The complainant got Rs. 17 and odd for 1950 after deducting Rs. 40 taken as advance, i.e., he was getting less than Rs. 57. The story which the complainant put forward at the hearing was an after-thought. From his evidence it is clear that he took an appointment in the Modern India Press at a salary of Rs. 65. He could not claim that he took this appointment from the 10th August 1950. The petition of complaint is dated 19th September 1950 and was filed on 21st September 1950. The case was heard on 16th November 1950. He had been on leave for about a month. This is what he said at the hearing. There is no evidence both on the date on which the petition of complaint was filed as also the date on which it was drafted and signed the complainant was an employee of the Modern India Press. He stated in the petition of complaint that he was still out of employment. It is thus clear that the complainant has not the least regard for truth. It was urged on behalf of the employer that the complainant took a permanent job in the Modern India Press, the complainant's case is that it was only a thika job. There is no evidence on this point. The complainant is not a truthful man and I am not very much inclined to accept his uncorroborated testimony about the nature of his job in the Modern India Press.

I cannot accept the complainant's story about the circumstances which are alleged to have enraged the employer to take a drastic step against him. This was undoubtedly the result of an after-thought. He cannot understand that every action of man is based on some cause or other. It was why he invented a story to make out a case why the employer picked him up from among the workmen of the Press and discharged him. I accordingly find that there was absolutely no reason for the employer to punish an insignificant workman like the complainant with dismissal.

On the other hand, the employer specifically pleaded a story in his written statement as to why the complainant left the Press. We need not enquire in this case whether the complainant could be made responsible for the loss of paper and whether any deduction could be made from his wages in account of the loss. There is no arrangement in the Press for safe custody of materials used by the workers. If the paper had been taken by Manik there was no arrangement for keeping the paper exclusively under his control. It was possibly on this ground the employer did not make any deduction from the wages of Manik. The employer's threat to Manik without any enquiry as to whether Manik was responsible for the loss might not have been very much justified. It is quite possible that to avoid future trouble the complainant left the Press, but, as the employer neither discharged the complainant nor did he deduct the price of paper from his wages by way of punishment, section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act does not come into play. The employer was, however, agreeable to take him back in a different department. This the complainant refused to accept. His point is that by working in the Machine Department for a number of years, he has acquired some efficiency there. If he is employed in a different department he may not be able to discharge his duties with the same efficiency. I feel that this contention is not without any substance. On the other hand, the complainant has no case on merit. Besides the employer's suspicion against him is not altogether frivolous. Hence, in these circumstances of the present case I cannot but reject the application. The application is accordingly rejected.

ORDER.

No. 7319Lab.—19th December 1950.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal order No. 4065Lab., dated the 26th July 1950, the industrial dispute which had existed between the 11 Printing Presses in Calcutta shown in the list appended thereto and their employees represented by the Press Employees' Association of 249B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, over the question of (1) Scale of pay and fixation of pay, (2) Dearness allowance, (3) Gratuity and/or Provident Fund, (4) Leave, (5) Working hours, (6) Security of Service, (7) Bonus, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal constituted by Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, the Press Employees' Association of 249B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, on behalf of Sri Ajit Kumar Choudhury, an employee of the Bijoya Press of 76, Bentinck Street, Calcutta, being serial No. 6 of the said list, made a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workman, the condition of service applicable to him immediately before the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the power conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of Sri Ajit Kumar Choudhury, an employee of the Bijoya Press of 76, Bentinck Street, Calcutta, represented by the Press Employees' Association, 249B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, and in the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950 (Case No. 13 of 1950), and in the matter of reference No. 4065Lab., dated the 23rd July 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department.

PRESENT:

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

or the employers: Sri N. K. Mukherji, Advocate.

or the employee: Sri S. K. Dhar, Pleader, instructed by Sri Indubhushan Sarkar and Sri Sailendranarain Rai Chowdhury of the Press Employees' Association.

AWARD.

In pursuance of the order of reference No. 4065Lab., dated 23rd July 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, adjudication proceedings have been started for settlement of industrial disputes in 11 printing Presses in Calcutta and Howrah of which the Bijoya Press is one, being serial No. 6 in the list appended to the order of reference. The adjudication proceedings are still pending.

The employee was an employee of the Bijoya Press. His case is that he was wrongfully dismissed on the 12th August 1950 without any written notice and without giving the complainant an opportunity to submit an explanation during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings and without permission of the Tribunal as contemplated by section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act of 1950.

The management denies to have dismissed the complainant. The management alleges that the complainant sought employment in the Printing Press as a trainee; and that he was taken in as an apprentice without pay, but that the complainant demanded wages after he had completed one month's service in course of his training, contrary to the arrangement and expectation, and on refusal left of his own accord. The allegation of the complainant is that his services were terminated during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings started in pursuance of the order of reference No. 4065 Lab. dated the 23rd July 1950 of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department. The allegation of the complainant against the management cannot be believed. The complainant was asked to write out the Cash Book for 1947 from the Rough Book. It was almost completed on 12th August 1950. Only the figures remained to be totalled. The complainant says that on 12th August 1950 he was asked to make some alterations in the book which the management wanted to do for evading income-tax. His services are said to have been terminated by the de facto Proprietor Ramesh Chandra Chowdhury on the complainant refusing to carry out this order. I am not inclined to believe the uncorroborated testimony of the complainant on this point. The income-tax case was pending against the Press and the management has taken considerable time. I cannot believe that after the accounts had been completed the management wanted the complainant to make some alterations in the book. This would involve loss of time and the risk of the book being disbelieved by the Income-tax Department. On the other hand it appears that the complainant made some mistakes—at least one mistake could be pointed out to me and the complainant during the hearing, which the complainant could not explain. It was quite possible that Ramesh Babu asked the complainant to make the corrections. This must have led to some altercation and Ramesh might have said that the complainant was not wanted. Krishnamohan De, a worker of the Press, who has been examined by the complainant, did not hear the altercation. But he says that he heard Bara Babu (Ramesh Babu) tell the complainant that he was not wanted. The complainant might have been under the impression that his service had been terminated. The procedure for terminating the service of a complainant was not gone into. The termination of his service offends not only section 33 of the amended Industrial Disputes Act but also the principle of natural justice. In this view of the case I hold that the complainant should be reinstated.

It has been contended on behalf of the complainant that his pay was fixed at Rs. 70 while the sworn testimony of Ramesh Babu is that he was an unpaid apprentice. Even if the complainant were an unpaid apprentice he was a workman within the meaning of the term under the Industrial Disputes Act. There is no sufficient evidence to warrant a decision on this point either way. The decision on this point is not also very material in deciding the point at issue. The complainant shall report himself to the management within 15 days from the date when the award comes into force and the management shall reinstate him on terms settled with him when he was taken in. In the event of default of the complainant to report himself as directed he shall lose the benefit under this award. As I have found, the complainant was not free from blame. He made mistakes in preparing the cash book. In the circumstances I do not propose to recommend any compensation for the period he was out of employment. This was a case of technical violation of section 33 and I do not propose to recommend any prosecution.
